HALDANE MAN WHO SUGGESTED LORD KITCHENER

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Here is a piece of hitherto unwritten history which will doubtless receive its due place in the archives of the war, and will certainly have to be taken into consideration by the future biographer of the notable British worthy, Lord Haldane, present Lord Chancellor and former Secretary of State for War, philosopher, jurist and much-calumniated person.

Soon agter the outbreak of the war, it will be remembered, Lord Haldane was the object of certain attacks which went so far as to suggest that the admiration he had always expressed for German literature and philosophy, and the efforts he had made to ameliorate the political relations of Germany and Britain unfitted him for the work he was doing for his country, and even rendered that work suspected.

"Give us Kitchener—we don't want Haldane" was the cry. Kitchener was given to those who cried for him. It looked as if "K. of K.'s advent at the War Office was a direct result of a newspaper campaign. As a matter of fact, Kitchener's appointment to the War Office was decided upon by the Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, before a single line had appeared in any newspaper advocating his appointment, and the particular irony of the situation is that it was Lord Haldane himself who suggested Kitchener's appointment to Mr. Asquith.

Mr. Asquith Agreed

The Lord Chancellor has been derided by his enemies and traducers in the press as having "a German mind" It was possibly thanks to his knowledge of Germany and the German character that, when the war begun he realized, possibly more quickly than any other man in England, how thcroughly Germany must have prepared for it and how vast and complicated was the task before the Allies. Mr. Asquith was at the beginning of last August discharging the duties of war minister as the sequel to the Curragh incident. With the tremendous extra pressure entailed by the preparations for the great struggle, the Prime Minister called upon Lord Haldane to assist him at the War Office. That was on Sunday, August 2. The following day Lord Haldane arrived at the War Office in obedience to his superior's call; but took immediate occasion to direct the Prime Minister's attention to the fact that neither one civilian nor even two could be properly qualified to do the work in hand, but that a soldier and great organizer was required.

"Neither you nor I, nor both of us," said Lord Haldane to Mr. Asquith in effect, or probably in different language, "can fill the bill. Kitchener is the man wanted."

Mr. Asquith agreed with his colleague's suggestion. There was just one difficulty in the way. Lord Kitchener, as the British agent in Egpt, was in the employ of the Foreign Office, and this latter department fully realized the value of having him at the head of affairs in the Khediviate where trouble even then was foreseen. However, it was realized that the need of his services was greater even at home than in Cario and the Foreign Office gave way. So Lord Kitchener, who had already on that Monday morning left London for Dover on his way to Egypt was recalled by telegraph as he was about to board the channel steamer. He returned, saw Mr. Asquith, the following morning at 10 Downing street, and the next day, Wednesday, he was appointed Secretary of State for War, Lord Haldane remained at the War Office till he had completed the particular task assigned him by the Premier, when the latter requested his assistance there.

Made No Protest

There, it can be stated on authority, are the exact facts of a matter which has been travesting from political and personal motives in a fashion that has raised the gorge of most thinking Englishmen. Long after the first newspaper attacks on Lord Haldane had been forgotten by the general public in the excitement of the early days of the war, a daily paper which was eking out a perilous existence on a diet of sensation opened a campaign of calumny distinguished chiefly by ignorance and folly. Throughout it all Lord Haldane, who is a most sensitive nature, sat without a word of defense or protest. Greater things were at stake, he realized, than his personal feelings; and when a Liberal newspaper, the Daily Chronicle, took up the cudgels on his behalf, it was practically against his wishes. His friends, however, maintained that it was to the interest of the country that his slanderers should be exposed and the exposure was made with such telling effect that Fleet street was not surprised to learn that the paper which had led the attack had gone into the hands of a receiver

TALES TOLD BY MEN IN THE FIGHTING LINES

The British soldiers in the trenches cheered themselves at the New Year with song and entertainment, and the efforts of a section of the troops were highly successful, judging by the programme of a concert which they held on December 31. The remarks concerning some of the performers are

CAROL SINGING TO WOUNDED

A lady interested in the stablishment of a hospital in France writes:

Christmas day was one of the most interesting I ever spent. Through knowing the English chaplain's wife out here I received an invitation to spend the afternoon carol singing at various British hospitals. So first to the A—— Here all was warmth and light, with the spirit of gaiety rampant. Many flags, mottoes, pictures and flowers in the wards, with spotlessly clean nurses everywhere. Our room contained a huge and splendid Christmas tree. So we sang old-time carols, then passed from bed to bed, containing the cheeriest occupants in the world. "We've had a grand time" exclaimed one hollow-eyed, though beaming soldier. "Nothing but presents since six o'clock this morning. What would they say to that at home now?" "Glorious Deven," was being sung by some enthusiast as I fund myself amid a group of convalescents.

"Dear old country—best in the world," murmured one.

"I'm from the west, too," I remarked.

In a trice my hands were seized and wrung by two eager Devon lads. One little white bed contained a patient whose leg had been operated on five times. "Tomorrow it is to come off," he said. I cannot get the man's brave expression out of my mind as he said, "It'll be fine getting rid of the old pain anyhow!" Then on to the B—— Hospital.

Here again all was light and merriment. Tea being in progress, everyone urged us to be seated.

"May I introduce our new sister" exclaimed some smiling nurse. A tall, gaunt figure extended a grimy hand and said:

"Excuse this apparent lack of soap, but I've been busy in the trenches until lately."

A roar of laughter greeted this sally, for the "new sister" was in reality some male inmate dressed up for the occasion. I talked to one young soldier for some time. His foot had been frost-bitten cver a month ago.

"Having a good time, Baby?" remarked a friend as he passed.

"Baby," grinned from ear to ear.

"Are you the youngest here?" I said.

"Yes, I'm just nineteen—enlisted a year ago by giving the wrong age. Glad I did it too, for I wouldn't have missed all the fun for anything."

"Will you come here a minute, miss?" a man's voice sounded from behind. He showed me many gifts. All were delighted with the portrait and good wishes sent by our King and Queen. Then Princess Mary's gift was a constant object of pride and delight. So we talked, sang, played until the hour grew late.

"I'll have to drive the men to bed; they'll uever go otherwise," laughed the matron. Then came "God Save the King" cheers and farewells.

BANK CHANGES.—Mr J. H. McQuaid, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been transferred to Sydney, and leaves for there in about three weeks. He will be succeeded by Mr G. W. Harrison, manager at Fredericton, N.B., the present manager at Sydney being transferred to Seattle.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Her many friends will regret to learn that Mrs (Dr) Heartz, of Amherst, had the misfortune to have her hip broken by a fall on the ice recently. She is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. Her many friends here hope that she may speedily recover.

COMMUNICATION.—The Minto, after being ice-bound for two days, docked in Georgetown at 2.30 yesterday morning. She brought over 40 passengers, 56 sacks mail and 58 tons of freight. She sailed on return to Pictou at 11 a.m., but had not reached port at latest reports last night. There in heavy ice off Pictou Island. There was no special train from Charlottetown to Georgetown last evening. The Stanley also succeeded in getting to port yesterday morning, arriving at Pictou at 11 a.m. She will leave for Georgetown at 7 o'clock this morning.

QUIET WEDDING.—A quiet but interesting event took place at Kelly's Cross on Thursday, February 4, when Miss Millie Gorman, daughter of Mr. James Gorman, South Melville, was married to Mr. Fred C. Monaghan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monaghan, Kelly's Cross. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Thomas Curran, parish priest, assisted by Rev. Father Martin Monaghan, brother of the groom; the latter celebrating the nuptial Mass. After the service in the church the wedding party drove to the home of the bride and partook of a sumptuous dinner. At the table were seated Rev. Drs. Curran and Monaghan, and Dr. MacGuigan, Emerald; Mr. G. H. MacGuigan, Hunter River, and a number of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom; the former gave splendid speeches appropriate to the occasion. The afternoon was spent in music and enjoyable social intercourse. The popularity of the happy couple is clearly evident from the number of useful and costly presents received. Mr. and Mrs. Monaghan leave next week for their future home in Halbrite, Saskatchewan, where Mr. Monaghan is engaged in the teaching profession. The Guardian joins with a host of friends in extending felicitations.

HOCKEY AT NORTH SYDNEY.—"Vengeance will be mine," said the seven men who form the champion hockey team of the P. E. I. Heavy Brigade stationed here. "Amen," quoth the Major in stern tones, as he directed a parting command to the septette, as they marched from out the lines on Wednesday evening last, says the North Sydney Herald. It was a formidable array of brawn and brain the athletic looking septette appeared as they sallied forth under command of Wellington Tom Fullerton. Neither did they carry rifles or bayonets, or explosives, neither did they don their other accoutrements of warfare. Their mission was one of revenge, and the enemy was the scrub North Sydney team, who by sheer bull luck, defeated the Darke heavy gun heroes on the night previous in Strathcona rink, an event that seemed to cause great newspaper rejoicing in North Sydney. To tell the whole story of the aftermath—that is the game Thursday night, would be like the story told by the Germans on Bill's birthday, the day previous, when that auspicious event was celebrated by the slaughter of twenty thousand Germans. As a matter of fact the Heavy Brigade septette from "the Island over," simply swept the ice with the North Sydney scrub specialists, to the tune of thirteen to four! It could as easily be 100 to 1; but the spud lends were merciful.

QUEEN'S COUNTY L. O. L.—Queen's County L. O. L. met in annual session at Kingston last Tuesday, Feb. 2nd, and was one of the largest gatherings in the history of Queen's County Lodge. Notwithstanding the heavy roads delegates were present from nearly every primary Lodge in the County. The County Lodge opened at 10.30 a.m., adjourned for dinner and then re-assembled and closed at 6.30 p.m. Following last year's precedent a public meeting was held at night and opened at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. D. P. Murdock, Past County Master, presided at the public meeting most capably and a good programme was most successfully carried out. After an opening address by the chairman and a patriotic selection by the choir, the speaker of the evening, the Rev. W. P. McVie, was introduced and he proceeded to deliver a most interesting and instructive discourse taking as his subject "Roman Catholicism in the Congo" as he himself had seen it during his several years' missionary work in Central Africa. The Rev. George Orman, P. G. M., also delivered an excellent address pointing out most eloquently the high and noble principles for which the Loyal Orange Association stands and the great need of such an organization in this country at the present time. Brief addresses were also delivered by Mr. C. E. McKenzie, P. G. M.; Charles McDuff, county secretary, and James McPhee, Deputy Grand Master. These addresses were interspersed by some readings and patriotic selections by the choir. The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem. Votes of thanks were unanimously extended to the Rev. gentlemen who addressed the meeting and all who took part in the programme. Many of the delegates to the county Lodge remained in Kingston for the public meeting at night and the snowstorm which came on gave them an excellent chance to enjoy the hospitality of the good people of Kingston. The County Lodge meets in Crapaud next year.

FOX MEETING.—The "fox parliament" committee continued their session yesterday, sitting from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., when they adjourned to meet again on Monday, 15th inst., at 2.30 p.m.

MILTON CONCERT.—A concert will be held at the Orange Hall, Milton, on Monday evening next, in aid of the Women's Auxiliary of Milton Church. St Paul's Young People's Association are supplying the programme. Admission 25 cents. 8518

HANDSOME AMOUNT.—The amount realized at the St. Dunstan's College Skate in aid of the poor was $113.00. This handsome amount is being disbursed among the needy by the Sewing Circle of St. Vincent de Paul Society under whose auspices the skate was held.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—Victoria Division, Sons of Temperance, had quite an interesting session last night. Reports from the Grand Division were read, and a pleasant programme of readings, music and speeches gone through. Two new members were initiated.

THE MAILS.—There was a crossing both ways at the capes yesterday, 47 bags of mail leaving the Island and 72 bags arriving; 36 bags were left behind. The mail train arrived in Charlottetown at 2 p.m. All the Charlottetown mail was delivered yesterday; the carriers having a busy day with the mail received on the previous evening and also the mail of yesterday. A special train with mail left Charlottetown, for Cape Traverse at 8.45 p.m.

SEWING EVENING.—The Young People's Society of the First Methodist Church held a very enjoyable Red Cross sewing meeting last night, when it was surprising to see the number of articles that were made for the soldiers in such a short space of time. The young men busied themselves in helping the ladies cut out pieces. While the sewing was in progress the monotony was pleasantly relieved by excellent musical numbers contributed by Mr. Frank Oliver, Miss E. Coombs, Mrs. R. M. and Miss Eleanor Johnson, and a reading by Mrs. R. C. Goff. Refreshments were served during the evening. This "sewing evening" will be held fortnightly. Next Friday night an interesting debate will take place. Last night's affair was highly interesting and a very pleasant time was spent.

MILITARY FUNERAL AT HALIFAX.—The funeral of the late Alfred James, who died in the military hospital at Halifax, was conducted under military escort on February 1st to the station en route to Charlottetown for burial. The pall-bearers were all Island boys: Allison McLean, Bomb. Fred Moore, George Birch, Ham Brehaut, Lou McLeod and H. Boates. The officers and men of the Heavy Artillery followed the remains, which were mounted on a gun carriage. The Highland Band—twelve pipers, four kettle drums and one bass drum—led the funeral van playing the dead march. The farewell volley was fired by Sergt. K. Kelly in charge, Bomb. G. Carter, J. T. Strain, J. F. Strain, W. H. Dewar, C. Graham, C. H. McLean, F. Conroy, R. Waterman, Ed. Carleton, G. Carver, A. Gallant, R. Stewart, J. Ottaway, also belonging to the Island company. The body was brought home here. The late Mr. James joined the Sydney Mines battalion in August and had only come over to the second overseas contingent in January. The boys feel the loss of their fellow-soldier very deeply.

MOUNT VERNON.—The school is progressing favorably under the able management of Miss Flora Campbell. —His many friends are glad to see Mr. Isaac Acorn out again after his illness.— Mr. Daniel McPherson, Caledonia, spent the week end at Mount Vernon the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morrison.— The friends are glad to see Mr. Murdoch Morrison home again from the United States.— His many friends are sorry to hear off the illness of Mr. Neil Stewart, one of the foremost farmers. —Mr. Rody McRae, Wood Islands, paid a flying visit to Mt. Vernon recently the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John McQueen.— A very pleasant evening was spent at J. D. Morrisons on Wednesday the 20th when Miss Flora Campbell, teacher, gave a Birthday Party to some of her friends. Violin music was furnised by Mr. Eugene Dunn, teacher at Iris.— Mr. Nollie McRae has returned home from Eldon where he was the guest of Mr. Thomas McTavish. —John M. McPherson, Brooklyn spent the week end at Mt. Vernon the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morrison.—What might have been a serious accident occurred the other day while two young men were going away on a visit, their horse and sleigh got into a deep ditrh on the road. They were thrown out, but they escaped uninjured.— Alex. Morrison, Mt. Vernon, spent the week end in Lewes the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McLean.— Miss Effie C. Morrison spent a few days at Wood Islands North the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Stewart.— Miss Flora Campbell paid a visit to Glen William recently the guest of Miss Mary McDonald.— Mrs. Angus McKay spent a few days in Bellview the guest of John McKay.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Owing to the S. S. Stanley not making the trip from Pictou yesterday afternoon the management of the People's Theatre were unable to show the interesting Million Dollar Mystery. There will in all probability be a good crossing today and if so, it will be shown at the matinee this afternoon and evening. This disappointment, however, did not prevent an excellent programme being shown. "The Tin Soldier and the Dolls" was a pretty child story, acted almost entirely by children. It was a Tanhauser production and the juvenile roles were taken by the Tanhouser kidlets. An exciting Western drama, "The Second Clue" was the story of a dishonest postmaster and sheriff, who was run to earth by a city detective. "A Daring Young Person" was something out of the ordinary in pictures and was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd. A film portraying events of the day was interesting, showing among other views, a golf tournament between the nobility in England, a diver repairing a cable in Regent Channel and many others equally as interesting. A good comedy, "At Last They Eat", supplied the laughs in large numbers. A beautifully colored Pathe "The Shrimper" came in for a good share of favorable comment. It was also an excellent story. Mr. Dave Parks in the catchy song "When You Wore a Tulip" scored another success. To-night Mr. Parks closes his engagement at the People's Theatre. This afternoon and evening the Million Dollar Mystery will be shown in conjunction with the above programme.

THE PRINCE EDWARD.—"My Official Wife," the Broadway star feature, was presented at the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday to packed houses. It proved to be a tense, gripping powerful drama and was interesting in every inch of the five reels of film. The story is woven around a beautiful Nihilist, Helene Marie, who, in order to get by the Secret Police on the frontier of Russia, induces Lennox, an American, to introduce her as his wife, in order that she may enter on his passport. Arriving in St Petersburg, Lennox is met by friends and is compelled to introduce Helene as his wife, also to register her as such at the hotel, where he is stopping. Helene then discloses her identity. Lennox is shocked at first, but already deeply in love with the beautiful schemer, decides to let things take their course. Helene meets her Nihilist friends and they conspire to assassinate the Czar, she being chosen as the one to commit the deed. As the official wife of Lennox, she meets a number of the Russian nobility, and learns that the Czar is to attend a fashionable ball on a certain date. She plans to be present. Lennox has ararnged to leave for Paris the afternoon of the same day. Now that the consummation of her plans is so near at hand, Helene has no more use for Lennox and entices an officer of the Royal Guards to become her lover. Lenoux becomes jealous of the Russian, misses his train and returns to find Helene in the arms of his rival. Helene and Lennox attend the grand ball, he learns her purpose is to assassinate the Czar and trugs her. She is taken to the hotel, restored to wakefulness and retaliates by playing the same trick on him, telephones her lover and the two make their escape to a yacht, but the secret police, having discovered Helene's real identity, send a torpedo boat after the cloping pair with orders to destroy the yacht. A torpedo blows the vessel to atoms and ends forever the career of Helene Marie, the beautiful Nihilist, and her lover This most excellent photo-play will be presented at the three shows to-day. There were two more excellent dramas on the bill and a comedy play which were also much appreciated. One of the most enjoyable features of the show was the vocal selection by Mr Huskins entitled, "The Possum and the Rabbit," which was enthusiastically applauded.

J. A. DESCARRIES, K. C. RETURNED

JACQUES CARTIER, Feb. 2.—Mr. Joseph Adelard Descarries, K. C., was declared elected by acclamation for the Federal seat of Jacques Cartier, made vacant by the death of Hon. F. D. Monk.

CONTEST IN TERREBONNE

ST. JEROME, Que., Feb. 1.—Nominations took place here today for the federal seat of Terrebonne County, made vacant by the retirement of Hon. Bruno Nantel. Several weeks ago a Conservative convention nominated Mr. G. Rochon, law partner of the former Minister of Inland Revenue, and, although there were several aspirants it was understood that all had retired in favor of Mr. Rochon, who received a good majority at the party convention. Amongst those who had aspirations in the direction of the federal seat for Terrebonne was Mr. J. A. Beaulieu, advocate, of Montreal, a nephew of Hon. Mr. Nantel and also a first cousin of Mr. Rochon, the choice of the ministerial convention. Although advised to retire and leave the field to Mr. Rochon, Mr. Beaulieu declined, and was duly nominated today, together with the choice of the party gathering. After Messrs. G. Rochon and J. A. Beaulieu had been formally nominated, a public meeting was organized, two ministers, Hon. Messrs. Coreerre and Blondin, having come out from the city to participate. The large gathering was presided over by the mayor of St. Janvier, who announced that the two candidates would first address the electors to be followed by the ministers of the Crown. Mr. Rochon, who is a fluent and pleasant speaker, claimed that the convention was the true expression of the party will, and that his adversary should have abided by the choice of the convention. The speaker, who was well received, declared himself to be a straight supporter of the Borden Government, and he expressed the hope that the electors would see that his return was made sure a week hence.

Mr. J. A. Beaulieu, who is also a good speaker, declared himself to be a straight Conservative, though independent of the convention, and a supporter of the party in power.

The two ministers then addressed the crowd in calm and non-political speeches. Hon. Mr. Coderre said their course was made easier by the declaration of Mr. Beaulieu that he was a supporter of the Borden Government, although the ministers were in duty bound to support the choice of the convention. Hon. Mr. Blondin also followed the same lines as his colleague, declaring that had their friend Mr Beaulieu been chosen by convention, they would have been pleased to speak in his favor. The best of order prevailed.
