HAY FEVER MAY COME FROM KISSING—BEWARE!

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Besides all the germs which scientists have said may be transmitted by kissing, cosmetics were told of a new peril in osculation. It's hay fever. The danger lies in some of the face powder which women use. But the belief was expressed that strong men would continue to ignore danger—as before.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS EVA E. STAMPER

The death occurred in the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Sunday, August 20th, of Miss Eva E. Stamper, one of our best known and beloved residents. She was a daughter of the late Daniel Stamper and was born in Economy, N. S. When a young child she came to Charlottetown and lived with her uncle, the late Henry Stamper. He carried on a book and stationery business in what came to be known as the Stamper Block, at the corner of Queen and Richmond Streets, part of the property being now occupied by Prowse Bros. Limited. After his death the estate passed to his two nieces, Miss Sarah, who passed away nine years ago, and Miss Eva E. Stamper. The latter was a life-long member of the First Methodist, now Trinity United Church. She possessed deep religious convictions and sought to pattern her life after that of the great Master whom she so devotedly served. She was a generous supporter of all branches of the church work, of the Missionary and Dorcas Societies and other organizations. To all worthy causes, to the hospital and the orphanage, she always gave freely. The poor, the needy and the afflicted had always her heartfelt sympathy and financial aid, and by her death have lost a great friend. Early in August she had the misfortune of falling and breaking her two wrists and never recovered from the effects of the injury, gradually becoming weaker until her gentle spirit took its flight. All her sisters predeceased her, and she leaves to fondly cherish her memory three nieces, Mrs. Hattie Lamond, Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. Eva Nelson, Lower Wintworth, N. S.; Mrs. Norma Fonger, Attleboro, Mass., and a wide circle of friends. She was laid to rest in Sherwood

HOSPITAL HOLDS BABY AS 'HOSTAGE' TO INSURE PAYMENT OF BILL

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Judge Joseph David today criticized severely a hospital charged with holding an infant "hostage" for seven months to insure payment of a bill. He issued a writ of habeas corpus calling upon the Evangelical Hospital to release the child to her father, Stanley Shopkus.

Lawyers recited to the judge that Shopkus' wife, Bessie, died in the hospital last December 15 the day following the child's birth. Shopkus said he had paid $211 for his wife's care but had been unable to pay for the child's board. "Human beings are not chattel," the judge declared. "They can not be held as collateral for bills."

"And That's Why I Stopped Worrying About The Mortgage"

The speaker admitted his home was mortgaged. Properly so, he said, because he could not have bought it otherwise. Then, he added, he realized the danger to his wife and children should he die before the mortgage was paid off. However, he found there was an insurance policy with special features and with attractively low premiums specially designed to take care of such cases as his. He took out an Imperial Mortgage Protection Policy to match the amount of his mortgage dollar for dollar—and

Port Elgin Man Drives His "Ace"

PORT ELGIN, Westmorland Co., Aug. 27.—Golf, they say, casts its greatest favor on one tee drive in every 20,000. One must be a favorite indeed to score a hole in one. Arthur L. McLeod of this place received the golf deity's blessing not long ago, however, when he was playing with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harper, Pictou, N. S., on the Pictou Links.

Hole three, a 179-yarder, which ordinarily is a par-three hole, was traversed with one drive by the local golfer. The ball, driven by iron No. 2, fell neatly into the cup!

Vineyard In Heart Of Paris

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Notwithstanding the depression, and the gloomy tales one hears of a "dead" Paris, the city is, in fact, brighter than it ever was. A multitude of colored lights have quite changed the aspect of the Champs Elysees. Parisians have taken to flood-lighting. The four fountains, which mark the Rond Point, are, also, brilliantly illuminated each night. Lights are now set in the bases of the fountains and throw all sorts of brilliant colors, from pure silver to the deepest purple, upon the jets of water. The nocturnal illumination of the fountains in the Place de la Concorde is still another sight that is well worth seeing. Paris, after nightfall, is indeed a new city. Fifty years ago, the last vineyard on the slopes of old Montmartre was swallowed up by a six-story house. But, until that year, Montmartre could boast of its homegrown wine. Doubtless it was not of a very good quality, but a poet of the fifteenth century sang its praise. In those days, there were a number of vineyards on the hill. And, now, Paris is to preserve their memory. Tourists visiting this quarter will soon be offered a novel sight. There will be a vineyard set among the houses in the Rue St. Vincent—only

"Oh, don't take all this trouble!" said Bobby, politely enough. "No trouble, Bobby," she returned. "I'm sure your own mother would have done the same for Ronny."

"Mother'd do more," replied Bobby, solemnly. "She'd ask Ronny to stay to lunch."

Service Suggestions For Purina Fox Chow Users

PURINA FOX CHOW USERS

With prospects for much higher pet prices, careful feeding will pay bigger returns this year than ever. The way pups are fed during the next 30 days is especially important. If your pups vary in size and development, it will pay you to classify them and give the backward pups special attention for a few weeks. Doing this will add many dollars to the value of their pelts.

FEEDING BACKWARD PUPS

Mix together 1/2 ground meat or tripe, and 1/2 Purina Fox Chow Meal. If necessary add a little water to get the right consistency, but do not add milk, bread or anything else to this ration. To do so upsets the balance and slows down the growth. Feed 8 to 12 ounces per day. After three weeks change gradually to the meat and Checker ration described below.

FEEDING "JUST AVERAGE" PUPS

For pups about three quarters grown, we recommend a 2-3 Purina Fox Checker, 1-3 meat ration—3 1/2 ounces of meat and 5 ounces of Fox Checkers per pup per day. "Just average" pups need a little more growth before you start feeding for color and fur development. Gradually reduce the meat and increase the Checkers until you are feeding Checkers and nothing else by the end of August.

FEEDING FULL GROWN PUPS AND ADULT FOXES

For full grown pups and adults straight Purina Fox Checkers is unquestionably the best ration from now until pelt time. This ration will give better, clearer color and better all round fur development than any other ration you might feed. There is no doubt about this. Ranchers who fed part of their pups straight Checkers after they were fully grown last year tell us they produced definitely better pelts than on the meat and Checker ration. Of course 2-3 Checkers and 1-3 meat gives splendid pelts too, as you know from previous experience. However we urge you to put at least some of your pups on straight Checkers this year and watch the prices you get for their pelts.

FEEDING COSTS

Consider this: Only 120 days remain until pelt time. If your feed cost is 2c a day, it will cost $2.40 to feed each pup to pelt time. If the daily cost is 2 1/2c, the cost per pup is $3.00. If 3c the cost is $3.60. At the most you cannot have a difference of more than $1.20 a pup, regardless of what or how you feed. This is small indeed when you consider that feeding can affect values from $5.00 to $15.00 a pelt. Results are of first importance and the cost is secondary.

The Fox Chow Meal and meat ration above costs 3c to 3 1/2c a day. The Fox Checker and meat ration 2 1/2c, a day. The straight Checker ration 2 1/2c to 2 3/4c, a day.

FORMULA AND INGREDIENT QUALITY UNCHANGED

Behind every bag of Fox Chow you feed, lies the rigid testing and inspecting of each ingredient used. Ingredient prices have not been varied to have a more attractive selling price. Results are paramount, cost is only secondary. Eight years of the most careful kind of experimental work is back of your Purina Fox Chow rations. Over 3000 foxes were used in last year's experiments alone. Over 2500 foxes are under experiment again this year to further improve Fox Chow, if we can.

TODAY'S PRICE IS LOWER

To A POUND

Fox Chow advanced with the cost of ingredients last spring—has declined now with the recent market set back. Today's price is 7c in single bag lots, lower prices by the ton. The price of Purina Fox Chow is lower now than at this time last year, while pelt prices are much higher. Your feeding cost will actually be less than a year ago. If desired you can hook your requirements from now until pelt time and be protected at today's prices.
