SPIRITED DEBATE ON NAVAL BILL

Liberals Became Inquisitive with Reference to Naval Volunteer Reserve Force. Quebec Liberals Concluded this was First Move Towards Adoption of Laurier Naval Policy. Premier Borden Replies to Mr. Lemieux.

(From Our Own Reporter)

OTTAWA, June 9—After having avoided the navy question all session the House in its dying hours got back to the subject last night. It was an echo for the great parliamentary fight of last session.

After a week of monotony and a day which had been deadly dull the members seized on the opportunity of enlivening the proceedings and there were four merry hours. It was the first bright spot, from a debating standpoint for several weeks and the few members who are left in the capital despite the heat enjoyed every minute of it.

The Quebec members were the leaders in the discussion and there were the usual compliments paid across the floor of the House when those old antagonists. Hon. L. P. Pelletier and Hon. Ronolphe Lemieux clashed.

The debate started when the naval estimates were taken up. The Liberals immediately wanted information as to the Naval College at Halifax and the present condition of the Niobe and the Rainbow. But they were especially inquisitive in regard to the recent Order-In-Council which has been passed authorizing the establishment of a naval volunteer reserve force in Canada. They wanted to know the why and the wherefore and the French Liberals seemed to take particular delight out of the fact that the force had been established under the authorization of the Laurier Naval Act. They immediately jumped to the conviction that this was a first move towards the adoption the Laurier naval policy. Generally the Liberal rehashed the naval arguments of a year ago.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux asked for an explanation in regard to the establishment of a naval reserve. He said the Order-In-Council establishing a reserve seemed to have been passed some what surreptitiously. He then went on to give a review of the whole question and said that the minister must feel humiliated to think that for the sake of an alliance with the men who had despised and denounced him during the last election he had to revert to the naval policy first laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but was doing it secretly instead of openly.

Premier Borden in a vigorous reply said that while Mr. Lemieux had fired off a number of blank cartridges during his remarks he had afforded the House no reminiscenses of the young man who had written a certain noted letter pointing out that it was absolutely the duty of Canadians not to take any part whatever in defence and who had uttered a most stern rebuke to the Chamber de Commerce of Montreal for passing a resolution favoring such a policy. He did not know whether or not Mr. Lemieux was against the present proposals.

LATEST REPORTS FROM STORM STRICKEN CHALEUR

Number of Dead Not Yet Accurately Known, but Estimated at About 100. Forty Vessels Known to Have Been Lost. Steamers Caught in Storm Suffered Severely. Men Were Washed Overboard From Vessels Riding at Anchor.

(Special to The Guardian.)

ST. JOHN, June 10.—J. Bennet Hachey, a member of the New Brunswick Legislature and one of the magnates in the Bay Chaleuer fishing industry, telephoned from his home in Bathurst tonight, the result of investigations he has made in the New mote parts of the coast and expressed the opinion that in the New Brunswick district alone one hundred lives have been lost.

Mr. Hachey says many fishing schooners unabe to make Shippegan Harbor anchored outside where they thought they would be safe. When the storm broke most of the vessels managed to ride out the gale but in almost every case lost men overboard. When the storm abated the vessels were still at anchor but later investigation showed that practically every one of them had men washed overboard. In some cases the whole crew was gone.

Mr. Hachey's opinion is that the death list will be easily one hundred in the N. B. district alone. Communication with the district is still very bad and although the storm occurred a week ago the details received so far are decidedly disconnected and meagre.

(Special to The Guardian.)

ST. JOHN, June 10.—Additional details coming in today in regard to the great storm which swept the Bay Chaleur district on Thursday and Friday of last week, tend to reduce the number of known dead although it is even yet feared it will reach seventy-five or a hundred. This assumption is based upon the fact that the small fishing villages on the Quebec side of the Bay sent out many boats and nothing definite has yet been learned of their fate.

Tonight long distance connection, St. John to the villages on the New Brunswick side of the Bay, established the fact that from Caraquet there are nine men and four vessels known to have been lost, while from Shippegan they have definite advices of 14 drowned, Dalhousie reports that the storm did little or no damage there while at Miscou Island it is not yet possible to form an estimate with any degree of accuracy. One report says there are five drowned while another places the number at 12. From the village on the Quebec side nothing has yet been learned but as they had the larger number of vessels out in the storm it is believed the loss of life has been relatively the heavest in the province.

It is known that at least 5 of the 30 vessels reported to be missing from Paspebiac, Quebec, were driven ashore on Shippegan Islands and all hands lost. This would add at least ten men to the list of known dead, while there is as yet no word of the other vessels and it is feared they have gone down with all on board.

Two steamers it now appears were also out in the storm and only their staunchness and constant working of their pumps saved them. One of these was the steamer Canada, from Montreal to Campbellton, with mixed freight. Her officers tell a thrilling story. The storm opened up her hull and she commenced to fill but by dint of hard work with all the pumps the water was kept below the danger point and she limped into Campbellton with much of her cargo damaged but without loss of life.

It is feared that additional reports from the more remote villages may unfold a tale of death and destruction which will bring the total number of lives lost well up to the one hundred mark. The Bay Chaleur shores are dotted with wreckage from boats. Already it is estimated from the wreckage that not less than forty vessels were lost.

MEETING OF P.E.I. S.S. EXECUTIVE

The P. E. I. Sunday School Executive met in the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon. Rev. Z. L. Fash, was in the chair, and among those from outside the City were Rev. J. C. Martin, Dr. Darrach, Mr. Wilfred Boulter and Mr. J. C. Jardine (Secretary.)

A good deal of routine business was transacted.

Mr. Wesley Steele, the travelling Secretary for the Boys Conservation Committee was elected Superintendent of the Secondary Department in the place of Mr. C. J. Reily who has left the Province.

It was decided to leave the question of the further publication of the Advocate, the organ of the N. B., and P. E. I. Sunday School Associations, to the fall convention, for decision.

While the meeting was being held the telephone brought an invitation from Alberton to hold the next provincial convention of the Association there. The invitation was heartily accepted.

The dates of the convention were not definitely fixed, but it is likely to be about the last week in October. The matter of fixing the date is to be arranged so that the International worker who comes from Chicago can attend the conventions in the Maritime Provinces.

The matter of a girls conference similar to that held for the boys

In yesterday's issue of The Guardian" there appeared part of the text of the decision delivered by His Lordship Chief Justice Sullivan in the Court of Appeal in Equity on Monday in the case of Joseph Mead, appellant, and Archibald A. Allen, respondent, the question in the appeal being, whether a writ of prohibition should be issued against Mr Arthur F. McQuaid as Stipendiary Magistrate for King's County, and the object of the respondent being to prevent Mr McQuaid from adjudicating upon information laid before him as such Magistrate by the appellant against the respondent. Following is the concluding part of the text:

Like all other extraordinary remedies, Prohibition is granted only in cases where the usual and ordinary forms of relief are insufficient to afford redress. In High on Extraordinary Legal Remedies, S. 770, it is said:

"It is a principle of universal application and one which lies at the very foundation of the law of Prohibition, that the Jurisdiction is strictly confined to cases where no other remedy exists, and it is always a sufficient reason for withholding the Writ that the party aggrieved has another and complete remedy at law." (Ex. parte Brandlacht, 2 Hill. 367).

Again, in S. 772 High says: "Another fundamental principle, and one which is to be constantly borne in mind in determining whether an appropriate case is presented for the exercise of this extraordinary Jurisdiction, is that the Writ is never allowed to usurp the functions of a Writ of Error or Certiorari..... In all cases, therefore, where the Inferior Court has Jurisdiction of the matter in controversy, the Superior Court will refuse to interfere by Prohibition, and will leave the party aggrieved to pursue the ordinary remedies for the correction of Errors, such as the Writ of Error or Certiorari." Judical authority for this doctrine is to be found in Queen v. Local Government Baard, 10 Q.B.D. 309; Smith v. Whitney, 116 U.S. 167, and numerous other cases.

In the case under consideration, in the event of the respondent's conviction, if he can establish by evidence before the Supreme Court that the Magistrate acted in excess of, or without Jurisdiction, he can obtain an adequate remedy through the instrumentality of a Writ of Certiorari.

The result is that the appeal is allowed, the proceedings in the Court below set aside and the order for a Writ of Prohibition quashed, with costs in this Court and in the Court below.

JUDGMENT IN COURT OF APPEAL

The meeting passed a resolution approving of the work of the Conservation Committee on Boys Work. Mr. Wesley Steele spoke of the work which he was doing among the boys Mr. Steele is doing great work.

A committee consisting of Messrs. J. F. Whear, J. K. Ross, A. Clark and J. C. Jardine, was appointed to secure transportation rates for the Provincial Convention.

HUSTLE! THE GUARDIAN'S GREAT CLUB VOTE OFFER NEARS THE FINISH

The great club vote offer ends Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Are you satisfied with your work the last few days? Do you think you will have enough votes to win the prize that you are aspiring to? Now is the time to think of these things, contestants, don't wait for two or three weeks and then, when the contest is over, say, "I wish I had done so and so," or I wish I had worked that day, I spent talking to friends about how many votes I had." This offer, rightly improved, will put in the great prize class. This is a chance of a lifetime, should you improve your time properly.

The race is running very close and the contestants that put forth the best efforts on this offer are the ones that will find themselves in the lead when the votes are counted. Bear in mind that if you want a prize, this offer gives you the chance to get it. No one knows who will win. Many readers think they can select at least one of the winners. Some pick the candidates that are now in the lead, some are confident that others will be the fortunate ones. It cannot be ascertained how many votes any one candidate will be able to cast the closing day. It is not wise for any contestant to intimate just how many other competitors will accumulate. Over-confidence has often lost contests of this kind and relaxation at this stage means certain ruin to the strongest candidate in the contest.

Don't think because you have a few thousand votes stored up that some of the other candidates havent the same thing. Don't get tripped up on the little enemy that is bound to creep into your being, for if you do it is very likely that you will not get close enough to hear the jingle of the $800 as it is given to the winner. Good rich prizes like The Guardian is giving away cannot be won for a song, and the sooner the candidates find this out the better it will be for them. Make this your banner week and success will be yours.

Figuratively speaking, it is the beginning of the real "haymakers" for the candidates and those of their friends who are helping them to gather in the votes, and if the figurative vein might be continued, it could be added that "the sun of votes is full of promise." Never before has there been such a total absence of anything which could interfere in the smallest degree with the friendly relations that has existed between all those interested.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL SUBMITTED

Prince Edward Island Gets Three Seats the Committee Recommending that Imperial Governmentbe Asked to Amend B.N.A. Act so That No Province Shall Have Fewer Members Than Senators, thus Giving P.E. Island Four Seats.

(From Our Own Reporter)

OTTAWA, June 10.—The Redistribution Bill which has been hanging fire for so many weeks and which has been the outcome of hours of negotiations was introduced by Premier Borden in the House tonight.

Hon. Robt. Rogers presenting the report of the Committee was cheered by both sides of the House, The report is practically unaminous, The Bill as brought down gives Prince Edward Island three seats, Kings, Prince and Queens. However, the big fight which Premier Mathieson, Mr. A. A. McLean M. P. and Mr. Donald Nicholson M. P. made against a reduction in representation has borne fruit. The Committee in its report recommended that the Imperial Government be asked to pass an amendment to the British North America Act by which no province shall have fewer members than it has Senators.

As Prince Edward Island has four Senators, this would mean that the representations would be later restored to four. Liberals admit that it is the fairest redistribution which was ever brought down in the House of Commons. The large part of the credit is due to Hon. Robert Rogers who, as Chairman of the Committee, has labored unceasingly to draft a redistribution which would be satisfactory to all parties.

It has been a most difficult and delicate task and it has taken all the well known diplomacy and tact of the Minister of Public Works to secure a settlement. That the report is admittedly so fair and so nearly umaminous is a remarkable tribute to Mr. Rogers.

The next House of Commons will consist of 234 members, an increase of thirteen on the present one.

New Brunswick and Nova Scotia lose two members each by the new redistribution;

The Province of Quebec being the unit of representation of course remains at 65.

Ontario loses four members.

Manitoba has five new members.

Saskatchewan has an addition of six.

Alberta gets five new members.

British Columbia six new members.

There will be a total increase in the West of 22 members greatly increasing the strength of Western Canada in the next Parliament.

C.N.R. BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

(From our own Reporter.)

OTTAWA, June 9.— The Canadian Northern Bill, the most continuous measure of the session, was given a second and third reading by the Senate today and the measure now only awaits the royal assent to become law. There were two divisions, one on the second reading and the second on the third reading, when Senator Chouquette moved an amendment that the Bill should be sent to the Railway committee of the Senate and the Committee be given power to carry on an investigation into the affairs of MacKenzie and Mann.

The second reading was carried by a vote of 40 to 17. There were no breaks in the Conservative Ranks but 18 Liberals, including Senator Bostock, the Liberal Leader, voted with the Government.

The position of Senator Bostock and the Liberals who followed him was that it was bad Legislation but because of the financial consequence it was better to pass the measure, the Government taking the responsibility.

No sooner was the third reading moved than Senator Chouquette, plainly angry, at once moved his amendment for an inquiry. In a vigorous speech he condemned the Liberals of the Senate who said that it was improper Legislation and were prepared to vote for it. He pointed out that last year the Liberal Majority in the Senate was not afraid to let the responsibility of settling down $35,000 for the British Navy

SUPREME COURT AT SUMMERSIDE

(Special by 'Phone.)

SUMMERSIDE, June 10th.—The upreme Court resumed today at the Summerside Court House, Mr. Justice Fitzgerald on the Bench, and was occupied all day with the trial of the case of the King v. Alexander McDonald, who was charged with unlawfully having in his posession a black fox, in which the jury failed to agree last term.

The Attorney General, Hon. J. A. Mathieson, prosecuted for the Crown, while Messrs. McCallum and Wyatt appeared for the defence.

The following witnesses were examined for the Crown: James E. Birch, Charles Bennett, George H. Barbour, Charles R. Burke and Holstein Goff. For the defence, the prisoner himself, his son James and several other witnesses were examined.

The jury retired at 4 p. m. and, after an absence of an hour and three quarters, returned with a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner was accordingly discharged.

ASSEMBLY VOTES FOR CHURCH UNION

WOODSTOCK, June 9—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada tonight decided to continue negotiations with the Methodist and Congregational bodies looking to organic union, the recommendation of the union committee to this effect being adopted by a vote of 255 to 109. The amendment submitted in the minority report that the negotiations be discontinued for the present, was defeated 297 to 117 and a somewhat similar, but simplified form, of the same ammendment, submitted by Rev. Dr. McQueen, of Edmonton, was lost 278 to 114.

The vote of the opposition was the largest on record, and the majority against union believe union will never be realized. During the next year representatives of the church will confer with other negotiating churches with a view to agreeing upon an amended basis of union, this basis to come before the assembly of 1915 and go to the Presbyteries under the barrier act. Then if the vote justifies it, the basis will be approved and referred to the people and the union consummated in 1917.

Perhaps the sensational feature of the debate was the intimation of Rev. Dr. Grant that he resigned from the home mission board and the board of finance because he felt that the present unrest resulting from the unsettled state of the church, consequent upon the uncertainty as to the outcome of church union negotiations was interfering with his work and the work of committees, Dr. Grant declared he could not vote for church union now, although no creedal difficulties or difficulty as to policy stood in the way. He felt that he would be coercing the minority into something to which it was sincerely and strongly opposed. "Clean up your house," he said, "and I will get in with you." He would be in favor of organic union out and out when the time came.
