WEST INDIES PACT DUE FOR OVERHAULING

Revision Of 12-Year-Old Treaty To Come Before Parliament.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—Plans for revision of Canada's trading agreements with the British West Indies are under the Government's consideration and may be mentioned in the Speech from the Throne to be read at the opening of Parliament next Thursday.

A review of the Government's trade expansion program of the past year, including the new Canada-United States agreement, will be a feature of the speech and it is expected to indicate that a new arrangement with the British West Indies will be the next major effort.

Canada's existing trade agreement with the British West Indies was proclaimed April 30, 1927 for a 12-year period. Barring any notice being given by either of the parties the agreement remains in effect, and it is understood no such notice has been given.

But there has been a strong desire on the part of all concerned to revise this arrangement and in the fall of 1927 Trade Minister Euler had plans completed for a tour of the islands to survey the possibilities of increasing commercial interchange under a new and enlarged agreement.

Mr. Euler's trip was cancelled when it was decided to work out a new agreement with United States in cooperation with United Kingdom. Those negotiations occupied trade experts from the three countries throughout 1933 until a three-way agreement was reached, becoming law, becoming effective last Jan. 1.

In the meantime the trade department has been giving close attention to the islands and while some smaller trading problems may be disposed of first it is believed the next major effort will be made in that direction.

The existing agreement covers Trinidad and Tobago, Barbados, Jamaica, Bahamas, Windward Islands, Leeward Islands, Bermuda, British Guiana and Honduras. These countries give Canada a preference ranging from 33 1/3 per cent to 50 per cent on a wide range of goods, and other specific concessions.

Canada gave the West Indies similar preferences and undertook, with the aid of subsidies from the colonies to operate a shipping line between Canadian ports and the islands to ensure effectiveness of the new agreement. The subsidies amount to about $200,000 a year.

The last agreement was worked out with the islands individually and signed by their representatives. It is expected that arrangements will be negotiated similarly.

Trade with Cuba will also be reviewed. It has been surveyed by Mr. Euler on the tour he had planned more than a year ago. Relations with that country have recently improved but a great loss suffered when Cuba placed a virtual embargo on table potatoes has not been regained.

For the last fiscal year before the agreement came into operation, the year ended March 31, 1927, imports to Canada from West Indies countries parties to the agreement were valued at $18,000,000 and exports from Canada to those countries $17,000,000.

Highest figure reached since then until the close of the last fiscal year in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1928, when imports were valued at $23,000,000 and exports $19,000,000.

Trade with the island struck the lowest point during the life of the treaty in 1934 when imports were valued at $10,000,000 and exports $9,000,000.

For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1937, imports from the West Indies had grown to $18,000,000 but exports from Canada to the treaty countries had increased only to $11,000,000.

In only one year was the value of exports from Canada to the treaty countries greater than the imports. In 1930 imports were valued at $18,000,000 and exports $19,000,000.

Treaty commodities of which Canada provides a considerable portion of the whole imports of the West Indies include flour, cheese, butter, meats, fish, potatoes, rubber footwear, motor vehicles and parts, silk, hosiery, canned fruits, lumber, pork, lard, complex oils, condensed or powdered milk, wearing apparel and electrical appliances.

Areas which will not be evacuated but which will not be used to receive those evacuated.

The third consists of areas in more remote and less populated parts of the country which will be used for the reception and billeting of those evacuated.

WAR BRISTLING FROM AIR SHOW IN FRENCH HUB

Fighting Planes To Front In Annual Show With Latest Improvements.

(By GLADYS M. ARNOLD Canadian Press Correspondent)

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(CP)—The 16th annual "Air Salon" in the Grand Palais where all countries showed what they could do in the way of building air "buggies" and flying death cars was a big event.

Sanctioned by the official opening with all the generals, diplomats and air technicians present, the general public was admitted only after a long wait.

The commercial and pleasure aircraft was just behind the imposing array of destruction carriers which indicated that all domestic needs taking a backseat in favor of military requirements. In fact the merely useful and constructive machines were in the foreground.

Countries taking part in the air show included Great Britain, United States, France, Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Holland, Brazil, Switzerland and Belgium.

Fighting planes, giant deadly bombers and sleek, swift pursuit ships dominated the display. The most interesting was the Polish "Flying Bullet" so small, light and rapid that they resemble a swarm of locusts when seen in mass. Each was mounted with two machine guns and an aerial cannon and carried one giant bomb.

As to be the world's fastest, fighter, the supermarine "Spitfire" figured in the British Royal Air Force display, a glistering, sinister air. Brilliant yellow and blue fuselage drew the admiration of the visitors to the magnificent American V-156 scout bombers, represented as the most up-to-date combination and pursuit plane yet produced.

The largest war machine was the multi-colored French bomber but few details were available. A fast plane of 1910 with a maximum speed of 50 kilometers an hour was placed beside a modern beauty which can do 500 kilometers an hour without puffing.

However, some commercial transports had a constructive note. The Zlin (Czechoslovakia) "air taxis" and the $1,700 American, two-seater "flivver" which uses only 11 pilots of vintage hour suggested future models of private travel.

The facsimile of the passenger quarters of a huge French transatlantic liner showed private cabins, showers, kitchens, salon and two decks and was prophetic of the day not far distant when Canada and France might be linked by a 24-hour passenger service.

PARACHUTE CORPS HAS ITS ADVOCATE
LONDON, Jan. 9.—(CP)—Formation of a regiment of parachute soldiers has been suggested by Major General R. J. Collins. Russia and Germany already had such troops he said, and he did not consider fantastic the use of those troops by landing them behind the lines to seize vital points. They would be specially trained troops.

SYDNEY, (CP)—The Australian welterweight boxing champion, Hockey Bannell, broke a bone in his right hand in the second round of a 12-round bout here but won the contest on a foul in the last round.

Smallest Baby Born At North Sydney
TORONTO, Jan. 9.—(CP)—Dr. J. S. Monro of North Sydney, N. S., writing in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Journal, says the smallest baby born that lived is alive and well in a country district near North Sydney.

Dr. Monro said the smallest infant to survive previously recorded weighed 2 1/8 ounces at birth. He said the North Sydney baby, weighed only 14 ounces a day after it was born June 6, 1937. The baby, the 22-year-old mother's third, was two months premature.

Will Investigate

Moore didn't want Lafferty's job in the relief office, the speaker continued, but was to go in Robinson's place while the latter was out collecting tax arrears.

Coun. Henry Laphorn, chairman of employment and relief in a report from his committee told the council the total number to receive relief in the four relief days of December was 1929. Of that number 409 were heads of families, 1355 were dependents and 65 were single individuals.

Relief Applicants
To date this year there were 479 applicants for relief. Of that number 75 were hanging fire for further investigations, the best of January in 1938 there were 516 applicants.

All applicants for relief must prove they were residents of the City for two years unless they were laid off before they would be considered.

During the month of December 109 men worked on various City jobs, such as sawing wood and other small jobs, Coun. Laphorn reported.

The question of sidewalks which were not kept properly shoveled up at the meeting and after discussion the Police, through Chief Brantwistle, were instructed to either prosecute the parties involved or the walk shoveled and add the charge for such services to the taxes on the property.

There were numbers of cars left on the street at night yet Coun. Hennessey, chairman of streets said, Police were ordered to make a strict check-up.

No formal committee reports were presented last night as Mayor Foster explained the year closed on the 15th of this month and annual reports would be presented shortly after the date.

Coun. Chandler, chairman of finance, reported almost $50,000 had been collected in tax arrears for 1938. In addition there was a large increase in collections of current taxes in December over the amount collected a year ago.

Coun. Chandler walked on the street and reported that the Provincial Government was increasing in collections of direct relief costs. His report would be made first to the finance committee and then to the council, it was announced.

Coun. Hennessey gave notice he would present at the next regular meeting a by-law making Longworth Avenue a restricted building zone. Action followed regarding the matter and finally the Mayor's committee would no longer be responsible for the market unless it were cleaned.

Needless to say the market was not cleaned and the committee was resigning, Coun. Holman said.

Mayor Foster explained he had looked into the situation and found if the proposed $30 to $40 was spent the Market committee would be over its estimate. He had appointed a committee of men in similar circumstances and was determined to do all possible to balance the budget this year, believing that if the small amounts which were lost by the larger ones would take care of themselves.

He told Coun. Holman he could go ahead if the would not cost in excess of $25, but if it did authority for the expenditure should come from the whole council.

Why shouldn't the market be scrubbed, Coun. Holman asked. It was in a filthy condition and had not been scrubbed since last Easter, Mayor Foster questioned if there was much use scrubbing it more frequently than once a year. It would be as dirty as ever in a week or so.

Markets all over the Dominion were scrubbed after each market day, Coun. McKee declared.

Coun. Henry Laphorn suggested the committee should reconsider its decision and he concluded that perhaps that would be done.

There was a full attendance of councillors at last night's meeting. A plea was made that there be a large number of visitors, the council chamber being filled almost to capacity.
