

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

SHOP from Holman's Catalog. BATHING SUITS stunningly modelled by the seashore at Patons.

HOPE RIVER TEA, Saturday 8th. If rainy on Monday 10th.

LOVELY WOOL BATHING SUITS at Patons Ltd., moderately priced.

THE ICE CREAM FESTIVAL at East Royalty takes place on July 6th not on July 4th as stated in Friday's paper.

ON TUESDAY, July 6th, a strawberry and ice cream festival will be held at East Royalty in Edgar Hearz's field.

SUMMER COTTAGE for sale at Brighton Shore. Delightful bathing. Price right to quick purchaser. Apply 134 Kent Street.

CAVENDISH.—Mr. M. O. Bromton, B.A., will preach in Cavendish Sunday at 11 o'clock, and at Fairview at 7.30.

WASH DRESSES from the Bungalow Apron, to the attractive and dainty gingham Dress for street wear, selling at Patons today from $1.50 up.

RESERVE SATURDAY the 8th July for the great picnic at St. Peter's Bay, and be assured it will be up to the high standard of former ones held on the same ground. If Saturday is wet come Monday.

COME TO THE ICE CREAM SOCIAL.—The New Annan Women's Institute intend having on Friday evening, July 7th, on New Annan Park. If stormy, Saturday evening.

20 GALLONS GASOLINE as prize offered by A. Horne & Co., for the nearest guess to the number of miles made by Mr. Saunders' Special Six Studebaker car in recent economy test, was won by Miss Mattie Swan, Elm Ave. Her guess was 19 miles, 100 yards.

TO EXPAND WORK.—The regular meeting of the Charlottetown Sub-division of the Catholic Women's League was held on Tuesday evening, July 4th, in the Assembly Hall of the Cathedral, and was well attended. Many important matters were dealt with, and plans completed for the expansion of the work in further directions.

THE LADIES of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Montague will hold a social on the league grounds, Tuesday, July 11th. Refreshments, music, games, etc. Should the day prove unfavorable, social will be held on the first fine day following. By order.

COVEHEAD AND HARRINGTON.—The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed in this congregation on Sunday, July 9th as follows:—In the West Covehead church at 11 a. m. and in the Harrington church at 3 p. m. Preparatory service in Harrington Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and in Covehead Friday evening at the same hour. Rev. W. A. Robertson, B. A., of Kensington will assist at the Friday service.

WEDDING BELLS.—A very pretty wedding took place in Alberton at Ingleside on Monday June 26th, when Miss Emma Champion, became the bride of Mr. Herbert Clark of Alberton. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Spriggs, assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. K. Fraser. Shortly after, the guests were served to a lovely luncheon by Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Gordon, sisters of the bride. At 6.30 the happy couple left by car for Borden, on a motor trip through Nova Scotia, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

Miss Lena Campbell and Miss Laura Campbell, of New York, arrived in the City Tuesday on a visit to their home in St. Teresa's.

Mrs. A. J. McAdam, Dorchester, Mass., has arrived on a visit to Mr. J. J. McAdam, of West St. Peter's.

Mrs. J. S. Cookson (nee Miss Nellie Hodgson) of New York, was a passenger to the city last evening, on a visit to relatives and friends. She expects to remain on.

Mrs. Johnston Murray, and her two daughters, Margaret and Beth, of Frank, Alta., are spending the summer at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Darrach, New Haven.

Mr. Albert S. Irving, a real estate agent in Boston, and a native of Cherry Valley is visiting his aged father in Royalty and other relatives on the Island.

Mr. William Ray Williams and family arrived home from Rumford, Maine, last Saturday to spend a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Elm Avenue.

Miss Margaret E. McDonald, Berkeley, California, has arrived on a visit to her brother, Jas. A. McDonald, Harmony Jet., after an absence of nine years. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Jerome McDonald, Dorchester, Mass.

Mrs. Hugh Macdonald, of New York, arrived in Charlottetown on Thursday night, on a visit to her sister, Miss Catherine Penhessy, 236 Great George St. She is accompanied by her little granddaughter, three years old. It is thirty years since she last visited the Island.

Nothing to equal MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT FOR SPRAINS AND BRUISES. The first thing to do when you have an injury is to apply Minard's famous Liniment. It is antiseptic, soothing, healing and gives quick relief.

S. McIsaac & Sons 168 Queen Street

HOUSE DRESSES from $1.50 up, at Patons. Pretty styles and good washable materials.

ANNUAL MEETING Bedford Farmers Co., will be held July 8th, 2 p. m.

TEA PARTY at Hope River, Saturday, July 8th. Come and meet your friends.

THE CARGO OF SLABS arrived to load today. Price $2.00, delivered. Phone 176, A. Alward & Co.

THE TEA PARTY at Freetown, which was postponed yesterday owing to wet weather, will be held, this afternoon and evening.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL at Lower Montague, on Friday evening, July 7th. Proceeds in aid of New Union church.

COME TO THE Ice Cream festival in Spring Park Thursday evening, July 6th, at 7 p. m. Plenty of ice cream cake, candy and cold drinks.

NOTICE.—P. E. Island Fox Biscuit Co., wish to inform their customers that they are able to supply needs for biscuit as usual.

S. S. HARLAND EXCURSION.—Come and enjoy a pleasant day's outing to Pictou on Monday, July 10 from Brush Wharf, Orwell. F

A GENERAL MEETING of the P. E. Island Ayrshire Breeders' Club will be held in the Agricultural Hall, Charlottetown on Friday, July 7th at 12.30. M. McRae.

MacDONALD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE is holding a strawberry and ice cream festival on the lawn of Hammond Kelley, Bunbury, on Friday evening. Proceeds in aid of the new Orphanage and the schools.

SEAL CAUGHT.—On Tuesday Mr. Charles Andrews, Wheatley River, caught a large seal weighing about 200 lbs in the Wheatley River. The hide alone weighed 45 lbs. The seal is supposed to have come in from the sea.

PERSONALS

Miss Annie Curran, of Boston, arrived Tuesday on a visit to St. Teresa's.

Mrs. John Kieley and children, of Marble Head, Mass., have arrived to visit friends in Orwell.

Mrs. Thomas Moore, of Boston, is visiting friends in different parts of this province.

Miss Annie McLennan, O'Leary is at present visiting friends in the city.

Miss Katie Duffy and her friend Miss Elliott, have returned to the city from a visit to Emyvale.

Mr. Theodore Bolger, has returned after visiting friends in Newshaw.

Miss Mary Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rogers left yesterday on a visit to friends in Alberton.

Miss Lena Campbell and Miss Laura Campbell, of New York, arrived in the City Tuesday on a visit to their home in St. Teresa's.

Mrs. A. J. McAdam, Dorchester, Mass., has arrived on a visit to Mr. J. J. McAdam, of West St. Peter's.

Mrs. J. S. Cookson (nee Miss Nellie Hodgson) of New York, was a passenger to the city last evening, on a visit to relatives and friends. She expects to remain on.

Mrs. Johnston Murray, and her two daughters, Margaret and Beth, of Frank, Alta., are spending the summer at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Darrach, New Haven.

Mr. Albert S. Irving, a real estate agent in Boston, and a native of Cherry Valley is visiting his aged father in Royalty and other relatives on the Island.

Mr. William Ray Williams and family arrived home from Rumford, Maine, last Saturday to spend a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Elm Avenue.

Miss Margaret E. McDonald, Berkeley, California, has arrived on a visit to her brother, Jas. A. McDonald, Harmony Jet., after an absence of nine years. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Jerome McDonald, Dorchester, Mass.

Mrs. Hugh Macdonald, of New York, arrived in Charlottetown on Thursday night, on a visit to her sister, Miss Catherine Penhessy, 236 Great George St. She is accompanied by her little granddaughter, three years old. It is thirty years since she last visited the Island.

Nothing to equal MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT FOR SPRAINS AND BRUISES. The first thing to do when you have an injury is to apply Minard's famous Liniment. It is antiseptic, soothing, healing and gives quick relief.

Nothing to equal MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT FOR SPRAINS AND BRUISES. The first thing to do when you have an injury is to apply Minard's famous Liniment. It is antiseptic, soothing, healing and gives quick relief.

Nothing to equal MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT FOR SPRAINS AND BRUISES. The first thing to do when you have an injury is to apply Minard's famous Liniment. It is antiseptic, soothing, healing and gives quick relief.

PATONS LTD.

Letter from Edinburgh

Interesting Points On The Way There - The English Lake Country--Abbotsford And Melrose.

On the way to Scotland we visited the English Lakes. By rail we went to Windermere and by bus to the village of Bowness on the border of the lake. There we were in the midst of the country that inspired Wordsworth and Keats.

"Ye mountains and ye lakes, And sounding cataracts, ye mists and winds That dwell among the hills, where I was born, If in my youth I have been pure in heart, If mingling with the world I am content With my own modest pleasures, and have lived With God and Nature communing removed From little enmities and low desires— The gift is yours."

These lakes and hills, clothed in and reflecting the fresh green of the springtime, and bordered by summer residences, surrounded by gardens in full bloom enlivened by hundreds of holiday making men and women abroad in little steamers and boats of various kinds, are certainly very beautiful, and very interesting. We went in a steamer on lake Windermere from Bowness to the head of the lake, and traversed the Lake Country from Bowness to Keswick by motor car. In size and grandeur the English lakes cannot at all be compared with that of Canada. Yet the grandeur of the hills and the beauty of the valleys surround

DIED IN CITY.—The death occurred in Charlottetown Tuesday night after a brief illness of George Macdonald, aged 73. The body was taken yesterday afternoon to Georgetown his old home, where burial will take place today (Thursday) at 2 p. m. from the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Macdonald. The deceased was a son of the late Joseph Macdonald of Georgetown and was unmarried. He leaves a mother, two brothers and one sister, Robert Macdonald and Miss Mary Macdonald of Burst Point and James Macdonald of Charlottetown, Mass.

MANY VISITORS COMING.—Mr. Weldon L. Crossman, of the composing room force of the Boston Traveller, arrived in the city yesterday morning. Mr. Crossman is a native of Summerside and since residing in Boston, has paid annual visits to his former home and relatives. He came via the S. S. Governor Dingley, from Boston to St. John and thence by rail to Charlottetown. He informs the Guardian that the Governor Dingley had a large passenger list about 6.50 in all, the majority of them headed for Prince Edward Island. Many of them were former islanders, paying their present visit to their native province and representing different parts of the province. Both the steamer to St. John and train from St. John to Sackville were on schedule time, but unfortunately the usual delays occurred between Sackville and Charlottetown. The latter train reached at one o'clock in the morning. At Sackville there was a delay of forty minutes, while waiting for the Halifax train. From Sackville to Charlottetown there were numerous and unaccountable delays. This, together with the crowded condition of the train, most expediting to the passengers and many unfavorable comments were heard on every hand. Many of the passengers were women with children and not a few of them declared they would never again undertake the journey until assured of better conditions. It is regrettable that just at the opening of the tourist season with its promise of the best home coming and visiting list their usual lack of facilities had not been arranged for. It is hoped that with our further delay more cars will be placed on the Sackville-Charlottetown route and better accommodation will be provided.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the SEER OF SCOTLAND.

ing the lakes is very effective and very charming. It is not wonderful that poets have been inspired by them or that they are the resort of those who need rest and seek the quiet pleasure which recuperates the tired mind.

On our motor trip through the Lake Country we passed the house in which Wordsworth was born: the houses in which he lived throughout the greater part of his life and which he entertained Coleridge and Scott and other poetic friends, and the church in the valley of Grasmere where his body lies interred. The interest which all Englishmen of light and leading have in these lakes is without doubt due as much to the fact that Wordsworth lived and died near by as to their great beauty and the splendour of the hills by which they are surrounded.

When passing it was very pleasing to note in the North of England, as in the south red soil—so like that of our own fertile Isle! It may, I think, be truly said that the best parts of the Mother Country—the parts most fertile and beautiful—rest upon the red sandstones. As we entered Scotland—after spending a couple of pleasant hours at the historic old city of Carlisle—the same red colour of the soil was noted and the same rich green undulating landscape, decorated with the bloom of hawthorne and rose trees. Only some of the fields in Scotland were as full of bobbles as the fields of Cape Breton! But all were well cultivated, and all gave promise—when I saw them—of an abundant crop.

Before going on to Edinburgh we looked in at Abbotsford, the home of Sir Walter Scott, and on our return to the railway station visited the classic ruins of Melrose Abbey. We all know of course that there are no more interesting parts of Scotland than those associated with the names Burns and Scott, and Abbotsford was one of Scott's creations. The choice of his site, beside the river Tweed was certainly a happy one. A fairer rounder than that which surrounds it can hardly be imagined. The house which he designed, which was built, and decorated and furnished under his direction, his later works, is still in a good state of repair, and very much as Scott left it.

We were first of all ushered into his study, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the Seer of Scotland.

Melrose Abbey, which his works has glorified, is still an interesting site, close by his bedroom. There was the desk upon which he wrote, the chair upon which he sat, the books at hand on the shelves—just as they were when he drew upon his fancy and his lore and wrought out the works that immortalized him and heightened the fame of the land he loved. His library still fills a large adjacent room. Books from it may be obtained on application to the company in full charge. But they are for the most part left, as the fine old furniture and the many interesting things with which Abbotsford is adorned, as mere memorials of the SEER OF SCOTLAND.

LAURA SECORD

CHOCOLATES CANADA'S CHOICEST CANDY, LB. 85c. The Spa is the only store East of Quebec privileged to sell Laura Secords. They are worthy of the name they bear.

NEILSON'S BULK CHOCOLATES

Neilson's best grade, regularly selling at 75c lb. A large shipment fresh from the factory makes this price possible. 39c

The Spa

Queen Street "Where Service and Purity Meet"

HOTEL ARRIVALS

VICTORIA HOTEL.

H. S. Duncan, St. John; Mrs. John J. Johnson, Ridgely, Me.; L. F. Munton, Moncton; H. V. Belyea, Moncton; R. W. Simpson, Moncton; Fred Condon, Moncton; W. B. Sutherland, Truro; H. B. McLaughlin, Truro; J. E. Nelson, Halifax; W. Hellwell, Montreal; Hugh MacPhee, Halifax; S. Maxwell, Hartford, Conn.; G. E. Alexander, Toronto; J. C. Kluck, Montreal; D. J. Stevens, Halifax; H. M. Taylor, Halifax; B. R. Brownell, Windsor, Ont.; E. Bishop, St. John; G. S. Goulet, Halifax; Mrs. Ira A. MacKay, Montreal; Miss Dorothy Fisher, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Paulman, Montreal; Dr. and Mrs. M. O. Davis, Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. T. C. Jordan, Worcester, Mass.; Master Wesley Davis, Worcester, Mass.; W. Harrison, Jr., Halifax; A. B. Gaselein, Halifax; Miss Inez Gordon, Boston; Mrs. E. Foley, Somerville, Mass.; Mrs. E. Foley, Boston; Mrs. Grace J. Dingley, Cambridge; Mary MacDonald, Roxbury, Mass.; Mrs. J. MacDonald and family, Roxbury, Mass.; F. C. Webb, Halifax; B. L. Bentley, Halifax.

QUEEN HOTEL.

Miss Adele McArthur, Summerside; Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Summerside; Mrs. Hyslop, Pictou; H. P. McLaughlin, wife and children, City; A. A. Alley, City; E. H. Rayner and party, Summerside; Chas. R. Stavert, Summerside; Alva Breton, Summerside; Kathleen Smith, Boston; Martha G. Ross, Concord, N.H.; John A. Allen, New York; Henry Callahan, Lake Verde; R. A. McLeod, Ulster; R. H. Bond, St. John; D. McCormack, Boston; Mrs. C. S. Hale and daughter, Boston; Mr. A. J. McAdam, Boston; Mary Huffey, Boston; Mrs. L. C. McDonald, Dorchester.

REVERE HOTEL.

Geo. Harris, Boston; C. Brown, York; Claude Bearisto, Malpeque; A. N. Lewis, New Glasgow; J. Hogan, New Glasgow; Geo. Riley, Latic; Mrs. S. J. Rose, Lakeville; G. D. Walker, Lunenburg; G. Shank, Pictou; C. H. Nelson, Moncton; R. Gaffney, Toronto; R. W. Chisholm, Toronto; Miss G. Delorie, Boston; Miss Stella Delorie, Boston; Miss Minnie Delorie, Boston; Mrs. W. Appleton, Boston; Mary Murphy, Boston; Wallie Fisher, Boston; Eliza McDonald, Boston; Mrs. Margaret McCormack, Boston; Mrs. K. McCormack, Boston; Mrs. M. Cummings, Boston; Miss H. Cummings, Boston; Miss Christina McKenzie, Boston; Miss Eliza McKenzie, Boston; R. G. Brehaut, Rouler, Sask.; Mrs. Beatrice Curran and children, Boston; Mrs. Turnbull and children, Burlington; G. Gordon Turnbull, Burlington; W. L. Crossman, Revere, Mass.; Mrs. William Gaughan, Revere, Mass.; Warren H. Carr, Boston; Mrs. W. H. Carr, Boston; Miss Beatrice Carr, Boston; Mrs. McDonald and family, Boston; Mary A. Campbell, Boston; R. C. Mullin, Boston; J. Mallard, Boston; Dr. Keith, Springfield, Mass.; Roy Baggis, Springfield; Jas. Summers, Springfield; Geo. Summers, Springfield; W. C. Perkins, Springfield.

SUMMARY OF CANADIAN BUILDING NEWS

HEAR MORE OF LIQUOR MATTER

Compiled for the Canadian Press by MacLean Building Reports Ltd., 345 Adelaide Street West, Toronto. This information is of interest and importance to every builder, contractor, supply dealer and financier in Canada.

June Figures Show New Construction Still on Upgrade.

During June, construction contracts awarded in Canada, according to MacLean Building Reports, Limited, amounted to $35,620,400, compared with $34,827,300 in May and $26,436,800 in June, 1921. This places the May total as the second largest monthly figure on record since May, 1914. Residential building accounted for 36.4% of the June total, and amounted to $12,985,900. Business building amounted to $10,351,200, or 29.1% of the total; industrial buildings $4,914,300, or 13.8%; public works and utilities $7,369,000, or 20.7%. The value of contemplated new work reported during June was 26,117,400.

Table with 3 columns: Province, No. of Projects, Value. Ontario: 1597, $15,984,100. Quebec: 655, 12,070,800. British Columbia: 217, 1,778,900. Manitoba: 283, 1,572,000. Alberta: 205, 1,198,200. Nova Scotia: 136, 1,104,500. New Brunswick: 79, 1,047,600. Saskatchewan: 166, 874,800.

Total for Dominion, 3338 $35,620,400. During May the Wholesale Price Index of 48 Building Materials advanced slightly, and is now 79.3% above 1913, compared with a peak of 183.8% reached in May, 1920. Prices have now declined 36.8% from the high. This seasonal upward movement will be marked for June due to a shortage in supplies. The increases are caused principally by builders bidding against each other in order to get prompt deliveries.

Lower freight rates on basic commodities are promised by the railroads. This should mean another reduction in prices in the Fall.

HEAR MORE OF LIQUOR MATTER

OTTAWA, July 5.—It is not expected that the last has been heard of the amendments to the Canada temperance act which were thrown out by the senate in the closing hours of the last session. Representatives of the common spent two hours in conference with managers for the senate prorogation being postponed for this purpose, in an effort to get the essentials of these amendments through an dit is regarded as probable that the same or similar provisions will be introduced by the government early at the next session.

The bill as it was sent up to the senate had in it two main clauses