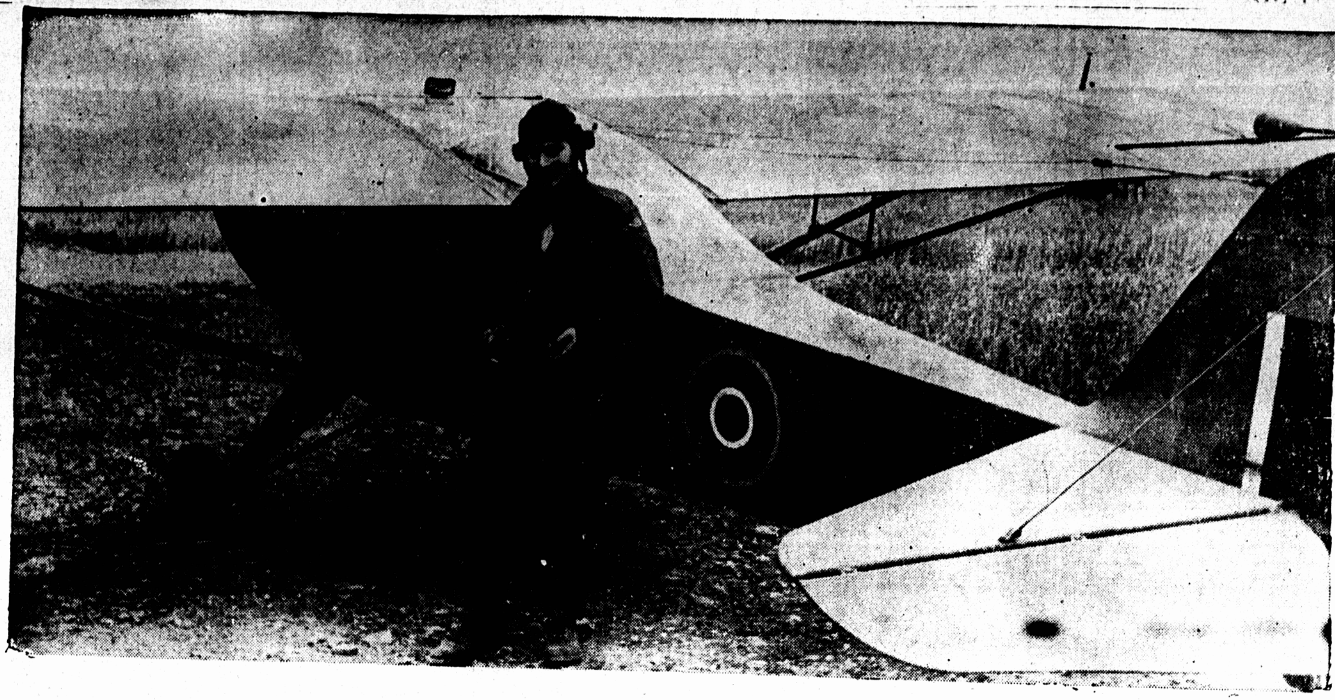
NICOSIA, Cyprus - (CP) - Cypriot muleteers have played an important part in bringing up supplies for Allied forces during mountain battles in Italy. They won praise after the capture of Monastery Hill at Cassino.



Larry Earl in France

This is the first photograph from France we've received of Larry himself since he arrived there shortly after D-Day. He tells us he flew over the battlefield in this frail-looking artillery spotter aircraft—no parachute—no guns—no armor. Only physical damage reported was a slightly upset stomach — due to diving and zooming by the pilot to avoid any German machine gun fire.

The Standard
THE FASTEST-SELLING WEEKEND NEWSPAPER IN THE MARITIMES!

THIS WEEK The Standard, the only Canadian publication with a staff photographer in France, brings you Larry Earl's photo story, "Air View of Battle". Also in the rotogravure, a photo story by Standard staffman Andy O'Brien featuring the girl commandos of the RCAF in training in the West . . . and a photo feature on the Russian dandelion that produces rubber. In the Magazine, Standard war correspondent Gerald Clark describes, "The Paris We Found" . . . There's a feature describing Canada's "progressive schools" and the advantages they offer . . . another feature tells of the new industry in the Maritimes—the gathering of Irish moss. Plus Kate Aitken's wartime recipes, a complete novel, all the best comics and the latest weekend news, including the dispatches of the Chicago Sun's Foreign News Service, exclusive to The Standard in Canada.
