The Journal, of Fulton, Illinois, relates the following interesting story: Miss Katherine McMahon left this evening for Portland Oregon for her future home, where she will be united in marriage to A. J. McDonald of Portland. The ceremony will be performed in St. Mary's Parish, the Rev. Father Dally (a former Prince Edward Islander) officiating. This marriage is the outcome of a little romance, which began almost two years ago when Miss McMahon visited relatives in California. Upon leaving San Francisco from her return trip home and just before boarding the steamer Columbia, which sailed from San Francisco to Portland, she was introduced by relatives, to their intimate friend, A. J. McDonald, who was at that time an officer on the steamer Columbia. During the voyage, a friendship was formed which resulted in a correspondence, the final ending of which is a happy marriage. A coincidence worthy of mention is that Miss Mc-Mahon and her future husband were born the same year, on Prince Edward's Island, Canada, although neither knew of the existence of the other, until their meeting in California.

"In Mexico" is only one of the numerous songs in "A Royal Slave" which will be seen at the Opera House Thursday, June twenty-seven and twenty-eight.
Perhaps no better idea of the rich pulsing nature of Mexican life could be had than by hearing those splendid melodies, characteristic of the people and the time. Sang by sweet voiced singers they carry their hearers back to the days of Maximilian in the land of sunshine and of flowers.
