Debating Club Closes

The Duvar Debating Club closed a very successful season on April 8th, debates having been held in the Duvar schoolhouse every Friday evening since January 1st, thus a very enjoyable and profitable winter was passed by the people of the community, such interest being taken, in bad roads and inclement weather, people came even from the surrounding districts to take part. There was a record attendance on every occasion, a good number of the ladies being present.

The spirit of the older generation is still seen in the speakers of today, they being almost all descended from the debaters of forty years ago. This winter saw many new speakers falling into line and showing good prospects for the future.

We cannot discriminate among the older speakers for they were all in excellent form and many were the good points brought out on each subject. However, the opposing forces were generally led by Mr. Oliver Peters and Mr. Guss Peters, who excelled in swaying the audience to their respective sides, so that on the division of the house the winning team generally won by a small margin. Every third debate was conducted in the French language. The most important subjects debated were: "Who can give the better information, the rich man without education, who travels to gain information, or the educated man, who reads to gain information."

The following were the principal speakers on each side:

Pro	Con
Oliver Peters	Guss Peters
Alexander Gallant	Prosper Gallant
Octave Pineau	Harry Peters
Denis Gallant	Philip Gallant
Paul Gallant
Joseph Finlay

At the close of the debate, the members held their business meeting and generously gave the funds collected during the winter, amounting to $5.45, for the cleaning of the schoolhouse and the buying of articles needed in both classrooms.

Kindly Acts: Time cannot remove kindly acts from a grateful heart.

Most economical flour
if you measure by your certainty of best baking results

The certainty of best results means anything to you in baking. Quaker Flour is the most economical flour you can use.

For you will never have a baking failure with Quaker Flour. If you do, we authorize your dealer to hand you back the money you have paid for the flour.

We are able to give this sweeping guarantee because we know by tests that every sack of Quaker Flour has perfect baking qualities.

Why take a chance on your baking? Won't you try Quaker Flour? If you use other flour, one baking failure will cost you more than any small difference there may be in the price of Quaker Flour.

Institute

NEW DOMINION WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

On Thursday evening March 10, eight members and seven visitors met at the home of Mrs. E. D. Doull for the regular monthly meeting of this Institute.

The secretary being absent, Mrs. W. H. MacEwen was appointed secretary for the evening. The meeting opened in the usual manner and roll call was made interesting by a "question box". Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted.

A letter from Dr. Creelman of the Provincial Sanatorium was read asking for a contribution of $1.00 towards buying mattress covers for the Sanatorium. It was decided to forward this amount to Dr. Creelman.

The quilt made by the Institute members was completed and shown at this meeting.

A musical contest put on by Mrs. Dan Livingstone and Miss Helen Doull provided entertainment and amusement as well.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed.

Mrs. Arthur MacDonald kindly invited the members to her home for the April meeting when roll call will be answered by "Spring Flowers."

The April meeting of the New Dominion Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Arthur MacDonald on Thursday evening April 7th. Mrs. MacPhee presided.

Eleven members and seven visitors were in attendance and roll call was answered by "Spring Flowers". The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Returns from sale of tickets for lottery of quilt were received and were financially successful. It was moved, seconded and unanimously carried that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to Mrs. A. K. MacPhee for the interest she had taken in the making of this quilt.

Seven bills were presented and on motion the secretary was authorized to pay same. It was decided to invite the members of the Fairview Women's Institute to be our guests for a social evening at the May meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. A. K. MacPhee on May 5th at seven thirty, roll call to be responded to by "Hints for Spring Cleaning" or "A Verse for Mother's Day". A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess after which a program consisting of solo by Miss Helen Doull, "Tree Contest" put on by the secretary, duet, Mrs. A. K. MacPhee and Miss Doull, a paper on "Why not plant a few Perennials" was read by Miss Elizabeth MacEwen.

A hearty sing-song brought a pleasant evening to a close. Mrs. MacDonald was pianist for the evening. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Murray Harbor

Seamens' service was held in the Murray Harbor United Church, April 24th. Hymns for the service were chosen from the Hymnary and were Nos. 452, 444, 501 and 338, all heartily sung by choir and congregation. A quartette, "When Storms Around are Sweeping," was sung by Messrs. A. S. Prowse, T. R. Goudge, W. F. Prowse and Albert McLeod. Organist, Mrs. Albert McLeod. Old Testament reading, Psalm 107 beginning at the 23rd verse. New Testament lesson, Acts of the Apostles, chapter 27, beginning at the 20th verse, reading to end of chapter. Text of address, Psalm 107, verses 23 and 24, "They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters; These see the works of the Lord, and His wonders in the deep."

Some of the thoughts of the address were, The Israelites and the sea, how they felt the power of the sea. How the seamen of the Maritimes look upon the wonder and power of the sea. Lessons the sea can teach. Getting ready for the voyage. Comparing the voyage to life and its trials.

The thoughts were very helpful, and were presented in Mr. Nicholson's address.

On Monday evening April 25th, about sixty friends gathered at the home of Mrs. W. F. Prowse in the celebration of the annual April party. The evening was spent very pleasantly in social manner. Dance, piano and violin music was enjoyed. Games of auction were played. Lunch with hot tea was served to all present.

On Tuesday afternoon three motor boats were compelled to take shelter from the ice by coming into Murray Harbor. A party of men, women and children were voyaging in these three boats, from near Tormentine, N. B., to a harbor near Mulgrave, N. S. While in Murray Harbor two of the men were guests at the Riverside House. While fairly comfortable housing was possible for the rest of the party on board the boats.

Motor boats from Murray Harbor and vicinity have made several attempts to reach Pictou Island, but because of drift ice, all attempts have so far been frustrated.

Mr. R. Nicholson of Charlottetown, was guest at the Riverside House, while here on survey business.

Eleven of the motor boats expected to land at Pictou Island on April 27th.—P.

EASTERN GUARDIAN

—UP-TO-DATE PLANT—Some recent visitors to Montague were much impressed by the size and equipment of the Montague Furnishing Co. Ltd., (casket factory) and the amount of work done in this factory. Montague has good reason to be proud of this large manufacturing concern. It was established in the year 1880 by Mr. D. L. MacKinnon, who still takes an active interest in the work, and formed into a joint stock company and incorporated in 1919 when manufacturing for the wholesale trade was started by the present secretary Mr. L. M. MacKinnon, son of the founder of the company. At first the trade was limited to parts of the Maritime Provinces, gradually extending westwards through every province in Canada. Several warehouses are maintained at convenient centres for quick and immediate demands. Besides catering to a select Canadian trade goods are shipped to Newfoundland, West Indies and parts of South America. Salesmen cover the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario. Business in all other territory is transacted by mail. Entering one end of this factory one passes great quantities of round lumber which is purchased locally or taken from the company's own timber holdings. After these logs are sawn the boards are piled in the open to thoroughly dry. This process takes several months. The lumber is then passed through the various machines and cut to the required size and shape. The milled lumber then goes to the assembly room where it is put together by experts in that particular work. The trimmers then attach the various textiles required and it is placed to the finishers who put in place rich upholsterings of silk or satin. Finally the handles and other hardware is attached and the finished casket is boxed and made ready for shipment. The department for the manufacturing of interiors is a small factory in itself. Here casket lining, pillows and all kinds of draperies are made from various colors of silks, satins, and other materials. This work, as well as the upholstering is done by ladies whose deft hands give a dainty and final touch to the finished product. In this department gents' suits and ladies dresses are also made in latest styles and colors. The factory also boasts a chemical laboratory in which to manufacture and embalm fluids and disinfectants used by the trade. This department was added in 1920 and has developed into the largest of its kind in Canada. This product recently received the "Grand Prix" at the International Exposition in France. The Montague Furnishing Company gives work to a large number of men and women many have received training here and are now experts, some having been with the company for almost twenty years.—H.

—Miss Mable Burdett who is training in the P. E. I. Hospital, spent the week end at Montague.—H.

—Mr. and Mrs. David Mathieson of Montague motored to Charlottetown on Saturday for the week end.—H.

—Mr. Stewart Ives of Charlottetown spent the week-end at Montague renewing old acquaintances.—H.

—Doctor and Mrs. Heath MacIntyre of Charlottetown accompanied by their three little children, motored to Montague on Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. MacIntyre's sister and family, Mrs. J. W. Carruthers.—H.

—Friends of Mr. N. J. MacPherson are glad to see him home again after spending six weeks in the P. E. I. Hospital where he underwent a somewhat serious operation. The operation was performed by Dr. Seaman and was very successful as Mr. MacPherson is steadily improving. He speaks very highly of the splendid service of the nurses and the Doctors and wishes to thank his friends in Charlottetown and Montague for their kindness and thoughtfulness during his illness.—H.

Little Eric entered his father's den with a perplexed frown on his face. "Daddy," he said, you said if I saved you two dollars you would give it to me, didn't you?" "That's right, Eric," said his father. "Well," said the boy a little timidly, "you remember you promised to give me two dollars if I passed my school examinations." He paused and added: "I didn't pass so I've saved you the two dollars."

The Butler "I haven't been here long, but I can see there's something on the master's mind." The Maid "Sure! He's trying to look as dignified as you and he can't do it."
