DEATH OF MRS. MARY A. MACLELLAN—The death occurred in the Prince County Hospital on Thursday night of Mrs. Mary A. Maclellan, widow of the late Louis Maclellan, of Indian River, at 75 years of age. Mrs. Maclellan had been well for some time. She was a devoted wife and mother. She was born in the town of Summerside, where her husband's death about twenty years ago. She was a woman of many fine qualities of heart and mind. She will be missed by the community, and she will always be kindly remembered by the people of Indian River and friends in Summerside. She was a devout member of the Methodist Church. Her remains were interred in the cemetery of her religion before she passed away. There are left to mourn two sisters, Mrs. Wm. J. Gillis of Summerside, and Mrs. Margaret LaPlante of Marlborough, New Hampshire. The funeral will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Monday morning from the residence of her sister, Mrs. J. J. WEST PRINCE MISSIONARY RALLY—The 11th annual West Prince Missionary Rally was held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday and was very largely attended. The roll call announced that 67 delegates were present from the West Prince United Churches. Mrs. A. J. Mathieson, president of the division, presided. The address of the division was given by Mrs. Matthews and responded to by Mrs. Fred Champion. A very interesting talk was given by Mrs. George A. Bowness, Associate Helpmeetress. Mrs. Jack Wells gave a delightful vocal number. A report from branch meetings was given by Mrs. Carl Weeks, both interesting and interesting. The afternoon speaker was Mrs. Alice Gordon, Home Missionary for the district. She spoke on her work there. Mrs. Gough gave a talk on Mission Band activities. The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with the Question Box which was in charge of Mrs. Black. Refreshments were also given by different societies on how they met their spiritual needs and how they presented their needs. Bloomfield Circle presented a devotional program at the evening meeting. Rev. Hodson of North Bedouque presented the speaker and gave a most interesting address. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Jack Wells, Mrs. W. J. Jenks, and two special numbers were presented. Mrs. Dostal, a person gave a report of the resolution and the committee. Meeting closed with prayer. L-932-6-28-21.

The reason for the delay in announcing details of the five days of fighting was said to be a "valuable hint" from the enemy. Operations were said to be continuing "on schedule."
The officials news and propaganda agency, D. N. B., slightly lifted the secrecy regarding the names of places involved in the war by stating that "two major battles are raging" around Lwadi and Bely in the region.
The reason for this disclosure was that the agency sought to prove that Russia had planned a German invasion.
"The massing of troops in these sectors," D. N. B. claimed, "early proves the aggressive intentions of the Soviets."
In the Nazi opinion all Europe (which is under Nazi domination) with the possible exception of Switzerland in an alleged crusade against Bolshevism. Even in German-occupied and defeated Holland, Belgium and France volunteers are "beginning" to be permitted to join actively in the fight against Communism, the Germans boasted.
Spain was described as the most enthusiastic of the so-called neutrals in the matter of sending volunteers.
So completely has the German press and radio taken to their "holy war" on Communism that Britain and the United States are regarded as negligible. Dienst Aus Deutschland put it:
"According to German opinion, the moral union of European peoples against the Soviet Union now in the process of formation is the fundamental fact of European development in comparison with which the decisions in Washington or London may be regarded merely as marginal phenomena accompanying great happenings."
German sources during the day claimed air supremacy "on the entire eastern front" in the war against the Russians.

at Santa Monica, where the workers who built it might see it in the air, and headed for March Field. It landed at 12:57 p. m.

Construction of the giant Douglas B-19 bomber was begun in 1935 after the company spent more than $150,000 and three months time of 140 engineers on designs and other preliminary engineering work.
By the time it was ready for its maiden test flight, 500 engineers, 9,000 drawings and 2,000,000 man-hours were involved. The army air corps had asked for an airplane to surpass all others in range, load and equipment carried.
Engineers say there is as much area in the tail group of elevator and horizontal stabilizer alone as in the wing of a normal 10-passenger transport.

Borden

Among the many students who are writing the Matriculation examinations at Summerside are Lorraine Richard, Gordon MacTavish and Gordon Mackenzie of Borden.

Mrs. Emilie Gallant and son Vern of Charlottetown are visiting in Borden guests of her sister, Mrs. Fred Jeffrey.

Mr. Daniel Ross and Miss Hattie Ross of Charlottetown were visitors to Summerside on Wednesday.

Friends in Borden extend congratulations to Constable H. R. Huxley and Mrs. Huxley whose wedding took place in Trinity United Church, Summerside on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Maclellan and daughter Helen returned to Borden on Monday evening from a pleasant visit to relatives in Amherst, N. S.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Louis Hackett of Borden entertained in aid of the Red Cross. Ladies prize was won by Mrs. John MacLaughlin with consolation prize going to Mrs. T. Seaton. A delicious lunch was served by the whole party. The playing was resumed for the freezout which was won by Mrs. Wm. Ozon.

Army in Control

Moscow, the belief persisted here that a complete Nazi triumph by autumn was inevitable, barring the equivalent of an "act of God" to upset current calculations.
This authoritative estimate of military prospect involved a number of disturbing implications for the States defense policies. Mounting official concern has been reported over the possibility that Germany or Japan would win control of Asiatic Russia, whose Siberian coast is within a few miles of Alaska across the Bering Straits.
The immediate Nazi plan is believed to be to use the army as the spearhead of an offensive force, the overthrow of the Soviet regime and the substitution of puppet regional states in the Ukraine, the Baltic and elsewhere.
With the Red Army in the west defeated, control of the 5,000-mile trans-Siberian railway against a sparsely settled Siberia was seen as a relatively minor mopping-up operation.
The German army would be in a position to flank the British in the Middle East by way of neutral Iran but in the official view here, a move in that direction was unlikely.
Meanwhile, reports indicate that approximately 90 per cent of the burden of Axis air operations in the Mediterranean has been turned back to the Italians.
Germany is estimated here to have thrown a force of some 2,500,000 veteran fighters representing with its allies, the equivalent of 107 divisions against a slightly lesser and untried Red Army of about 185 divisions.
The Nazi air force is believed to be using a first-line air force of about 6,000 planes, amply supported by reserves and a skilled maintenance staff. The force is believed to consist of possibly 4,000 of dubious staying power.

Why Grow Corn

(Experimental Farms News)
Of the various crops available to supply succulent feed for live stock when pasturage falls in early autumn, fodder corn is among the most promising and most profitable in Prince Edward Island. Yields at the Dominion Experimental Station at Charlottetown for the past 6 years have varied from 17 to 25 tons per acre under field conditions, with an average of around 20 tons per acre, says D. C. Schuman, a member of the Station's staff.
There is seldom a year in which milk production on most farms does not receive a check through lack of succulent feed. The statement: "The pastures are getting short, and dry and cows are going away down in milk," is frequently heard. While it is true that heat and flies are responsible for part of this drop in production the chief cause is the shortage of fresh green food. This occurs year after year and it is surprising that so little is done to remedy the situation.
Thirty years ago fodder corn was a much more uncertain crop than it is today. At that time, the varieties

Looking forward To Army Day

OTTAWA, June 27—(CP)—With recruits joining the active army at the rate of more than 60 a day and the half-way mark in Defence Minister Ralston's appeal for 32,000 men passed by a comfortable margin, defence department officials are looking forward to army day tomorrow to give further speed to enlistments.
Military districts headquarters will be thrown open to visitors tomorrow and at each camp special arrangements will be made to give the visitors an insight into army life.
Army day will appropriately be followed by dedication day on Sunday as a day of special dedication to national service and sacrifice in the churches.
By proclamation the people have been asked to join in these services. In the Governor-General's words "the present situation in Canada and the Empire calls for the best support of all our people in service and sacrifice if we are to play our full part."

Toronto Symphony Conductor resigns

TORONTO, June 27—(CP)—Acceptance of Reginald Stewart's resignation as conductor of the Toronto promenade symphony orchestra was announced yesterday by the Toronto Musical Protective Association. Mr. Stewart, in a letter to Lt. Walter Murdoch, Toronto bandmaster and president of the association, protested the "uncalled rudeness" of Ernest Johnson, manager of the concert committee, "before an aggrieved member of the orchestra whom he (Johnson) brought in the morning after the concert. The orchestra member is said to have resented criticism of his work at rehearsals by Mr. Stewart."
green material required a much longer and warmer season than that of the Maritime Provinces. Varieties which mature to the stage of greatest food value were low in yield of forage. During the past few years those conditions have changed. As a result of breeding, selecting and crossing, valuable hybrids are now available on a wide suitable fertilization and cultivation, a good crop of corn may be made as certain as a good crop of turnips or mangels. Drought or failure to provide fertility and proper cultivation for a root crop will give discouraging results but few, if any, farmers would discontinue growing a root crop on account of an occasional failure. Similarly a failure of a crop of corn through lack of experience or insufficient fertility, should not deter one from trying again.
Why not begin this year by using one of the new hybrids, seeding about the time the fruit trees are in bloom, covering the seed to a depth of 1 to 1 1/2 inches and supplying as much manure or fertilizer as you can afford. A good crop of mangels? The resulting crop will be found to be of great assistance in bridging the dry period of early autumn and in providing experience which later may result in the construction of a silo to store a crop grown on a larger scale.

Mussolinis Lost Legion

CAIRO, June 27—(AP)—In the "bad lands" of the Danakil Desert between the Red Sea and the eastern escarpment of the Ethiopian plateau, hunger and thirst fought Britain's battle against one of Italy's lost legions.
Amidst a wilderness of volcanic lava covering the ground like a petrified foam, broken units of forces defeated by South Africans at Kombletha April 23 wander in the great Danakil trough, often below the level of the Red Sea, in one of the hottest areas of the world.
Harried ceaselessly by natives, they are driven from one brackish well to the next on a journey which it is believed can have no end but surrender.
A few escaped to an internment camp in French Somaliland. The rest stumble wearily on.
In the Ethiopian highlands where the rains are turning mountain streams into torrents, odd forces of Italians still put up half-hearted resistance.
Sudanese Indians now are encircling Gondar in the north, where Gen. Nasi's troops are known to be short of food and low in morale. South of this area two pockets of Italians are surrounded.
The forces in the Gondar region are estimated at three brigades, more than half native.
Gen. Gazzera is holding out amid the towering mountains of the southwest despite the loss of 8,000 prisoners at Jimma. His force is estimated at 2,000, the biggest of Italian units.
The Italian problem is less serious because this region is fertile.
Far westward near the Sudan frontier a few Italians still exist in the Gambia area along the Baro river in a primitive part of the country.

Grouped around their new "mount," men of the R.C.M.P. study a map during manoeuvres in Britain. Instead of their former "on-man-hunts," they now deal with traffic tangles, their new and highly responsible job being that of controlling the traffic of the whole army during manoeuvres. They move ahead of the main formations on their motorcycles, plotting the course and erecting traffic signs and dimmed lights at vital junctions.

NEW FINISH CONSUL-GENERAL

Kaario Kuusamo, new Finnish consul-general, and Mrs. Kuusamo seen above, were snapped by a photographer as they arrived in Canada to take over new duties. Mr. Kuusamo, who has recently been in Finland, denied the presence there of German soldiers.

London Scene After Raiders Pass

Framed on a background of wreckage and the uprooted remains of an Anderson family shelter, this London child is a pathetic figure amid the desolation that the raiders have left in their wake. Children, as well as men and women, are the victims of Nazi bombing, and to all of them the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims is sending relief and assistance to the limit of its ability. Every dollar subscribed goes through without reduction to the 10 per cent that is to be administered on the spot by those best able to provide for the most urgent cases of need.

Scene progress is being made by Allied forces in Syria. The enemy is throwing superior forces against the Free French forces south of Damascus. On the map the battalions is shown as well as possible. General Dato is the man who turned Paris over to the Germans without fighting, but he is staging a strong defensive against the British and Free French. Nevertheless we can hope that Damascus and Beirut will be captured within a few days and enemy resistance peter out rather suddenly unless German aid arrives.
