

She Could Not Work HEADACHES Were So Severe

Mrs. A. Richl, Burstal, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe headaches, and sometimes I could not do my work."

and advised me to give it a trial. I decided to do so, and after taking a few bottles I found it had done me a world of good, and I haven't had any headaches for a long time now."

Wed To day, Divorce To-Morrow

(By British United Press) LONDON, Nov. 2.—When the English divorce judges set to work at the coming session of the Law Courts they will have to get busy on the immense number of nearly 300 matrimonial suits, which should be disposed of before Christmas.

By that time an English record will have been established, for never before in our history have over 4,000 marriages been legally dissolved in one year. And that is what will have happened by the end of 1927, when the cases heard only in the London and in the country Assize Courts are reckoned up.

Twenty or thirty years ago, ten or twelve hundred petitions per annum was the average. To-day, with cheap, easy and secret divorce trials, ill-matched couples rush before the judges to have their marriages annulled, apparently with little more thought than smoking a cigarette or partaking of a cocktail.

No Change In C. N. R. Hotel Location In Halifax

(Special to the Guardian.) HALIFAX, Nov. 4.—Rumors which have been circulated that the Canadian National Railways are contemplating a change of site for the new station and hotel, or abandoning the hotel project were spiced today by Mr. Walter Pratt, general manager of the hotel system of the company, who with Mr. John S. Archibald and Mr. John Schofield, architects, are in Halifax making a personal survey of the ground following a careful inspection of the property and conference with the local engineers of the company.

The officials stated that, not only is the situation admirably suited to the type of building which has been designed but the possibilities for landscaping exceed their expectations. "We are more than satisfied" Mr. Pratt said, in an interview last night "and we can proceed with our plans with the complete assurance that the station, hotel and surroundings will be among the most attractive on the continent, first impressions are last and we will leave nothing undone to create a most favorable impression upon people entering Canada through this gateway."

Hunter River And Vicinity

On Monday evening, Mrs. S. M. Daniel and Mrs. Howard Court entertained some fifty of their friends at a very delightful "Halloween Party" in the Masonic Hall, which was prettily decorated for the occasion. A number of interesting and novel games were entered into with a zest—ladies in almost all the contests, carrying off the much-coveted prizes. Attractive music was also a pleasing feature. During the evening, delicious refreshments were served, and, at a late hour, before the guests dispersed, Dr. George Green moved a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess for the much-enjoyed social evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Clark removed here this week from Clarendon. Prior to leaving their former home, they were waited on by an exceedingly large representation of friends and neighbors who expressed the sense of loss their community would feel in the departure of such worthy citizens and presented to them very tangible evidences of the esteem in which they were both held. A hearty welcome will be accorded Mr. and Mrs. Clark as they become permanent residents here.

Mrs. Geo. D. MacLeod left last week on return to Littleton, N. H., where she will spend the winter. Miss Bessie McSwain, who has been spending the summer at her home in Hopedale, leaves shortly on return to Boston, Mass. She will be accompanied by her mother who will spend the winter with her daughters and other friends in the eastern states. Mr. Murdoch McSwain who was also at home for the summer has returned to Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, where he is undergoing treatment.

Miss Katherine Campbell, Clyde River, is spending a few days here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McMillan. The early part of last week some fifteen of Charlottetown's outstanding talent, gave a concert of unusual merit in the Masonic Hall—weather conditions were not favorable, yet, a fair sized audience greeted the party and enjoyed to the full the several instrumental numbers. At the conclusion of the program Mr. Donald Andrews moved a vote of thanks which was seconded by Mr. John Bertram and conveyed to them by the chairman of the evening, Rev. R. H. Baxter. After the supper, Mr. George Beers in a very genial manner, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies of the church for the repast. This was happily supported and seconded by Mr. Chas. Bentley and conveyed to them by Mr. Beers. The following was the program, with Miss Mae Sterns and Mrs. J. J. Stewart, accompanists. Instrumental music—Misses Sterns and Watson, Quartette—Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Cudmore, Messrs. T. W. and Chas. Bentley, Reading—Dr. George Green; Solo—Mr. George Johnson; Solo—Mrs. Roy Cudmore; Male Quartette—Messrs Bentley, Johnson, Williams and Bentley; Solo—George Beers; Reading—Miss Ruby McDougall; Solo—Mrs. J. J. Stewart; Solo—Mr. Percy Williams; Quartette—Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Cudmore, and Messrs Bentley; Solo—Miss Annie Dammeral; Reading—Dr. George Green; Solo—Mr. T. W. Bentley, God Save the King.

Bronze Age Ruddy Canadian Apples for Overseas

(By British United Press) BERLIN, Nov. 2.—German archaeologists proclaim that vivid picture of the life of prehistoric cavemen, has been unearthed in the neighborhood of Frankfurt-on-the-Oder. One of the features of the modern fortifications near Frankfurt is a large hill which from time immemorial has been used obviously to defend the River Oder. Skeletons and other remains found on the hill-top prove that Slaves once occupied the position. The necessity to cut through the embank for railway purposes revealed evidence that the Slave had fortified the site.

The director of the pre-historic action of the Prussian Ethnological Museum and other experts visited Lossow, the site of the discovery, and had careful excavations made. The result was astonishing, for the finds dated to the bronze age, that is to say, from about 1,000 years before Christ, which was 1,800 years before the Slave were settled here. It is obvious, therefore, that Lossow played the same role 3,000 years ago in the struggle for supremacy in Europe as it did in the Thirty Years War and in the time of Frederick the Great. The experts surmise that the people whose remains have been discovered were Thracians or Illyrians and it is noteworthy that nothing was discovered that would indicate the place occupied between the end of the Bronze Age and the time when the Slave took possession. The most curious and interesting find is a number of shafts containing bones of human beings and animals in large quantities. These shafts are from sixteen to twenty-five feet deep and about five feet in diameter, and thirty-four have already been discovered, although not a fifth part of the hill has been explored.

The experts believe that Lossow will become a valuable for information concerning the life and customs of persons living in the Bronze Age as Dordogne is in regard to the Stone Age. A meeting of the Provincial executive of the P. E. I. Women's Institute was held in the Women's Institute office, Riley Building, on Thursday afternoon, October 27th, with the President, Miss Yeo presiding. In the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. Mutch, took the minutes of the meeting, which was attended by the following members:—Miss Yeo, Mrs. MacMillan, Mrs. Mutch, Mrs. MacPhee, Miss Marchbank, Mrs. Rossier, Mrs. Wyand and Miss Windsor.

After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and approved, the first item of business was that of reporting through the Press the regular monthly meetings of branches, and it was decided that in future only summarized reports of such meetings would appear. Institute publications from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were presented and the members expressed themselves in favor of such a publication for the Island, Institutes, and authorized Miss Windsor to write the Branches and what support they would give a monthly Institute paper. Supervisor's Branch visits and demonstrations were discussed and the Executive recommended that the Women's Institute Staff be increased to three to be able to cope with the increase of work due to the new branches.

The matter of sending an exhibit to the C. N. R. next year was brought up, and it was moved by Mrs. Mutch, seconded by Mrs. Wyand, that the Supervisor take immediate steps to arrange for exhibit of women's work. It was also decided to try and have a booth at the Provincial Exhibition, and it was suggested that the Executive offer recognition in some form to the Institute sending in the best collection of canned fruit and vegetables. Final arrangements for same to be taken up at the next meeting of the executive. The resignation of Mrs. McIsaac, as Vice-President was gracefully accepted and Mrs. J. A. MacDonald, Cardigan, was appointed in her place.

Mrs. Wyand gave a very instructive outline of how the dental clinic at Cavendish was carried on and financed, and the matter of arranging for more of these clinics was left in the hands of Miss Windsor and Miss Windsor. Various other items of business, such as the general work of Conventions for the year, the printing of addresses at Convention, etc., were discussed, after which the meeting adjourned. (Signed) Mrs. Wm. Mutch, Sec'y pro-tem.

Tragedy Of Superstition

(British United Press) PARIS, Nov. 4.—A tragic incident is reported from a village near Dampliere, where an old married couple have been driven mad by their own visions. The couple, named Prevot, were employed as servants by Mme. Meyer in her large house. Recently Mme. Meyer went away for a holiday, leaving the Prevots in sole charge. When they found themselves alone in the big house they became seized with superstitious fears. They had noticed a stuffed raven and the skins of many familiar animals in one room, and Mme. declared that some of the pictures in the place seemed to be alive. She sought the advice of a fortune-teller in Dampliere, who interpreted her dream and visions in such a fashion that on returning to the house Mme. Prevot installed a kind of chapel in which she began to practice rites which were something between spiritualism and devil worship. Sitting on opposite sides of a light wooden table, she and her husband spent nights in "conversing with spirits."

Care Of Employees Is Good Business

PRACTICE OF MONTREAL FIRM COMMENDED BY HEAD OF TARIFF BOARD

OTTAWA, October 27.—While it does not come within the province of the Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation to deal with working conditions in the manufacturing plants throughout the country, which members of the board have occasion to visit in connection with tariff investigations, the board takes notice of those conditions. At the hearing this week of the application for a reduction in the excise duty on cigarettes made by the Imperial Tobacco Company, the chairman of the board, W. H. Moore, took occasion to pay to that company a high tribute for the highly satisfactory working conditions in their plant at Montreal. Addressing Mr. D. C. Patterson, president of the company, who attended the meeting, Mr. Moore said:

"If I may do so, Mr. Patterson, I wish through you to pay your firm a compliment. After an inspection of your factory by the board, I think I can say, on behalf of my colleagues, that, in all the factories which we have gone through, we have never found better working conditions for the employees than we found in yours. The healthy appearance of your people was commendable; I think I am justified in making that statement. And particularly were we impressed with the provision you have made for free milk for them. I think it is our duty to pay you a compliment of this kind, and I only hope that we shall be able similarly to commend every other manufacturer who may appear before the board."

"I should like to have Mr. Jack tell us, if he will, something about the arrangements made in regard to the food supplied the employees. Am I right, Mr. Jack, in saying that you give to your girls, free, all the milk they can drink?" At the lunch hour we provide a bowl of soup and a roll for five cents, which of course, does not by any means cover the cost and in addition we give them without charge all the milk, tea and sugar they want. We also have a two-bed hospital with two qualified nurses all the time, as well as a doctor who may be consulted during certain hours in the morning and afternoon. He visits their homes when they are sick to find out whether they are getting proper attention. We have also a fine dining room and a dancing hall. The floor for the girls is 187 feet long by 60 feet wide, and we have a piano and a gramophone, so that between twelve and one they spend a very good time. Of course, we look after the sanitary part of the arrangements. As a matter of fact, we have been visited by the convention of inspectors of industrial establishments of the province of Quebec, under the leadership of Mr. Gouin, whom we invited to see the conditions obtaining in our factories. We are not patting ourselves on the back, Mr. Chairman. We think it is good business to look after our employees. In this way we get satisfactory work from them and they are cheerful and happy. In proof of this I may cite the fact that of the employees we had in our service in 1923, we still have 51 per cent; in 1924, 61 per cent; of the employees in 1925, we have now 71 per cent, and of 1926, 84 per cent, so that the labor turnover is very small, and we are trying to keep it down. I may add that we have with us at the present time employees who have been in the company as long as thirty-five years."

The fact that all the lights in the house were often burning all night long attracted the attention of the neighbors, who often heard groans and wild cries issuing from some of the windows. Later, crockery and furniture were mysteriously hurled into the street, greatly to the horror of the simple folk of the village who begged their priest to say an ex-piatory Mass before the house. Eventually when it was reported that Prevot had appeared raving incoherently on a balcony, the mayor and police entered the house, and found Mme. Prevot standing unclothed on an improvised altar, while her husband kneeling in a corner, was praying for relief from evil spirits, which, he said, had taken possession of the house. Both have now been confined in an asylum, but the local residents are firmly convinced that the house is haunted by demons, and no longer dare to approach it, even in broad daylight.

PRINCE CAROL RETURNING TO PARIS TO INVESTIGATE THEFT OF HIS PAPERS PARIS, Oct. 29.—Prince Carol, of Rumania, is coming back to Paris from his country retreat to investigate the thefts of a package of papers containing various letters from his villa at Neuilly, police detectives indicated last night. Police are engaged in trying to find a woman who is believed to have vamped Carol's valet and kept him away from the house all night. Returning home, he found that the house had been entered in his absence and papers and letters pilfered, money and jewels being left untouched.

Question of Newspaper. "While many of the subjects may more vitally interest the European or Eastern press, we will find an indirect profit in them. Here, in America, we will have our world problems to settle in the near future, and the supply of newspaper will be one of them. In this respect, we will be more than benefited in having the assistance or cooperation of such a powerful body. To-day, we have a surplus of newspaper, but what of to-morrow? Probably a general reduction in the size of our papers, as the nations are today endeavoring to settle upon a reduction in armaments, may suggest a partial solution."

Among the technical accomplishments of the conference, Mr. Carrel instanced the progress made toward the assurance of easier and speedier international communication by telephone, cable and telegraph, and the plan for copyright of news, establishing by agreement between the nations the property right of ownership of news. The League, Mr. Carrel said, had summoned the conference at the instance of the international press, introducing it. Ever Thought of Endowing your Home?

SUPPOSE that — having purchased a home and effected a mortgage on it—you should die suddenly!

Wouldn't your wife and family have a hard time meeting the interest on the mortgage and discharging the principal sum when due?

Not so, however if you were insured under an Imperial Endowment policy for the amount of the mortgage.

A small amount invested each year in such a policy will enable your heirs to pay the mortgage immediately after your death, even if it should occur next week.

On the other hand, if you should live until the policy matures you can then pay off the indebtedness yourself out of the proceeds of the Endowment.

Have you a mortgage on your home? Why carry this responsibility yourself? Why bequeath an unpaid mortgage to your loved ones? Let us show you how easily you can make sure of its repayment whether you live or die.

INTERCHANGE OF NEWS AS CHECK ON FRICTION TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Newsprint resources, proprietary rights in the news, censorship, and improved cable and telephone communication between the nations of the world were emphasized yesterday in a speech delivered by the Hon. Frank Carrel, publisher of the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph, before a joint luncheon of the directors of the Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, held at the King Edward.

Mr. Carrel was the official Canadian delegate to the conference of world press experts, held at Geneva last August, under the auspices of the League of Nations. He was the guest of honor at yesterday's luncheon, and while his speech dealt principally with things of interest to the newspaper publishers and editors who made up the bulk of his audience, he talked also of the broader work of the League. Especially eloquent was Mr. Carrel concerning the League's sincere efforts toward securing world peace. The hopes of all nations for anything approaching a permanent international amity, he declared, were bound up in the League, and the only assurance of peace which now existed was contained in the interchanges of views brought about through the League with the object of reaching better understandings between nations. Close observation of the League's operations, he declared, had impressed him greatly with which the work was being accomplished.

It was a mistake, Mr. Carrel said, for Canadians to display indifference toward the work done at Geneva by the international press conference. He continued: "While many of the subjects may more vitally interest the European or Eastern press, we will find an indirect profit in them. Here, in America, we will have our world problems to settle in the near future, and the supply of newspaper will be one of them. In this respect, we will be more than benefited in having the assistance or cooperation of such a powerful body. To-day, we have a surplus of newspaper, but what of to-morrow? Probably a general reduction in the size of our papers, as the nations are today endeavoring to settle upon a reduction in armaments, may suggest a partial solution."

THE BRIDGE OF FAITH By E. C. Baird. Every day—and, indeed, several times each day—I walk through a little park. It is a place of flowers and trees and fountains. Seats are arranged in the pleasant shade, and the weary of earth come there for rest and recreation. There is a circle of benches which, in the summer afternoons, is nearly always filled with a group of old men. They gather there in a spirit of comradeship and talk about the old days and the old ways. Their average age is nearly ninety, and the very youngest has passed his eightieth milestone. One gathers much instruction through listening to these men whose memories reach back through so many years. Yesterday a new recruit joined their ranks. He was pitifully feeble and his hands and arms shook constantly. "I am tired of living," he said, in quavering voice, "and yet I am afraid to die! To me death is a deep, dark chasm—and I am afraid to enter it!" "My friend," said one, whose face was all aglow, "why don't you walk on the bridge of faith? It spans that chasm as a rainbow of wondrous beauty! I am going that way in a little while—but I am going with a glad song of hope in my heart!" "Alas!" replied he of the shaking hands and sad, sad face, "there is no such bridge for me!"

And as I went my busy way I carried with me these two pictures: The despair of the man who faced the GLOOM of the chasm. The hope of the man who faced the GLOW of the rainbow. Nor did I forget that thus it is written: "And this is the victory that hath overcome the world—even our faith."

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon Of Gas Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-1958 E.
