THE DEATH OF MRS. CAMPBELL, WIFE OF THE REV. MALCOLM CAMPBELL occurred yesterday afternoon, May 16th, at the manse Strathalbyn. She had been in poor health for the last year, but the news of her death will come as a shock to her many friends. She was much loved by the people of the several congregations over which Mr. Campbell ministered, and was a true helpmate to him in his work as the pastor. He leaves one son and three daughters to mourn their loss. Her remains will be taken to her home, Baddeck, C. B., for interment, and will leave by the Princes Saturday morning. The funeral service will take place at the manse, today, May 17th at 4 p. m.

Reports are received of the successful rummage sales being held in many of the large cities of the United States. In some cities as large a sum as $5000 has been raised. The expenses connected with such a sale are very small and at present these rummage sales are considered the easiest and most satisfactory way of raising money for charitable purposes. Efforts are being made to make the rummage sale in Charlottetown a grand success and every lady is asked to assist in sending donations of all articles for which they have no further use. Send the articles to the Y. M. C. A. or hold till a few days before the sale when they can be sent to the store on Great George Street where the sale is to be held.

Great Victory.

BARNABY RIVER, N. B. Mar.—Few cases of illness and recovery have excited the interest in this community, as has the kidney trouble of Mr. Cornelius Crotte.

Mr. Crotte's treatment by the doctors at home and in the hospital, and the fact that they absolutely gave him up as a case beyond all hope, is well known. His subsequent restoration by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills reads like a miracle. "For five years I have suffered off and on with kidney trouble. Last fall I had an attack, for which the doctors had little hope of my recovery. I was obliged to go to the hospital for treatment, but it did me no good, so I came home given up by the doctors. A friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the first box I improved. Now I am at my work every day."

At a special meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society held on Monday the 13th inst., the following resolution, moved by Simon Bolger seconded by P. J. Trainor was adopted. Whereas it has pleased Almighty God in his infinite wisdom to remove from our ranks our fellow-member Ex-Governor Geo. W. Howlan, and whereas, our departed brother was one of the oldest, most faithful, upright, and consistent members of this society, taking at all times a deep interest in its welfare and being for many years Patron; Therefore resolved that this meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society desire to express their sincere sorrow at the loss they have sustained, and hereby tender their heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved widow. Further resolved, that this resolution be inscribed in the records of this society, and that a copy hereof be sent to the widow of our departed brother, and also to the press of this City for publication (Other papers please copy.)

MR. McEWEN, Hypnotist, had again a deeply interested audience last evening with a number of new men in his class on the stage. Some truly remarkable tableaux resulted from his suddenly fixing the class motionless just at the moment when they were most engrossed with their suggested occupations. Two or three groups engaged in imaginary fishing were thus fixed and made into motionless living pictures. The class made to imagine themselves a minstrel troupe and to sing and play, or perform various musical specialties separately. Perhaps the most amusing scene was one in which some members of the class were made to each imagine himself on a seat in the Park with his best girl besides him, the lady in the case being represented by a broom. The performers made themselves rarely ridiculous amid the laughter and cheers of the audience. Mr. McEwen's talk on hypnotism was serious and instructive, dealing with the quality of the mind. Reduced prices of admission are promised for tonight, with mind-reading as a probable specialty. In this line Mr. McEwen has evinced rare powers in other cities.

SPRING CLEANING

The Public Health is Important.

AID SANITARY OFFICER

To Clean Charlottetown and put no Obstacle in Way of Renovation.

The following has been forwarded to THE GUARDIAN for publication. The extract is from a Canadian journal and is perhaps applicable to Charlottetown. The gentlemen evidently had the Government pond, the jail sewer, the water front near the ferry wharf, the sewer on Easton street, the Market Building, and many other obnoxious places in view when he forwarded the article. "Marbles, hoops and tops in the hands of youngsters are not more signs of spring than the plans and movements of the housewife—the various troubles, sometimes mysterious, events that go to make up "Spring Cleaning." Ignorant though men may be, distrustful as they certainly are, of the necessity which exists for the upsetting disposals of man's effects and affairs during this trying time, it is to be confessed that after it is all over, we find in the result of spring house-cleaning a grateful sense of change, of salubrity, of refreshment, that somehow harmonizes with the outward warm awakening of the vernal season. Sweeping and scrubbing, even carpet-beating, give their rewards to the senses within doors, and there is medical authority for their need. So with spring painting, pruning, gardening, the removal of winter accumulations about yard or boulevard. "If these are a duty and often a pleasure to the household, doing the like for street and lane is not less necessary in the case of those responsible for the healthfulness and beauty of towns. Therefore, we follow our custom of many years in inviting attention to municipal clearing-up. The going-away of snow leaves uncovered an unpleasant array of dirt in lane or yard. Piles of sodden ashes are not a menace to health, it is true, any more than acres of discarded tin cans, useless stovepipes, broken crockery—they are only testimonies of the lack of a sense of decency in the cooks or householders who throw them out. But piles of wooden boxes, of straw, loose paper, dry leaves and sweepings are direct invitations to the Fire-Devil, since any careless smoker, who throws away a match among them may burn his neighbor's house down or his landlord's block down any day. "The worst breeders of disease, however, that rear their ugly heads when the pure snow has ceased to conceal them, are the bones, fruit, and vegetables refuse, dead animals, thrown into lane or street. Next to these, if not before them, in the list of disease inviting filth, are the many square yards of surface earth in yard or lane soaked with dirty water from sink or bath-room. The stench of this or other excreta, when the spring sun's warmth causes a deadly vapor to arise from them has caused medical men to say more than once in our hearing: Phew what an unmistakable typhoid smell. Blocked-up drains and water-courses, too, and the areas of green scum seen on stagnant pools they cause, find their account in the death-dealing germs thus set free. Nor should we fail to remark the dangers from the dust of dung and other foulness, blown about our city streets by the winds of early May. At a recent gathering of medical and other citizens to discuss the causes and cure of tuberculosis grave stress was laid upon the spread of disease germs through dust and through the public spitting of consumptives. Millions of bacilli are set free in the atmosphere by the expectorations of a single consumptive in a single day, to fasten upon the tissues of delicate persons and infect them with tuberculosis. And scientific men tells us that the germs of typhoid or scarlet fever, of diphtheria multiply and spread interminably unless prompt and thorough means are taken to destroy them.

The public health should be every one's concern. That it is not so, shows how far we come short of an economic, not to say sanitary ideal. Enlightened selfishness might, one would think, cause each of us to look after his own health; and if it did this, adequately, the mass would profit as the individual does by measures of sanitation. The too common neglect of unhealthy surroundings often costs communities roundly, and we seek to prevent a recurrence of infectious maladies by giving power to health officers to discipline us, singly and collectively, instead of taking health measures each for himself. Seeing, then, that the average household is remiss, let the health officer be the more insistent upon sanitary measures and let every citizen help him in his unpleasant work. This is the time of year to flush sewers, to drain off stagnant creeks. Let every resident seek out and cure the cause of ill-smells in his premises clean the secret dirty corners of city, town, and hamlet, dwelling or arund it, and let him, besides, put no obstacle in the way of authorities in doing the like for street and lane and public park. Business Men's Associations, of which a number have been formed, may well take a hand in this needed work. And the Tourist's Associations who are seeking to attract visitors, ought not to ignore the cleanliness of towns to which they are anxious to attract travellers. Picturesqueness is a great charm, but a dirty and ill smelling place, however outwardly beautiful, will hardly attract a tourist—at least not a second time.
