January 1st. Re-Investments On January 1st a large number of quarterly dividends will be paid; on the same date a still greater number of half-yearly interests payments will be due and a number of half-yearly dividends will be paid. Many large investors will receive more than they will need to finance them through the next six months and they will have the surplus funds available for reinvestment. Many of the smaller and more thrifty investors, who take delight in seeing their financial position improve, will not spend all they receive, they will see that part of their interest or dividends is "put by" and so they will have money to reinvest. All classes of investors, whether large or small, whether buyers of bonds or stocks, will find it profitable to make arrangements now regarding their reinvestments. Purchases can be made now regarding their reinvestments. Purchasers can be made now and we will make deliveries when convenient to the purchasers. F. B.
