Why Not 8% and ---Safety

THE old idea that safety accompanied a low rate of interest has long been put in the discard.

During the past 7 or 8 years, with banking facilities strained to the limit under abnormal demands, borrowers in the AAA1 class (Bradstreet's highest rating) have been obliged—compelled by circumstances beyond their control—to pay rates of interest without precedent.

Bankers today tell us that money is working easier—THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY to assure to yourself a high interest return for a long period of years, with a large margin of safety, by investing in the 8% convertible debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, carrying a bonus of 30% common shares.

CANADIAN AIRPLANE INDUSTRY

Seventeen aerial taxi-cab companies are being formed in western Canada, and a number of these have already been discussed by the air board. Four commercial flying companies have been formed at Winnipeg, and there are companies at Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Banff (Alberta), Calgary, Lethbridge, Barff and in Vancouver. Airplanes are to be built at Virden and Vancouver. Passenger flying is the first objective of these companies and mail carrying and distribution for large shops are expected to follow.

TROPHY FOR CHANNEL SWIM

LONDON, Feb. 13.—A valuable silver trophy, designed and executed under the supervision of the president of the Channel Swimming Club, has been offered to the first swimmer to cross the Dover Straits without artificial aid.

Much interest has centred in attempts to swim across the English Channel. Captain Webb, D. Dalton and F. Cavill all claim to have done it, but only the swim of Captain Webb has been accepted as genuine. The first recorded attempt was made on August 21, 1872, by J. B. Johnson, who started from Dover, but remained in the water only 65 minutes. It was on August 12, 1875, that Capt. Matthew Webb made his first attempt. He started from Dover and remained in the water six hours and forty-nine minutes, when the weather became too rough for him to continue. It is estimated that he was about 13 1/2 miles across when he had to give up. On August 24-25, 1875, he swam across the channel, diving from the Admiralty pier at Dover, and touching Calais sands, France, after swimming for twenty-one hours and 45 minutes. It is the greatest swim ever recorded, and at the time of the accomplishment created a great sensation in England.

"What is the age of discretion?" asked one man of another.

"I should say that the age of discretion is reached when a young man removes from his mantelpiece the rich collection of actresses and dancing girls' photographs and substitutes the portrait of his rich bachelor uncle."

"Yes," retorted the inquirer, "and womanly discretion if his best girl waits till the rich bachelor dies."

Look for Mack's and buy. Fear pays no dividends. Don't expect applause. Deserve.

KILLED SWEETHEART

ELIZABETH N. J., Feb. 13.—Because at the last moment she refused to elope with him, according to the report brought before the monthly meeting of the Summerside Fire Department on Monday night by Assistant Chief W. D. McNeill. There was a good attendance of members at the meeting, with ordinary routine business transacted.

In all nine shots were fired. Four entered the body of the woman, while the self-slayer fired two through his own heart. One bullet was found imbedded in the wall and another on the floor. The ninth cannot be accounted for by the police, who think that Allegro, about to take his departure, discontended, on his victim's refusal to accompany him, fired through the window, and then in a sudden passion reentered the house, firing at the young woman, as she retreated into her bedroom.

According to the police, Mrs. Augana was a bride of thirteen months and had during the past few months been friendly with Allegro. Mrs. Augana's husband was absent at the time of the tragedy.

SUSSEX 15 ST. JOHN 1

SUSSEX, Feb. 11.—The last scheduled game in the western section of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island League was played here tonight between St. John and Sussex.

Sussex is now champion of the western section. They have won all the six games played securing sixty-one goals to their credit with only twelve against them.

A large crowd was at the rink tonight to see the game and although the score was one sided, the game was snappy and interesting, especially the first two periods.

McAllister, in goal for St. John, was a busy man and played a great game, his quarters being bombarded frequently. The St. John boys, considering the chance they have had to practise in nothing but open air rinks, played a splendid game. In the first period Sussex scored 2, St. John, 0; second period, Sussex 2; St. John, 1, and third, Sussex 11; St. John, 0.

John Leclair scored 6 for the Sussex team, Harold Radcliffe, 7; Hay, 1, and Percy Radcliffe, 1. Kirby scored for St. John.

FLOWERS ONCE WERE WILD

Many of the flowers that adorn our gardens have been procured from plants which originally grew wild. They have been changed or improved by the patient art of the professional gardener.

The tuberoses were introduced into Europe from the East Indies by a Spanish physician in the sixteenth century. It still grows in its wild state in Java and Ceylon.

The chequer-holly came from France and Italy about 1550, while the crown imperial lily was first brought from Persia to Constantinople. From there it was taken to the Emperor's garden at Vienna, whence it found its way all over Europe.

It is not generally known that the bell-donna lily was procured from South America in 1593, while the Guernsey lily was brought from Japan and was first cultivated at the beginning of the seventeenth century in the garden of an Englishman in Paris.

The first species of the dahlia known to Europeans was discovered in Mexico and sent to a professor at the Botanic Gardens, Madrid, who named it in honor of the Swedish professor, Dahl. The most popular of flowers, the rose, is to be found in almost every country north of the equator. It derives its name from "rhos," meaning red. Of this plant more than 100 species have been described, and more than 2,000 varieties may be procured.

Woman Defends

Mabel Normand

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—William Desmond Taylor, also known as William Deane-Tanner, never had a brother and he belonged to the oldest and wealthiest aristocracy of Ireland, according to a statement here today by Mrs. W. D. Farnham, an old friend from Ireland, who knew him well when he was a boy.

"His father's name was Major William Tanner," she said. "He was the only son of his family who was not something of a snob. I intend to write to his daughter, Daisy, and tell her the fine side of him that I know."

At the same time another Chicagoan, Mrs. John H. Borden, a close friend of Mabel Normand, was raising to the latter's defense. She returned here recently after a five months' visit with Miss Normand.

"Mabel is not in love and never was in love with Mr. Taylor," she said.

"Bill Taylor was in love with her very much so, but it was unrequited. She had been engaged to Mack Bennett, but that was an old affair and now they are merely good friends. Mabel did not know anything about the first Mrs. Taylor or the daughter."

Not Sweetheart Murdered Man

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 11.—Mabel Normand, film actress, who was among the last persons to see William Desmond Taylor, 33, now alive, made a number of declarations "on her word of honor" to newspaper interviewers today.

"Were you ever in love with Taylor?" she asked her.

"Not in the way one means when he uses the expression 'in love,' on my word of honor, no," she said. "Get it straight. Our friendship was based on comradeship and understanding."

might have been jealous of you who might have loved Taylor?"

"On my word of honor, no."

"Or any man who might have been jealous of the place he occupied in your esteem?"

"On my word of honor, no."

"It has been hinted he gave drug parties. Did you ever hear of them?"

"Never in God's world; never, on my word of honor."

"And, oh, please say that I never heard of that pink silk night robe they say is missing from Mr. Taylor's apartments."

"But Henry Peavay, the negro houseman, said—"

"He ought to be ashamed of himself for saying I asked him about other girls going to Mr. Taylor's house," she exclaimed. "I saved him his job once when Mr. Taylor wanted to fire him."

Still Seek Butler.

Efforts of the police department to solve the mystery were concentrated later today on the search for Edwin F. Sands, former butler for Taylor.

"Edwin F. Sands must be captured in order that his elimination may be made complete or a charge entered against him," said Captain David Adams, in charge of the police investigation.

Taylor joined the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in Windsor, Nova Scotia, on August 6, 1918, and, while well liked, made few friends there, sick from the coarse food.

according to Ellis G. Toxt, train-master of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, who was a 1918. Later I heard that he had attended an officers' training camp.

"Taylor was like a fish out of water when he came to the camp," Toxt said. "He was dressed in the height of fashion, and his refinement and culture were somewhat out of place in such rough surroundings. The tents were so overcrowded that I took him into my own. He was very thankful for that favor."

Discussing the Taylor murder he said that the incident, added to recent motion picture scandals in California, had given the industry weeks in the camp he was taken a setback from which it would be long in recovering.

"The minority, who have money quickly, persons with character and less morals, had had their heads turned, and cast aside all restraint," he said, referring to the residents of the colony.

"I think it would be a jolly thing if Hollywood were abolished. It should be scattered, and it would be a result of the indignation which will cause moving picture directors to give it up as a segregated production centre, it has a tendency to spread, to creep those who ordinarily would not be affected by it—the small part of the whole."

Like Champagne

Champagne loses its properties if allowed to stand after being poured. In the same way tea tastes best if taken immediately upon being poured from the pot.

Let Blue Bird infuse for around five minutes in a warmed earthen pot, using water that has just come to its first boil, drink it as soon as poured, and you have the best tea made the best way.
