NFLD. CREW RESCUED BY DANISH STEAMER

Nine Saved From Storm Battered Ship In Mid-ocean.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 4.—(C.P. Cable)—Rescued in mid-ocean from the storm-battered schooner Edward Seventh, nine Newfoundlanders were safe tonight beneath the decks of the Danish steamer Maine, bound for Norfolk, Virginia.

The derelict was still afloat and a menace to navigation as the Maine continued her voyage, interrupted early this morning when the dimly lighted schooner loomed up in her path.

Flash News

A short time later the Maine's wireless operator flashed a message to Canada's East Coast Radio Signal Service announcing the Newfoundlanders had been taken on board and giving the steamer's position: Lat. 43.10N Long. 48.50W.

How the rescue was effected was not described in the brief message but it gladdened the hearts of many families along the Newfoundland coast where word of the missing schooner had been awaited for more than a week.

Missing

The 40-ton craft, commanded by Captain Wilson Vey, left St. John's Nov. 23, for her home port of Long Beach. She was last reported Nov. 23.

Girls Death A Mystery

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The strange death of a 20 year old girl today stirred Princess Anne, scene of October's lynching and more recently the focal point of troops sent to arrest lynch suspects.

The body of the girl, Edna Morris, was found by two negroes near their shack more than a mile from her home. She was lying in a patch of woodlands, face down, fully clothed.

She had been missing since last Friday, but her parents said they had made no search for her because they believed she had eloped.

The negroes were brought to Princess Anne, but neither was held. Later, one of them was reported missing and reports from the section the girl lived, five miles from Princess Anne, said a search was being made for him by citizens.

Meanwhile, an autopsy was performed by Dr. Harry Langford, and on its completion he said there was no evidence she had been attacked in any way.

Sheriff Luther Daugherty expressed the belief the girl had been murdered.

Although a search was being made for the negro by a few residents of the county, the opinion was expressed by officials that there would be no trouble for the present, at least not until the suicide theory held by some had been disproved.

Seek Government Aid

At Springhill, in Cumberland County, 182 men employed in No. 7 pit were without work through closure of the mine because of operating difficulties. They have sought the aid of the government providing work. Meanwhile, they will be aided by the fellow miners who still find employment in the neighboring pits.

The latest crisis has developed in Inverness County. Disension between rival miners' unions led the Government over the week end to shut off the financial support that has kept the co-operative venture afloat for some time past.

Withdraws Support

Withdrawal of the Government's support left the management unable to meet its weekly payroll, and Hon. Michael Dwyer, Minister of Mines, said he looked for further trouble this week. A few days ago, one factor of the miners staged a near-riot that was quelled by the Minister.

He declared last night the Government would take no further action until the men and officials had agreed upon some constructive plan for employing all available men, regardless of union affiliation. Offers of conciliation between the United Mine Workers and the Amalgamated Mine Workers had met with no response.

Demands Repeal Be Forbidden In United States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—A last demand that a proclamation of repeal tomorrow be forbidden was brought before the District of Columbia Supreme Court today for decision as the United States Government applied final polish to its temporary liquor regulating machinery.

The Court suit was brought by William Sheaf Chase, Superintendent of the International Reform Federation, who asked that acting Secretary of State William Phillips of the State Department be prevented from issuing the repeal proclamation. In many instances, Chase said, state conventions which ratified the repealing amendment were not deliberate as the constitution provides.

Declines To Prohibit Trial

(Canadian Press) TORONTO, Dec. 4.—Mr. Justice W. H. Wright today declined to make an order prohibiting trial Isaac W. Solloway, in the Court of General Sessions of the Peace of Carleton County, on a charge of theft of 100 shares of Noranda Mines, Ltd., from Daniel S. Rochester, Ottawa.

The defence contended that the offence, if any, was completed in Montreal with the transfer of other shares from Solloway, Mills and Co. to another firm, and so outside the jurisdiction of Ontario courts.

Explorers Off On New Expedition To Antarctic

DUNEDIN, New Zealand, Dec. 5.—(The Day)—(C. P. Cable)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, Lincoln Ellsworth and Bert Blesh, noted American flyers, sailed from here today aboard the supply ship Wyand Earp on the first stage of a new polar adventure in the Antarctic.

The three famous explorers, who hoped to make an aerial dash of 1,000 miles across the Weddell Sea and back, made final preparations for the voyage southward after their arrival here Nov. 10.

They will lead first for the Bay of Whales, the take-off point for the flight. Blesh, widely known in Western Canada, expressed confidence in the ability of the expedition's mono-planes to make the dash with safety.

Sir Hubert Wilkins gained his first taste of polar conditions on the 1916-17 Canadian expedition to the Arctic headed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson. He was a member of Stefansson's northern party that sought data on the drift of ice in the seas above Alaska. Subsequently on an expedition he led himself he flew from Alaska to Spitzbergen. He organized and led the unsuccessful Neulith Arctic submarine expedition in 1931.

The expedition will return about the middle of next March.

A public statement of this policy tomorrow in the House of Commons by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, was anxiously awaited by thousands of Irish subjects domiciled in the United Kingdom whose nationality is at stake.

Today's Cabinet deliberations followed a receipt of a dispatch from President De Valera inquiring whether "aggressive action" would be taken by the United Kingdom if the Irish Free State seceded from the Empire.

Police Have Little Trouble Catching Fox

(Canadian Press) SAINT JOHN, N. B., Dec. 4.—There's a fox in my yard and I think if you see down you might catch him. A Sydney Street resident telephoned to police headquarters.

Flyers On Mercy Flights

(Canadian Press) EDMONTON, Dec. 4.—Daring flyers who essayed mercy flights into deep recesses of the northland over the week-end had chalked up their first victory today. With one flight completed and two others winging their way toward this city, aviation officials hoped to have sick and injured safely in hospital before another day passed.

Wheeling his big monoplane into the city late today, Archie McMillan completed a flight from Fort Smith, 300 miles to the north with Carl Wicklund, of Great Lake, as passenger. Wicklund was brought out for treatment of an injured eye. He was brought to McMurray, a city of steel, on a 350-mile flight made by pilot, Walter Gilbert, Sunday.

A second mercy flight neared completion as C. H. "Fond" Dickins streaked in from Pouch du Lac on Lake Athabasca, in Saskatchewan, 650 miles northeast of here. He flew in to pick up Fred Shagory, prospector, suffering from an undetermined illness.

Italy Will Consider Withdrawing From League

(A.P.)—Meeting tomorrow night in possibly the most important session of its history, the Fascist Grand Council is expected by observers here to decide that the League of Nations is not effective without participation of the United States, Russia, Japan and Germany. Whether Italy shall remain in the League is to be debated.

Threat Against France

One group, following Mussolini's statement in November that the League "by its very name is absurd," believes the country's withdrawal is assured. Another group believes that the campaign in Italy against the League was in the nature of a threat toward France to induce her to come to Rome for a four-power disarmament conference.

Other arguments are that she would alienate Great Britain, whose goodwill she wishes to retain; and that she would align herself with Germany, while France would align herself with Britain.
