TOURNAMENT AND CARNIVAL PLANS MATURE

Mt. Stewart Fire Dept. Will Sponsor Dominion Day Meet.

Plans for the firemen's tournament and lobster carnival at Savage Harbor July 1 under the auspices of the newly organized Mount Stewart Fire Department were rapidly nearing completion last night.

A lobster carnival in the morning, firemen's sports and other amusements in the afternoon and dancing at night will round out the day.

Lobster boats and snipe class boats will race in the bay in the morning. Field sports, to which other Prince Edward Island fire departments have been invited, will be staged in the afternoon.

Shooting galleries, bowling, bingo and other games will be provided. A fish dinner will be served, including fresh fish caught that morning, clams, oysters and other kinds.

Bathing facilities are good and parking space will be provided. The Charlottetown pipe band will be in attendance.

Proceeds from the field day will go toward defraying expenses of purchasing equipment for the new department. The equipment purchased included a pumper capable of throwing 450 gallons of water per minute and 1,200 feet of hose was also bought.

Tested recently by C. H. Beer, chairman of the Board of Fire Underwriters, and Angus MacEachern, chief of the Charlottetown Fire Department, the pumper was pronounced the best of its kind they had seen.

Mission Work Is Discussed By Assembly

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, June 2—Hard work on the missionary problems of the church occupied commissioners to the annual assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada here today.

A number of amendments to the roles about foreign missionaries recommended by the General Board of Missions were approved by the Assembly during a crowded day of discussion.

One change provides that while "incidental sight-seeing and visiting are desirable, they should be considered a personal charge," and missionaries going to and from their field of labor shall be entitled only to the actual cost of transportation and an expense allowance, rendering a detailed account to the board.

The report of the board and its recommendations were passed by the Assembly after it had deferred until later the appointment of secretaries for home and foreign missions respectively, and the question of retirement rules for members of the board.

The Assembly received and approved detailed reports of the Women's Missionary Society, eastern and western divisions.

The 64th Assembly of the Church met under presidency of the new Moderator, Rev. Donald MacOdrum of Brockville, elected at the opening session last night.

TORONTO, June 2 —(CP)— Charges that he had been "railroaded" and refused a hearing were brought before the annual assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada here today by Rev. Max MacOdrum, of Sydney, N. S., son of the newly-elected Moderator of the General Assembly.

Rev. Max MacOdrum is not a commissioner to the Assembly but the occasion promoted his father to offer to retire from the chair while the charge was discussed. On motion of Dr. T. Wardlaw Taylor, clerk of the Assembly, a committee of three was named to go into the matter and report back to the Assembly. There was no discussion of the charge on which the younger MacOdrum demanded a hearing today.

Assails Proposed Seaway Development

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MILTON, Mass., June 2 — State Auditor Thomas H. Buckley, a Democrat, tonight assailed State Secretary Hull as "New England's active foe."

Aiming his attack at a proposed Great Lakes seaway, Buckley told the Milton Democratic Club in a prepared address:

"I believe that this proposal is another indication that his (Hull's) views are still those of a southern free trader, controlled by underlings in the state department, who apparently believe the interests of Great Britain precede those of the citizens of America."

The proposed seaway development, which would be built jointly with Canada, Buckley said, would cost United States taxpayers $276,000,000 "to benefit a few states and industries in the midwest at the expense of every Atlantic seaboard port."

Freight now shipped by rail to Boston for export, Buckley said, would be diverted by the proposed seaway "to the entire benefit of Canadian ports."

CLUB WILL CONDUCT PICNIC—At an enthusiastic meeting of the Kinsmen Club at the Canadian National Hotel last evening it was decided to carry on a series of picnics for small groups of underprivileged children during the summer months. Treasurer Jack Chandler reported a profit of $50.46 on the Kinsmen dance and it was decided that a cheque be forwarded to the Dental Clinic immediately. Music for the evening was supplied by the Kinsmen Radio Canaries. Gordon Rice and Bill Boyles were in charge of the music.

NO LEGION CONVENTION THIS YEAR—The provincial convention of the Canadian Legion would be discontinued this year, it was announced following a meeting of the executive of the Provincial Command at Montague last night. In place of the convention it was decided to hold county reunions. Following a heavy business session the provincial executive joined the Montague Branch which was holding its regular meeting. Particulars of the Dominion convention were given by Provincial President B. W. Robinson of Summerside, G. W. Sherren, Charlottetown, Dr. H.D. Johnson, Charlottetown, and George Macdonald, Montague. After the meeting the veterans were treated to light refreshments. The Montague Branch is to be congratulated on its new quarters which are on the second floor of the building recently purchased from the estate of the late James Younker. The lower floor houses a jewelry store and barber shop. The Montague Branch is progressive and no doubt will prove itself an asset to the town.

Seeks Additional Information On Unification Plan

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, June 2—Sir Edward W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, should disclose to the Senate Railway Committee the financial particulars involved in unification of Canada's two transportation systems, government leader Raoul Dandurand insisted at today's session of the committee.

The government should know what assets the C. P. R. contemplated bringing in to unification and also what was in Sir Edward's mind with regard to distribution of the net revenues arising out of unified operations, Senator Dandurand said.

Other information to which the Senate was entitled related to the securities the C. P. R. would be prepared to pledge if, after unification, government guarantee was required for refunding or new capital outlays.

Sir Edward had declared his willingness to discuss the terms of an agreement regarding unification with either the Canadian National or the government in due course. Meanwhile, said Senator Dandurand, "he asks this committee to endorse his plan in principle, leaving the details for federal contract."

This procedure did not satisfy him, and he asked that Sir Edward lay unreservedly before the committee the full terms of his proposal.

National Anthem Controversy In S. A. Settled

PRETORIA, South Africa, June 2—(CP Reuters)—Controversy which flared over the omission of the singing of "God Save The King" at Union Day ceremonies May 31 and caused Richard Stuttaford, Minister of the Interior, to submit his resignation subsided tonight after a Government statement had been issued giving equal status to the National Anthem and "Die Stem Van Suid Afrika."

Mr. Stuttaford thereupon withdrew his resignation.

The statement said that at present there is no official National Anthem for the Union and until the people of South Africa are agreed on recognition of an appropriate anthem the Government had decided that on formal occasions under Government auspices both anthems will be played.

"Die Stem Van Suid Afrika" is considered the national song of the Afrikaans-speaking population.

Mr. Stuttaford tendered his resignation at a cabinet meeting yesterday and withdrew it after the statement was issued. Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog accepting the withdrawal.

"Die Stem Van Suid Afrika" was played throughout South Africa at Union Day ceremonies while the National Anthem was omitted almost elsewhere.

DANCE RECITAL AND FASHION SHOW HELD

Large Audience Attends Delightful Program At Prince Edward Theatre.

A very delightful dance recital by the pupils of Vera Millar together with a fashion show by Moore and McLeod's was presented to a capacity audience at the Prince Edward Theatre last night. The show was a series of delights, with really clever performances by the artists taking part and the showing of the latest and most exquisite in summer styles by beautiful models combining to provide a most interesting evening.

The program was divided into three parts with the fashion show taking place at the beginning of the second and last sections. The garments shown last night are the most recent creations and are being shown at New York this week. The models were: Miss Constance Hyndman, Miss Anna MacKenzie, Mrs. Vera Murray, Miss Catherine Crabbe, Mrs. W. L. Henry, Miss Constance Colwill, Miss Frances Ayers, while little Miss Betty Ann Beers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Beers modelled children's garments. Sport styles for summer were shown first and later summer styles for afternoon and evening.

Many favorable comments were heard from those present concerning the evening's entertainment. The enthusiastic applause of the audience was indeed testimony of the success of the performance.

Following was the program:

RUSSIA

war if the international plan for removing foreign volunteers from the conflict was put into effect.

This declaration was made after a cryptic statement by Jose Antonio de Aguirre, former president of the Basque Republic, of possible developments "within five or six days."

The Government spokesman however said "five or six weeks would be more likely."

Mediation efforts would be "logical," this official said, in view of adoption of a preliminary plan by the non-intervention sub-committee in London for withdrawals of volunteers.

"You can't expect to drag men out of the front line trenches," he said.

"Of course, it all is based on the big question if and when the non-intervention commissions actually begin to work in Spain."

(In London, the nine-nation Non-Intervention sub-committee received Soviet Russia's acceptance of the proposal for sending commissions to Spain taking 10,000 volunteers from each side as a good will sign. Other issues remained to be ironed out, however.)

Continue Search For Missing Plane

ZEBALLOS, B. C., June 2—(CP)—Search for the missing Ginger Coote Airways seaplane switched from air to ground today as pilots seeking pilot Len Waagen of Edmonton and his three passengers prepared to land at Hesquiat Lake and cover that west coast Vancouver Island area on foot.

The searchers said they had "covered the whole search area as well as we can from the air." Districts where residents thought they had seen a plane last Friday would be combed by land forces.

As the Hesquiat Lake search progressed, police and fishing boats were dispatched along the rugged island coast between Sidney inlet and Nootka Sound with other shore parties which will comb the hills and mountain near the water.

DENIES NAZI CONNECTIONS

Gerhard Refutes ... sertions By Tim Buck.

MONTREAL, June 2—(CP)—For the second time within five days, Karl Gerhard of Montreal denied today he was affiliated in any way with Nazi organizations "any German affair or consulate."

The handsome 30-year-old former university instructor said "Tim Buck is a Communist so that should answer the question," when he was asked to reply to Buck's assertions before the Rowell Commission. (Buck told the Commission in Ottawa yesterday he had correspondence to show a man of German descent had been directed to apply to Karl Gerhard for membership in the National Socialist (Nazi) Party of Germany.)

"The incident probably is true," Gerhard said, "but not in the light in which he (Buck) puts it. During 1934 I was president of the Deutcher Bund in Montreal. It was a cultural society with the aim of fostering German culture amongst German people here. Many people were referred to me for information on Germany, during my term in office. I, in turn, always referred them to the German Consulate. There certainly was nothing wrong in that. About two years ago I broke away from the party. My intention was to become a Canadian citizen, which I did a short time later."

ROEBUCK TELLS

contracts between the commission and four Quebec companies were cancelled. Mr. Roebuck told the committee he was determined not to sign a new contract with Beauharnois.

In December, 1936, the Premier had told him Mr. McCullagh had demaned "that the Government change is hydro policy and had demanded my elimination from the Government." Mr. Hepburn had met neither demand.

"Mr. Hepburn told me that my dismissal and a change in the hydro policy was the price of the Globe and Mail's support of the Government and the immunity of the Government from attacks by the Gobe and Mail." Mr. Roebuck related.

"I had several interviews with Mr. Hepburn and there were several between Mr. Hepburn and Mr. McCullagh in which the latter was pressing his determination. Mr. Hepburn told me McCullagh had said an editorial was set to run unless his demands were complied with. McCullagh had said: 'Mr. Wright won't stand for repudiation.'"

Aid Sought For Destitute N. S. Family

RIMOUSKI, Que., June 2—(CP)—The tragic caravan of the Humphries family, its 1,000-mile trek broken by death, paused here tonight while authorities pondered aid for the destitute little group from Nova Scotia.

Though one child lay dead here, jobless John Humphries was determined to push on afoot the rest of the way from Pictou, N. S., to Val D'or Que., trundling three-year-old Shirley in her carriage and accompanied by his wife and two other youngsters.

There had been six in the family when Humphries, seeking a haven on his father's Val D'or farm after months of unemployment led the footsore procession into this St. Lawrence River town yesterday. But the nine-months-old baby was desperately sick, dying.

Last night in Rimouski's hospital, the infant died. Today the parents with six-year-old George and Arthur, 5, gathered at the graveside to see her buried and then made plans to take to the road again for northern Quebec.

But civic officials stepped in. They heard Humphries story of how his family, homeless and hungry in Pictou, had decided to head for his father's farm, on foot because they lacked railway fare. The municipal officers decided to see if they couldn't raise money to send the Humphries the remaining 600 miles by train.

For all but 16 of the 400 miles they travelled up to now, the family had trekked on foot. Farmers along the wayside provided them with shelter and food.

Whether or not they got help here, they were to keep going. "We have to go on," Humphries told villagers today. "Despite the death of our child we are ready to continue our trip on foot if necessary."

Humphries, born in Fredericton, N. B., said he had worked in the coal mines near Pictou until work gave out this spring. "We had no alternative but to go to my father's farm," he said, "and we walked all the way to Rimouski except for a 16-mile lift in an automobile. "We slept with farmers and begged our food."

"My baby was sick when we got to Rimouski," he added, "but I didn't think it would die so soon."

Tonight, while he waited word from the civic authorities Humphries and his brood accepted the hospitality of a sympathetic farm family on Rimouski's outskirts. Tomorrow they may set out again on the last leg.
