Two practical questions were considered: (1) The place of the creed in our public worship; (2) The creed as a basis for Christian union. The lecture was an able and satisfactory treatment of the subject.

THE first Methodist church pulpit was occupied yesterday morning by Rev George Ross, a native of this city, and at present laboring near Moncton, N B. Mr Ross is a very pleasing speaker and made a very deep impression, as I frequently heard from the young people yesterday. "George is a nice preacher," his text was, "Work out your own Salvation with fear and Trembling." God will not do for a man what he can do for himself, but looking to God for the assistance needed will certainly secure the reward. The Pastor, Mr Campbell, though far from being well, filled the evening appointment ably, his text was, "And every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labor." Cause and effect. "A man cannot expect that he can use his own time and talents in the pursuits of pleasure, or in the service of the devil, and then reap the reward of the righteous. 'Whatever a man sows, that shall he also Reap.'"

LAST Sabbath, as announced, the Methodist church at Stanley was reopened. The day being fine the church was filled to overflowing at each service. In the morning Rev F A Wightman, of Margate, preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon, basing his remarks on the words found in Eph v-27. The afternoon service was conducted by Rev George F Robertson, of Cavendish, who delivered a forcible, instructive and logical discourse from Paulus xlviii-8. At the evening service Rev W J Howard, B D, of Pownal, delighted the audience by an inspiring and helpful sermon from Acts xix-19. The collections were very good, and the best of attention and order prevailed notwithstanding the crowded state of the church.
