

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1920 THE DAIRY INDUSTRY

Western Canada is taking up the dairying industry seriously. In 1910 the manufacture of creamery butter amounted to 5,478,304 pounds; in 1919 it was 25,356,000 pounds and indications are that the output for the present year will be much greater.

Last year the value of milk products exported from Canada was about $60,000,000 while the total product amounted to $247,531,000. The amount of factory cheese produced is steadily declining, while that of butter is increasing.

It is noteworthy that the increases in milk production are mainly in the western provinces. Until recently western farmers devoted their attention very largely to "wheat mining."

It is noteworthy also that the westerners who are taking up mixed farming are beginning right; they are developing the dairy industry for farming without dairying, even in the fertile virgin soil of the prairies.

In the maritime provinces we shall have to look to our laurels in the matter of dairying. In the west where there is almost unlimited land available they do things on a large scale; they know what they are up against in the dairy business and we may depend upon it they will leave no stone unturned to get to the top of the dairy market.

As to quantity of dairy product to be put upon the market there is nothing to fear. Both the export business and the home consumption will take care of the quantity. What we have to guard carefully is the quality. On this our hope for holding our own against any competition depends.

WHAT ABOUT THOSE OFFICIALS?

We had hoped that the Patriot as the organ of the government would have thrown some of its light upon the vexed subject of officials. We asked for this information as the public have a right to it and we feel assured the withholding of it is much more damaging to the government even than the revelation would be.

WHY NOT?

In last Monday's Guardian there appeared a letter over the signature of Mr. Lemuel Kenney, with a postscript attached, bearing the names of nine persons, and the offer of more if required, confirming a statement which had been denied in a letter in and editorially by the Patriot.

INJURIOUS INSECTS

Complaints come from different sections of the province of a "potato louse" which has done considerable damage this season. It is now too late to use preventives or poisons for this season but this fellow will need some watching.

CURRENT COMMENT

In ordinary procedure the testimony of a hostile witness is usually considered as of the highest value. Who is there in Canada more hostile to the Meighen Government than the Hon. McKenzie King? And what is his reluctant declaration as to the strength of the present Federal Government in the country? It is that—"The unfortunate and REALLY DANGEROUS aspect of the political situation in Canada today is that the force which in reality is Tory is KEEPING ITSELF UNITED."

Just so. There are no divisions either at headquarters or in the rank and file of the National Liberal and Conservative Party, nor is there any division amongst them upon the one sound policy upon which they will in due time appeal to the people, and the Liberal leader, whose ear has been kept close to the ground has discovered these facts, and with this he has also heard the rumbling thunders of discontent with the vacillations of policy and the dearest ructive criticisms, of anything that is for the public good, by Liberal leaders.

And how different this is to his song at the opening of the campaign. Then the country was only waiting for an election for an opportunity to hurl them from power. Now they are a "United" force, solidly "held together," "wiser in their generation than their opponents," and entrenched in the confidence of the people. Then Liberalism was the beloved idol of a people all anxious and craving the opportunity of putting MacKenzie King and his party in power.

OUR GUIDE.

He will be our guide even unto death.—Pa. 48:14.

Almighty and most merciful Father, we begin the day conscious of our helplessness, and Thy supreme and sovereign power. As Thou didst give us life, so we implore Thee to sustain it and to make us ready and fit for our larger service. For Thy care and protection through the night we praise Thee; the day and the night to Thee are both alike. As Thou hast watched about our beds, so we believe Thou knowest and planest all our ways. Do Thou prepare us for all that Thou art preparing for us. If perchance we should fall in our fulfillment of Thy plan concerning us, do Thou gently correct us and restore us to Thy love and favor. If disappointments or sorrows should attend us, make us strong to bear our burden, and enrich us with Thy sustaining grace. Make us ever faithful in each particular duty; loyal to every high claim, responsive to every obligation to Thee and to those about us. Give us to know the way that leadeth unto life eternal, and fill us with the peace that passeth understanding. May the shadows and the sunshine alike develop and ennoble our characters. Bind us as a household with the ties of a sacred love, and make us worthy of Thy continuing care and favor. May we live this day as heirs of eternal life, and rise ever more and more unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Him Who for our sakes became poor, that we through His poverty might be made rich.—Thy Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Liberalism off the political slate in the federal arena.

Another most worrisome feature of the situation to the Liberal leader is in the fact that those Farmer's political organizations are drawing their principal support from his own party, while the Conservative farmer seems satisfied with the Government's agricultural program and shows much less inclination to branch away from their first love. It is of course true that there are recessions from the Government to the Farmer's party but not to any degree as extensive as those from the Liberal ranks. This disquieting fact, the big foundation for the "WEAKENING" of their federal field forces, is as he sees it the handwriting of a most certain political doom.

On this subject a splendid letter appeared in Thursday's Guardian from a "United Farmer," with whose reasoning we are in full agreement, although we reach different conclusions. We would like to hear often from such men, discussing the question in the light of reason and in a gentlemanly way and bringing about an interchange of opinions which cannot fail to be profitable to both sides of this important issue.

What a fratricidal conflict it would produce, brother against brother and town against country. Just give to this sober and reasonable thought. Two great and powerful forces, each depending enormously upon the other, industry upon the farmer for the food he eats, and the farmer upon industry for his clothes, his tools and implements, his coal and the transportation and consumption of his surplus products.

But some of our United Farmers suggest that they propose a broad policy that will safeguard every interest. Even so, and supposing they carry out that policy fairly and honestly has industry no right to its part in the formulation of it? Or take another probability, yes certainly, if farmers united absolutely, could industry avoid the same procedure as a measure of self defense, and with the old line parties obliterated what chaos would be substituted. On the other hand both Conservatism and Liberalism are representative of all these classes, and in the best of these our farmers will find the sensible and safest form of government.
