A fatal head on collision occurred on the I. C. R. yesterday morning at Flatlands, a few miles north of Campbellton, N. The switch had been left open and the Maritime crashed into the freight, both engines being practically demolished. Two postal clerks were instantly killed and the engineer and fireman on the Maritime seriously injured. A number of the Maritime's passengers were badly shaken up but so far as known none of them seriously injured.

Sir Robert Borden Joined Today by His Colleagues at Paris. Allied Labor Congress Will be Held During Conference.

(Special to The Guardian.) PARIS, Jan. 17.—Sir Robert Borden who came to Paris last Saturday accompanied by a portion of his staff will be joined today by his colleagues and other members of the mission in readiness for the formal constitution of the inter-allied peace conference on Saturday. Mr. Lloyd Harris and Mr. Frank Jones of the Trade Mission arrived last night after a two weeks motor trip through Belgium and the devastated areas of France. The Canadian mission will thus be reassembled here at the Hotel Majestic, the headquarters of British delegates, with the exception of Mr. Draper who is remaining in London to attend an important conference on Monday between Gompers and British Labor Leaders at which it is expected a decision will be reached to hold an allied labor gathering in Paris while the peace conference is in session. The four ministers from Canada will constitute in themselves a Canadian panel from which members will be drawn as occasion requires to represent Canada directly in the conference to serve as members of the British panel. In this way there will be a division of labor and responsibility.

DR. JOHN T. JENKINS HAS PASSED AWAY

Citizens of Charlottetown and the whole Province mourn today the death of one of Prince Edward Island's oldest and most brilliant sons, in the person of Doctor John Theophilus Jenkins, familiarly known to all as the "Grand Old Man of the Province."

It was only on New Year's Day that the Doctor observed the ninetieth anniversary of his birth and he was able to celebrate it in his usual manner by going for a drive—a pastime which he loved. Since then he has not been out and the fact was apparent that this venerable, big-hearted and honorable and much loved citizen's days were drawing to a close. He breathed his last at 7.30 yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. S. Morris, "Elmwood," North River Road where he had been living for some time. His keen intellect remained unimpaired to the last.

By his death the poor of Charlottetown have lost one of their very best friends for he was always ready to assist where want could be relieved and the winter coal fund which he established will always stand as a credit to his memory.

His interest in local and world-wide affairs never waned and in public questions his contributions to the press always carried weight and appeared over his own signature.

He was a man of a wonderfully sound constitution and loved the great outdoors. He spent some years ranching in Western Canada and was a great lover of horses. As a horseman none was more popular and his splendid animals which he raised won many a keenly contested race with the doctor at the reins.

But for the accident which he received last June when he was thrown from his carriage it is very probable indeed that he would still have lived for some years. The injuries received then compelled him very reluctantly to take to his bed and since then he faded perceptibly and in the last few weeks the break-up was very evident and it could be seen that the end was approaching.

The late Dr. Jenkins was born in Charlottetown on January 1, 1829. About the year 1846 or '47 he went to England to receive his education, going through the London College of Surgeons, and graduating from St. Bartholomew's Hospital.

Having received his diploma he returned to the Island. He was not at home very long, however, before he entered upon a phase of life that proved to be one of the most eventful in his experience. The Crimea war broke out and the Doctor at once offered his services and proceeded to the scene of conflict serving with distinction in the hospitals at Eupatoria and Trebizond. He remained at the seat of war till the finish and for his services was awarded both the British and Turkish medals.

On his return from the war he became engaged to, and married, Miss Jessie Esther Rice, daughter of Captain Stephen Rice who fought at Waterloo in the Seventh Hussars, and who had the unusual experience of having his horse shot under him twice in one engagement.

Dr. Jenkins married at the age of 27. His sons are Col. Stephen R., M.D., Louis L., and Harry Herbert, (in

Armistice Prolonged For Another Month

(Special to The Guardian.) PARIS, The armistice, with several important clauses added, has been extended for a month, it was officially announced today. Sinn Fein Revolvers Seized in London

(Special to The Guardian.) LONDON, Jan. 17.—A number of revolvers and several hundred rounds of ammunition belonging to Sinn Feiners have been seized here, according to the Mail. Two arrests have been made.

Their report stated that up to the first week in February a steamer might cross between Pictou and some point on the Island. The Liberals came into power soon after and put on the "Northern Light" followed some years later by the "Stanley", a far more powerful steamer secured mainly through the efforts of Dr. Jenkins while a member of the House of Commons. The Doctor pursued his efforts even further to the end that Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways built the branch to Cape Traverse which was really the first step towards the car ferry. To the late Dr. Jenkins efforts is ascribed the fact that a clause providing for continuous steam communication between the Island and the mainland, was inserted in the terms of confederation.

His life has been a long and useful one indeed and citizens shall not look upon his like again. To those left to cherish his memory the Guardian extends sincere sympathy.

ARMY LAUNCH BIG DRIVE FOR ONE MILLION

Red Shield Campaign to Assist Blood-and-Fire Soldiers in After War Work

The Salvation Army is about to launch a campaign to raise One Million Dollars for war and demobilization purposes.

The money-getting campaign will be from January 19 to 25.

The Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada; Sir Robert Borden, Sir William Hearst, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and many other prominent citizens have endorsed the scheme, and strong committees have been formed for the purpose of boosting the objective.

The Salvation Army intends to use the money for three purposes:— (1) To establish hostels for returned soldiers who are discharged and in need until they are absorbed into industrial life.

(2) To provide emergency receiving and maternity homes for soldier's wives, widows, and dependent children in need.

(3) To continue during demobilization in England and France the equipments and comforts already provided by the Salvation Army for the Canadian soldiers overseas.

FIRST TO AID—LAST TO APPEAL

The Salvation Army was the first of the strictly social organizations to follow the British Army to Belgium. On the 18th of August, 1914, its Officers and Soldiers appeared at Brussels ready to help the boys.

We all know how the Army has kept up with the fighting boys. Right to the front line with the coffee and the sandwiches, and farther back huts for recreation and social purposes were established. They have 197 huts. Over 390,000 soldiers daily have received comfort and help and guidance from the lassies and the matrons who fight under the Blood-and-Fire Banner.

Till now the Salvation Army has not asked for money, except in small contributions on the street corners. Other agencies have appealed for help to carry on their good work with the soldiers. The Salvation Army is now asking for a million dollars to continue the good work which was begun on the battle-fields. The request is reasonable. But it should not be left for a few to subscribe. This is a chance for everybody. Will you help?
