Insure With the Strongest Company

the Canada Life

You should choose wisely and well when investing money in a life insurance policy. You need to get a company that is recognized as strong, with able management and liberal terms.

The Canada Life is just such an organization. It is a company made up of sound business men who offer genuine first-class insurance to Canadians on liberal terms and has a sound backing for prompt and liberal payments.—The Canada Life has the strongest reserve in the Continent. It offers YOU a policy that will mean prosperity in old age if you only take it now.

A public meeting was held in the church at York, Monday evening 5th inst under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, presided over by the pastor Rev E. Bell. Rev E.E. Styles of Pownal gave one of his interesting lectures on his life and work in the West Indies, which has listened to with rapt attention. Reports were read by the Rec. Sec. which were very encouraging. Miss L. West and A. Mellett sang a duet, which was appreciated. The organist and choir rendered excellent service. A liberal collection in aid of the Society was given at the close.

A correspondent from Millview writes: John Acorn has erected a fine barn on his farm at Lake Verde, its size being fifty-five feet by twenty-five. It has been completed by John B. Ross and C. W. Sheidow. J. R. Monaghan has been visiting friends in Millview. Owen Callaghan has returned home after a very pleasant visit to friends in Vernon River. Perry F. Acorn paid a flying visit to Village Green on Sunday last. William Acorn has purchased a very fine filly from Aldren Carver, Vernon River. John Curley, Village Green, is busily engaged in trapping foxes. Harry Callaghan, Lake Verde, is visiting friends in Iona and vicinity. Levi Weatherbie, Lake Verde, has enlarged his wholesale store. Miss Elma VanDerstine is the guest of Miss Leila Acorn.—Curly Locks.

There died at Bradalbane, on the 21st November after several months of painful sickness, Catherine, the beloved wife of Duncan McKinley, Elder, aged 69 years, leaving a sorrowful husband one brother and four sisters to mourn their loss.—Viz Duncan McDonald, Elder of Rose Valley, Mrs Alexander Buchanan, Bradalbane; Mrs Neill Matheson, Rose Valley; Mrs Donald McLennan of Westmoreland and Mrs Roderick Nicholson of Charlottetown. Apart from the deep sympathy felt for the bereaved husband the community in which she lived and the church of which she was a member for many years feel their loss in her demise. She was a woman of more than ordinary intelligence and God's word was her delight and constant companion and was often at the bedside of the sick and infirm reading for them God's message of love to a lost and sinful world. Being blessed with a fair share of this world's goods her generosity to the deserving poor will be long remembered in the community. A few weeks before her death the writer of this obituary visited her and expressed his sympathy with her. She expressed in complete resignation to the Divine will in her affliction and said "my Redeemer speaks peace to my soul and I often experience his spiritual presence with me and can sometimes say with his servant Jacob this room is none other but the House of God and this is the gate of Heaven." She lived a consistent Christian life and died trusting in the merits of her Saviour whom she loved. The service at her late home and the grave was conducted by her pastor the Rev John Gillis after which her remains were followed to Springton Cemetery by a large company of people showing thereby their esteem for the deceased friend.

A member of Try Again Division, S. O. T., writes: "That those parties who persist in loitering around Bonshaw Court House on Saturday evening, during the session of Try Again Division, had better find some other place of amusement. Such disturbances as have been indulged in to the annoyance of this Division will not be tolerated. The names of the offenders have been secured, and should they continue to practice such childish pranks, legal proceedings will be instituted. This had better be considered by as a timely warning and the guilty parties would do well to ascertain for themselves the seriousness of such disturbances and the penalties they are likely to incur on themselves by further persistence.

On Monday evening, Nov. 21st, the home of Duncan McKinnon, DeSable, was the scene of a very pleasant social gathering, when a number of friends gathered to bid farewell to Mr. and Miss Wright of Bedouque, who have been spending a few days at Mr. McKinnon's home. The early part of the evening was spent playing games, etc. About nine o'clock the company was entertained by the arrival of John Dixon of Hampton with his violin. Mr. Dixon is an accomplished performer and treated the company to many choice selections, being accompanied on the organ by Harrison Villatt, teacher of DeSable. The hostess, Miss Mary McKinnon, then treated the company to a sumptuous repast and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing until the "wee sma" hours. After taking farewell of Mr. and Mrs. Wright, the guests returned to their homes, having spent a very enjoyable evening.—Beppo.

St. Joseph's Church, Kelly's Cross, was the scene of a very pretty event on Tuesday, November 22nd, when Margaret, youngest daughter of John and Mrs. McGaughey, Bonshaw, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Hudson McKenna, son of Peter and Mrs. McKenna, Waterford, Lot 1. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father T. Curran in the presence of a large number of people. The bride looked charming in a suit of blue Panama with hat to match. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Lizzie McGaughey, who wore a suit of green broadcloth. The groom was supported by John E. McGaughey, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal couple drove to the home of the bride's parents, where dinner was served, and a most enjoyable evening was spent in singing and dancing. The music was well furnished by the violinist, Michael McGaughey. The bride was the recipient of many useful and costly presents, the groom's present being a gold watch and chain, and to the bridesmaid a gold cross. Both bride and groom are very popular and left on Friday morning for their future home at Waterford.
