POISONED MAN WITH LOVE POTION

PITTSBURG, April 21—After having related a remarkable story and surrendering to the police, Miss Emma Baker, 28 years old, of North East, Pa., was turned over to the Department of Charities. Advice received today from North East partially confirms her story.

Miss Baker, who is of refined appearance, is under the impression that she caused the death of William Anderson, of North East, ten months ago by administering a philter to him in a cup of coffee. At police headquarters the woman appeared rational, and after telling her name, said: "I poisoned a man I was in love with at North East and I want to give myself up." Then the woman told her story.

William Anderson, whom she alleges she loved, became indifferent, she says, and in hope of getting back his love she put a love potion in a cup of coffee. According to the woman, Anderson died of blood poisoning after drinking it.

From North East it is learned William Anderson was a well known man, died suddenly in November, 1907, on the same day he was married. Death it was said, was due to blood poisoning, caused by alleged excessive cigarette smoking.

Miss Baker is not known at North East.

Her mental condition, the authorities say, precludes any chance of her being tried on a charge of murder, even though the story she tells be true.

AN ELEVATOR BOY SAVES MANY LIVES

NEW YORK, April 20—Fire in the Empire Building in Broadway late today entrapped 150 girls, who were at work on the tenth floor.

All were rescued, however, the elevator boy in the building running the car repeatedly through the smoke and flames, and carrying fifty of the young women down, while the others fled down the fire escapes.

Several collapsed on reaching the street.

The fire started in a stock of feathers on the first floor and was not detected at once.

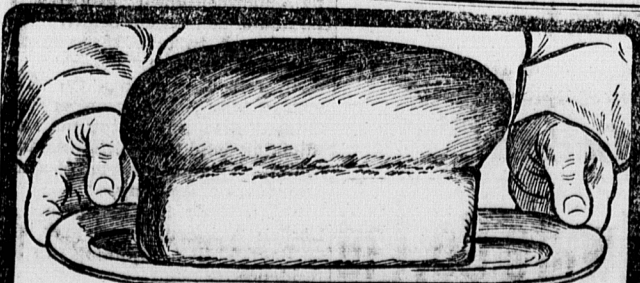

On the tenth floor, the top, 150 girls were at work. The dense smoke from the burning feathers was carried quickly up the elevator shaft, which was open, and at the bottom of which was Tony Sarino, the elevator boy, and his car.

He knew nothing of the fire until aroused by the screams from the girls, who were imprisoned by the smoke which filled the elevator shaft.

GIGANTIC PAPER PLANT FOR NEWFOUNDLAND

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 21—Reporting to the trade and commerce department Agent Armand of St. John's Nfld., states that W. R. Hearst has bought 1,000 square miles of pulp wood lands near Bay d'Espoir, Hermitage Bay, that he will invest $10,000,000, have an output of 500 tons daily and employ 2,000 or 3,000 men. A direct line of steamers will run from Bay d'Espoir open all year to New York.

Sarino shot his car through the smoke to the top of the shaft and bravely made more than a half-dozen trips to the street level, bringing many of the girls to safety. Other girls were brave enough to descend by the fire escapes.

Broadway was quickly jammed by a dense crowd that watched the girls come down the fire escapes, and later saw those whom Sarino had rescued surround and kiss and hug him for saving them.

The firemen made short work of the blaze. They believe it was started by a lighted cigarette being thrown into boxes of feathers.

MOTHER PLEADS TO FOLLOW SON

UPTON, Mass., April 21—Mrs. Emma Thomas pointed with trembling finger to the chapter in the Book of Ruth, as she stood recently before the Massachusetts State Board of Charities making the strangest plea ever heard before that body—or any similar body.

Mrs. Thomas was begging that she be allowed to leave the world of living men and go to a living death in Massachusetts' leper colony in lonely Penikese Island.

Mrs. Thomas is not a leper. She is strong and well. She knows that once on the island she can never return. She knows she goes to a tomb. That world will cry, "Unclean, unclean," and flee from her like an accused one. If she ever leaves the island, she pleads with the state officials, who heard her gravely. "You see, it is the boy," she sobbed. "My son, you know. You've taken him from me, and put him there. He is the only interest I have in the world. I just want to be with him and help him." And in the end the board granted the permission. Mrs. Thomas was officially appointed attendant to all the ten lepers in the colony.

Penikese Island is a lonely, desolate place. The waves from the ocean sweep the coasts, and the winds roar over it in time of storm. Often in winter the little packet which brings mail and provisions to the colony is unable to make the trip.

Her husband, the boy's father, died of leprosy eight years ago. Over the son hung all the time since a mother's devouring fear that he might have the germs of it in his body—a fear she could not share with anyone, but which never left her day or night.

Every morning she looked into the boy's face for some sign that the Black Death had laid its hand on him during the night. Though a thousand times reassured, she always dreaded the morrow. With the doctor's order she knew the worst. The father, a sailor, contracted the disease in the Barbadoes.

ARTIST EARLE'S SON DOESN'T KNOW HIM

PARIS, April 21—Ferdinand Finney Earle, the American artist who discarded his wife because he had found an "affinity," had a pathetic interview with his young son today.

The lad looked unrecognized upon his father and listened dumbly to his words.

Since his marriage to the "Affinity" Earle was arrested for abusing her, and now, it is reported, he is in Paris to attempt a reconciliation with his first wife.

It is said by those who know the young artist that he would give all he possesses to regain the love of his child, but the little boy held back, shy and diffident, not knowing it was his father. The meeting was at the home of a friend of Earle's first wife.

Earle arrived in Paris a day ago, under an assumed name, and succeeded in dodging reporters here.

He has no intention, his friends now say, of seeing his first wife, who lives with her father. Both Fischbacher and his daughter declare that any reconciliation is impossible, as well as undesired.

But under the conditions of the divorce decree Earle has a right to see his son at intervals. The mother will not be present at these meetings.

Earle said today: "I am here only to see my boy and get needed rest." Earle keeps his address secret. He expected to remain in Paris only a few days.

NAVAL DEFENCE FOR CANADA

MONTREAL, April 21—At the banquet of the Reform club recently, Hon. Mr. Borden stated that as soon as the session of parliament was over he and Sir Frederick Borden would leave for London, where they would consult with the imperial authorities as to what had better be done by Canada in the matter of naval defence. He, however, assured the gathering that it was the intention of the Canadian government to take some action in the interests of the empire, and that, confident in the vast experience of the imperial naval authorities, they would be prepared to accept and act upon whatever advice might be given them in the coming conference.
