WELCOME THE TRAVELLER (By ARTHUR HARDY)

"Watch that left hook to the eye, Bob," Daniel advised. Robert could feel the burn of the netted fist. McGinty would be sure to make play at the sore spot. He knew it might turn the tide of battle if he could open a cut. McGinty at the start of the third round. He scored with a lightning left jab and pounced quickly from the counter. McGinty was short. Berry went in again, showing superb footwork, jabbed, jabbed, jabbed again, stepping or sliding away from McGinty's counters. He watched McGinty's eyes. A far-away look had crept into them. Robert cast a swift glance at McGinty's legs. They gave a wobble. McGinty made play, drew a couple of left jabs caught them on his gloves, and drove a hard left home on the nose. McGinty snuffed and tore in angrily, aiming at the eye. Robert felt him have it, right cross and straight. McGinty's eyes were the ropes, and kept him there. In a rainy McGinty butted viciously, jabbed low at the body, but in the excitement of the fight, he forgot his heavy wild sharp digs, short jolting upper-cuts, and overhand swings to the head.

In Memoriam

MRS. JOHN A. GILLIS. In the early morning hours of Thursday, January 25th Mrs. John A. Gillis a very highly esteemed resident of Wood Islands passed peacefully away at the age of 70 years. The deceased had been in her usual good condition of health until a little more than twenty-four hours before the coming of the end. On the evening of January twenty-four when Mr. Gillis retired at about 9.30 o'clock Mrs. Gillis remained behind to write several letters. Within an hour after Mr. Gillis had retired Mrs. Gillis came to his bedroom door and said that she believed that she had taken a slight stroke. Mr. Gillis at once arose and soon had Mrs. Gillis comfortably cared for, but almost immediately after having laid down she lapsed into unconsciousness. In this state of unconsciousness she remained until the early morning of the above mentioned date when her gentle spirit winged its heavenward flight.

Besides a sorrowing husband Mrs. Gillis leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother two sons and three daughters. The sons are John J. Gillis, Melville and Alexander B. Gillis, Belle River and the daughters are Mrs. Charles A. Gendron, Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. Daniel McPherson, Eldon and Miss Pearl C. Gillis, Newton, Mass. All are feeling their great loss very keenly. There are also left to mourn an ever kind and thoughtful grandmother, ten grandchildren namely: Ernest, John, Donald, Alvin and Charles McPherson, children of Mrs. Daniel McPherson, Lois, Wilfred and Joan Gillis, children of John J. Gillis and Jean and Lloyd Gillis, children of Alexander B. Gillis.

The deceased was one of a family of six members—three brothers and three sisters. The three brothers were Allan Beaton, Montana, U. S. A.; Malcolm Beaton, Peters River and Alexander Beaton, Flat River and the sisters were Mrs. John Cameron, Capetown; Mrs. Hugh McLean, Charlottetown and Mrs. John A. Gillis now deceased.

Of the members other than Mrs. Gillis, one brother Allan Beaton passed away some thirty years ago and one sister Mrs. John Cameron died in 1925. Two brothers and one sister survive Mrs. Gillis.

Mrs. Gillis whose name before marriage was Miss Sarah Beaton was the daughter of Mr. Alexander Beaton and Mrs. Christina Stewart Beaton of Flat River. She was a lady who was held in high esteem by all who had the privilege of knowing her. She was one of the things that were best and was ever ready to help on with every good cause.

After her marriage she lived for thirty years in Belle River and on January 25th 1925 she came to live in Wood Islands. It is rather stirring to note that she passed away on exactly the same day of the same month namely January 25th as she came to live in Wood Islands just fifteen years before.

To her home, all worthy comers found a hearty welcome and no one needing aid ever called upon her in vain. In times of sickness and sorrow she was a real "mother in Israel" to all who were in need. In religion she was a Presbyterian and during the days of the disruption she remained true to the church of her fathers. She was one of the ever loyal and very generous supporters of the Wood Island Church. She will be much missed by a large circle of relatives and friends, but it is in the home that her loss will be felt most keenly.

High her loved ones will no doubt often sigh for the touch of a vanished hand and long for the sound of a voice that is still. But their sighing and their longing shall be all in vain. Never again shall they feel upon the earth the touch of the hand that has vanished. Never again shall they hear the sound of the voice that is still for the one who was so dear to them has gone on forever into that land where there are no partings and where for loved ones are all unknown. Her passing was one of sweet peace.

The funeral was held on the afternoon of Saturday, January 27th. The service which was a very impressive one throughout was conducted by Rev. R. Hensley Stavert, M. A., B. D. The floral tributes were beautiful and consisted of the following: Pillow-Roses, Hubbard, Pillow-Roses, The Family, Jean, Jonville and Carnations, the G. W. children. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Malcolm S. Beaton, Damon Ross, Thos. Mcholson, Wm. A. Mcholson, Ralph McKenzie and Campbell McLeod. Interment was in the Belfast Cemetery.

London's White Army Seek To Halt Slaughter

(Canadian Press Staff Writer) LONDON, Feb. 21.—(CP)—London has a "white" army to fight the menace of road deaths in the black-out—City traffic police who watch for offenders against the new after-dark speed limit of 20 miles an hour, established to reduce the mounting highway slaughter. Patrol cars move through darkened streets at that speed and halt any motorist exceeding it. A red torch, held from the car window by a white-sleeved arm is the signal to stop and receive a "ticket." Maximum penalty for violation of the speed limit is £100 ($445). Bobbies in white coats patrol the streets on foot keeping similar watch.

The speed limit and a safety propaganda campaign with the slogan "Look out in the Blackout" are part of the government's effort to deal with the mounting death toll. Figures showing 1939 highway fatalities reached 8,700, an all-time high, led to clamor for action.

DROMORE & VICINITY. Mr. Edward Callaghan was a visitor to the city over the week-end. The many friends of the Misses Evelyn Hughes, Olive and Sybil Callaghan, regret to learn that they have left to take up their new abode in Montreal.

Mr. Leonard McLeod has left for the city to attend the Blacksmithing Course. Miss Frances MacCarron, Auburn is at present seriously ill with pneumonia. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Frederick Callaghan was a visitor to Auburn last week. The school is progressing favorably under the capable direction of Miss Mary Callaghan. Mr. Patrick McGuirk has returned to his home here having taken the Carnegie Course in the city. Miss Annie Corrigan has returned to her home having spent a very pleasant week in Auburn, the guest of Miss Mary McEntee.

WAR LOGGERS FROM NFLD. CARLISLE, England.—(CP)—Parties of Newfoundland lumberjacks are engaged in felling trees in various parts of northern England. The timber will be used for various war purposes.

50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. McEwen, West St. Peter's was the scene of a pleasant event on Christmas evening when a number of their friends and neighbors assembled to offer their congratulations on the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day.

About fifty guests sat down to a delicious supper served by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emery McEwen and Mrs. Lloyd McEwen, assisted by Mrs. Vernon Anderson and Miss Joyce Anderson. A beautiful wedding cake graced the centre of the table. A number of relatives and friends from Charlottetown, Burnaby, Marle and Morell were present, also their son Raymond McEwen and Mrs. McEwen from Cambridge, Mass., to be with his parents, on that memorable occasion.
