WAR TIME REGULATIONS STILL OPERATING — That the arrival of V-E day had not changed the stern attitude of Canadian courts toward infractions of wartime price and rationing regulations was demonstrated by penalties imposed last week which included a two-month gaol sentence together fith a $3,000 fine for a violation of gasoline rationing regulations, fines of $2,500 and $1,000 for price ceiling offences and a fine of $975 for rental infractions. One hundred and twenty-eight persons were sentenced, 47 under price ceiling regulations, 42 under gasoline rationing orders and 18 for violating food rationing laws. An Alberta automobile dealer was fined $1,000 for selling used cars above ceiling prices and a Montreal firm was fined the same amount for charging excessive prices for men's clothing.

Edwin Johnstone SAYS:

Suppose you had no savings or property today but by the end of this month you had saved $10 out of income. Your Estate would be just that $10. But if you invested it as a down-payment on a Life Insurance Policy, your Estate would consist of the value of that Policy (maybe thousands of dollars) immediately ! !

"THE BIBLE must surely be handed on with reverence and love to quite little children that it may become part of their breathing. I am not sure that we have not got to begin just there, to begin, as it were, again from the beginning, that the Word in these sacred words may speak to them with compelling power and evoke an answering faith that shall go with them all the days of their life." A BEGINNING IN RELIEF — Small game sportsmen will find some relief from strict rationing of ammunition in the Prices Board announcement removing rim-fire cartridges from the list of small arms ammunition which is rationed. These may now be purchased without permit through the regular trade channels. The rim-fire ammunition consists almost entirely of .22 calibre cartridges, though small quantities of .25 and .32 calibre rim-fire ammunition are manufactured. Permits are still required for centre fire cartridges and shells for shot guns.

JOBS ASSURED BEFORE DEMOBILIZATION

A Square Deal for Veterans Assured by Progressive Conservatives

The very first clause of the Progressive Conservative plans for the re-establishment of Veterans, adopted at the National Convention of December, 1942, is as follows:—

DEMOBILIZATION

In carrying out the demobilization of Canada's Armed Forces the primary consideration should be the interest of those who have served. Demobilization should be based on the principle that members of the Armed Forces should not be discharged until their economic security is assured by placement in gainful employment or by assisted training and education to that end.

Here, in this simple statement of progressive, realistic policy is the only true solution of the fundamental problem by which every ex-service man and woman is faced. It is the only assurance of a square deal for all veterans. It is the very basis of the Rehabilitation Policies of the Progressive Conservative Party. No veteran will be discharged against his will until he is assured of a decent livelihood.

"Platitudes will not fill empty stomachs," declares John Bracken, "nor generalities provide jobs for those who have fought, nor wordy declamations about sacrifice ease the load of the widows and children whose husbands and fathers gave life itself that we might live in peace and security."

Throughout the war, Canadian service men and women have had their fill of platitudes and generalities.

Let our veterans now ask themselves this question. Does the spirit of political partisanship which the King Government has consistently manifested in time of war, offer any assurance of a square deal for veterans in time of peace? Does the iniquitous manpower policy which split Canada apart reflect the right spirit? Remember in war, as in peace, political policies infallibly indicate party principles.

It is significant that more than half of the Progressive Conservative candidates are service and ex-service men. No other party can even approach this record. These men know that no other party has such realistic and comprehensive plans for rehabilitation. They know that the Progressive Conservative Party is the service men's party.

They know that John Bracken, father of three sons on active service, understands the problems, the hopes and the fears of veterans.

They say, with John Bracken

"The cost of winning the war and the cost of re-establishing those who fought in it, is one and indivisible. In the plainest words at my command, I say to you that nothing short of full-time gainful employment for every man and woman who has worn the Canadian uniform will be acceptable. Every man and woman must be given an opportunity to earn a good living. If existing enterprise cannot do this, the State must, and will."

These service and ex-service candidates, with John Bracken, pledge themselves that, under no circumstances, will existing benefits to veterans be lessened. On the contrary, they will be increased and extended.

They, with John Bracken, pledge themselves to revise an out-moded pensions act, to humanize its administration, to eliminate red tape and inexcusable delays. Pension rates will be reviewed at once and increased to bring them in line with higher living costs.

Under a Progressive Conservative government, recorded condition of personnel on enlistment will be accepted as sufficient proof in determining disability pension. The veteran will be entitled to the benefit of the doubt.

The "first in, first out" principle will be followed on demobilization — with a job at decent pay assured to the veteran when he returns to "civvy" street.

In the words of our leader, we of the Progressive Conservative Party,

"accept the challenge to demonstrate to you who fought that you shall not be handicapped in days of peace because you responded to the nation's call in days of war."
