ITALY ON VERGE OF UPHEAVAL

(Special to The Guardian.) ROME, June 22.—Italy is at the parting of the ways. Never since the war, even before the Caporetto disaster, has the country been in so serious a state—so near upheaval and sabotage today, despite her victory in the field. Strikes, riots, loss of life and the pillaging of food shops from one end of the country to the other seriously threaten the industrial life of the country, begun 55 years ago, and made to prosper almost by a miracle in spite of utter lack of coal and raw materials, all of which must be imported. Everyone, from the Senate to those in the pillaging mobs, demands a strong Government; but where is Italy to get one? There is some talk of an Orlando-Giolitti Cabinet, but the ideas of Giolitti are distasteful. The labor unrest has assumed such gigantic proportions that the Labor leaders themselves are alarmed and vainly call upon the proletariat to return to work unless they desire the complete ruin of the country's industries. False rumors of a plot to establish a military dictatorship have been immediately denied by D'Annunzio, Gen. Giardino, former War Minister, and Mussolini, leader of the fighting Socialists, whose names have been given as its protagonists. But Mussolini has said that unless a strong Government immediately replaces the Orlando Cabinet the "fighters" will provide one.

SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. J. P. McGRATH

The news of the sudden death of an early hour yesterday morning of Dr. Joseph Peter McGrath of this city came as a shock to his many friends. Dr. McGrath took ill on Saturday night but was better yesterday and able to attend to business. He took a turn for the worse later in the day and at night his condition assumed a very serious aspect. Four physicians were called in but his case had reached a stage where it was apparently beyond medical skill to save his life. Acute indigestion is given as the cause of death. Dr. McGrath was about 36 years of age, a son of the late Mr. John McGrath of that place. He was educated at the public schools and St. Dunstan's College and afterwards continued studies at Laval and St. Lawrence College, Montreal, and McGill University. At St. Laurent he won his B. A. degree and in June, 1908 received the degree of M. D., C. M. He practised for two years at Big Forks, Montana and then came to his native province, settling at O'Leary and then Charlottetown. He is survived by a widow and two young daughters also five sisters and five brothers. The brothers, include Captain James McGrath, Tigcastle, N. B. There are also two sisters of the congregation of Notre Dame, one at Kingston and the other in Charlottetown. Miss Annie McGrath of the staff of Prince of Wales College is also a sister and there is another Miss Nettie McGrath a registered nurse in Burlington, Vt. A brother the late Rev. Father John P. McGrath was formerly Parish Priest at Miscouche. To the bereaved relatives the sincere sympathy of all will be extended. The remains were conveyed by yesterday afternoon's train to Tishin. The funeral is expected to take place today.

TORONTO STREET RAILWAY STRIKE

EMPLOYEES WALKED OUT WITHOUT WARNING AND STREET CARS ARE IDLE

(Special to The Guardian.) TORONTO, June 23.—After fruitless conferences last week culminating in a live conference between the board of conciliation, the Toronto St. Railway Company, the Railway employees and representative citizens in the city Hall last Saturday night, the employees met at the Star Theatre and after a short time spent in voting decided by 1370 to 75 to walk out. No warning further than the rumours of a strike during the past week or ten days was given the public, when it awoke yesterday morning and failed to hear the familiar noise of the street cars.

VON REUTER SANK THE SHIPS

INTERMED GERMAN WARSHIPS SUNK ON ORDERS GIVEN BY KAISER

(Special to The Guardian.) WEIMAR, June 22.—The German warships which were not surrendered to the Allies and which have been anchored off Kehl, Wilhelmshaven and other points have been sunk by German sailors manning them. According to the reports there were twelve German war vessels, besides destroyers, which were in German waters not having been turned over to the Entente under the armistice provisions. All the big laden ships, the battleships and battle cruisers, excepting the Baden and numerous craft were sunk, while others went ashore in a half sunken condition. Eighteen destroyers were beached by tugs, four are still afloat while the remainder went under. The wholesale sinking of the German ships, which came to Scapa Flow under the terms of the armistice was carefully arranged by the officer in command, Rear Admiral von Reuter, and crews. All explosives had been removed, and therefore, the only means of destroying the fleet was by opening the sea cocks. The ships went slowly down, with the German flag, which the crews had hoisted, showing at the mastsheads. The crews, composed entirely of Germans, under the terms of the armistice which did not permit of British guards aboard, took to the boats when the vessels began to settle. While making for the shore the boats were challenged and called upon to surrender. Some of them ignored the summons and were fired upon, a few casualties resulting. This stroke, apparently, was a surprise, and the first news reached London through a correspondent who was informed by farmers in the neighborhood that they had seen the German ships sinking with their flags aloft. The German officers and crews have been made prisoners. None of the officials tonight would offer an opinion as to how they are to be dealt with. The Admiralty at first denied the report, but later confirmed it and issued an official statement: "According to the latest reports from Scapa Flow all the interned battleships and battlecruisers have sunk, except the battleship Baden which is still afloat. Five light cruisers have sunk, but three have been beached. Eighteen destroyers were beached by local tugs. Four destroyers are still afloat. The rest of the destroyers have sunk. A German rear-admiral and most of the Germans from the ships are now in custody aboard British ships. Some boats from the ships refused to stop when ordered and were fired upon. A small number of Germans were killed or wounded. "In accordance with the terms of the armistice, the German ships were interned with skeleton crews as caretakers and without British guards aboard."

More Arrests Are Expected 40 to 52 More Will be Tried

(Special to The Guardian.) OTTAWA, June 20.—Additional arrests of radicals in Winnipeg are expected hourly according to information received in Ottawa from that city. The telegrams estimate the number who may be placed in confinement as between 40 and 52. It is believed here that the additional arrest will come as a result of the further investigation into the documents discovered when the Royal Northwest Mounted Police raided the Labor Temple Monday night. The fact that the operatives of the Department of Justice have succeeded in connecting the Bolshevik propaganda with labor leaders in the west is causing more than a little fear among those who knowingly or otherwise took part in the spreading of the sedition. It is these men, who followed the lead of Ivens and his clique, who are in danger of arrest. It is intimated that the 52 men will include the most prominent of the lesser lights among the leaders in the Winnipeg strike. The Department of Justice is now following up the dispersal of the Bolshevik money alleged to have been sent from Chicago to Winnipeg and anyone connected with the handling of it will undoubtedly be taken into custody. That the Minister of Labour, Hon. Gideon Robertson, is expected in Ottawa by the end of the week was announced at the Department of Labor this morning. This indicates Ottawa people believe, that the situation is steadily improving.

Remainder of Crews Arrested Six of Them Killed, Ten Wounded

$500,000 Fire In Quebec City

(Special to The Guardian.) QUEBEC, June 23.—Fire did $500,000 damage to the warehouse owned by Terreau and Racine, makers of stoves, and by the International Harvester Company. An explosion occurred during the blaze and several firemen were injured but none dangerously.

Little Girl Burned to Death at Miminigash

(Special to The Guardian.) One of the saddest calamities perhaps in the whole history of Prince County, took place at Miminigash Run on Thursday last, when the fishing stage of Mr. John H. Coughlin was blown up by an explosion and burned to the ground, the charred remains of his ten year old daughter, the only occupant at the time, was found in the burned debris. Mr. Coughlin was attending to his fishing duties, the other members being out of the building, the up-stairs of which was fitted for a dwelling, a five gallon can of gasoline was in the apartment and the fact that no fire had been in the stove, the supposition is that the little girl in trying to kindle a fire in the stove, either attempting to pour in some gasoline or the fumes from the gasoline was ignited from the stove, with the above results. Everything in the building was lost including $100 in cash. Mr. Coughlin a native of a large family, is a hard-working and faithful man, a well and favorably known in Summerside. The Guardian extends its heart felt sympathy in the bereavement to Mr. Coughlin and family.—H.

Another Example of German Faithlessness

(Special to The Guardian.) LONDON, June 23.—It has now been learned that responsibility for scuttling the German ships belongs to the German Admiral Von Reuter. He informed the British commander that, believing the armistice was terminated he ordered the sinking of the ships in pursuance of orders given early in the war by the ex-Emperor that no German man-of-war was to be surrendered. Von Reuter was made prisoner and the remainder of the crew has been interned. The following telegram has reached the Admiralty: Have found a copy of Reuter's detailed orders of recent date for the sinking of the ships. There were six Germans killed and ten wounded yesterday owing to their refusal to stop when called upon to do so. LONDON, June 21.—The first news of the sinking of the German fleet was contained in a Thurz despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Early in the afternoon a report was circulated by the Exchange Telegraph Company that virtually the whole German fleet at Scapa Flow had been sunk, but a few minutes later the news agency asked that the despatch be cancelled. A later despatch by the Associated Press from Thurz said: "The hoisting of a red flag at noon was the signal for the crews to scuttle the German warships in Scapa Flow. The crews took to the boats and rowed towards the shore. The guardships fired at the Germans who jumped overboard and swam ashore, where they were rounded up."
