THE PUBLIC GOOD.

Just a word to the public and particularly to those who suffer from heart and stomach trouble. I have for sale at 42 Queen Street, opposite Auld Bros, a preparation known as Sterling Bitters, that is a first class remedy for heart and stomach trouble. The formula was brought to this province sixty-eight years ago and is by a celebrated Scotch Physician who was known throughout the British Isles as one of the foremost Pharmacists and practitioners of his time. Sterling Bitters has proved itself right here in our city and surrounding country, as it has been used with success by over two hundred persons within the last six weeks. As a stomach or heart remedy it has no superior on the market. P. McQuaid is the Registered Proprietor. Scores of references on application. Price fifty cents per bottle. 9-21dt.

Many readers will hear with deep regret of the death of Hazel, the beloved daughter of H. J. and Mrs Crosby, which occurred yesterday at the early age of eighteen years. Miss Crosby was only ill about a week, death being due to appendicitis. One brother Harry and a sister Myrtle besides a wide circle of friends are left to mourn. The funeral takes place Saturday at two o'clock.

A correspondent from Albion writes: The many friends of Mrs William Thompson will be pleased to hear she is something better again. The people here are busy reaping the abundant harvest. Miss Bon Westaway left last week on a visit to Attleboro, Mass. She will also visit relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y., before returning. Our school at Albion is still vacant for want of a teacher. Look out for a big report next week from Albion Coal Mine, as there is new discoveries.

Miss Maud Gregory, daughter of Samuel and Mrs Gregory, was led to the altar on August 24th and became the bride of George Gollan, New Glasgow, N. S. On the 19th of the same month she had an attack of inflammation and although all that loving friends and skilled physicians could do for her restoration to health, it pleased an all wise Providence to call her spirit back to Himself and with words of love and affection she breathed her last on the 21st. Her remains were taken from Picton where she died, on the Northumberland. They were accompanied by her husband and his father and her brother Chester, and on the 24th were laid to rest in the People's Cemetery. The solemn and impressive services were conducted by the Rev Mr Corey and much sympathy was expressed for the sorrowing husband and for the bereaved family. She was only nineteen years of age and died with firm trust in Jesus Christ as her only Savior, who said "Be ye as ye think not, the Son of Man cometh."

There departed this life at Birney, Montana, on September 12th, 1909, Elizabeth S. Miller beloved wife of James Haywood, aged 50 years. The late Mrs Haywood was a native of the Province, a graduate of Prince of Wales College, and previous to her last illness was Superintendent of Education for Roseland County, Montana, to which state she removed several years ago. Deceased was an exemplary Christian woman, who by her kind and amiable disposition, endeared herself to a large circle of friends and acquaintances all of whom are deeply grieved at her early demise. She leaves to mourn their loss, her husband, one son and two daughters in Montana, her mother and one sister, residing at Tignish. Four brothers, Capt Daniel S. Miller, Alberton; Capt William A. Miller, Stanley Bridge; Capt Albert M. Miller, Scranton, Minnesota; and John G. Miller, Birney, Montana; to all of whom The Guardian extends sincere sympathy.
