Protest By Canada Over Sale Of Ships

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Restrictions placed upon the sale of shipping Board vessels, to be operated under Canadian registry, brought the prohibition amendment once more into the realm of international consideration to-day. The protest and the occasion for it have revealed that many purchasers for the smaller craft of the Shipping Board are being found among persons who desire to place the ships under foreign registry. The assumption is that vessels of foreign registry have an advantage over American ships, inasmuch as they are immune from American attention while outside the three mile limit. The probable use to be made of these vessels prompted protests from the Anti-Saloon League and from Rhinoceros Commissioner R. H. Haynes, with the result that the Shipping Board has inserted a clause in its contract of sale that the vessels are not to be used for purposes that are illegal in the United States. It is this provision the Canadians are objecting to, and want the restrictions removed as to ships already sold and as applying to vessels that may be sold in the future.

Lord Mount Stephen's Residence

The death of the Canadian peer and C. P. R. magnate, Lord Mount Stephen, his brought Brocket Hall, Hertfordshire, Eng., the estate he owned for seven years, into the market. The Hall itself was built in the 17th century, and was visited by Queen Victoria when Lord Melbourne, then Prime Minister, lived there. Lord Palmerston also lived there for many years. Lord Mount Stephen often entertained at the Hall, and other distinguished visitors at this fine old place.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT BESCO PLANT

SYDNEY, April 4.—No inquest will be held into the death of John Holland, Assistant Superintendent of Blast Furnaces, killed by a locomotive at the Dominion Steel Plant here. There were no eye witnesses to the accident. A donkey engine hauling a string of metal ladles, or tubs, passed close to the furnaces. A few minutes afterwards an employee passing by discovered Holland's body lying on the track literally cut in pieces. It was evident that the whole string of steel tubs had passed over him, but now he came to be run down could not be ascertained.
