GOSPEL WORK IN BRAZIL

Mission Whose converts Are Becoming Evangelists.

STORY OF WORK THERE.

Deep Interest is Shown in the Teaching of the Missionaries, Reginald J. Young and His Wife.

An exceedingly interesting story of successful mission work is told by Mr. Reginald J. Young, who has just returned from Brazil. He has been laboring for six years past in that populous land, and is now in this country seeking help to extend his work. His experience in the cities and country districts of Brazil has convinced him that if a systematic and earnest effort were made to evangelize the country, a rich harvest of souls might be reaped. It is, he says, a most promising mission field, which would well repay the labors of consecrated Gospel workers.

Mr. Young and his wife were gradually led into mission work in Brazil by a brief stay in Rio Janeiro. They had a small property, sufficient for their own needs, and during their visit they made excursions from the city into the interior. They were astonished to find how few of the acquaintances they made knew anything of the Gospel or of the word of God. Even educated people there were, who did not possess a copy of the Bible. Mr. and Mrs. Young obtained from the Bible Society a consignment of Bibles, Testaments and single Gospels in Portuguese. These were soon in circulation, many being readily sold and others given away to people anxious to get them. The Christian visitors procured a fresh stock and went on a long journey westward, calling at the towns on the way and selling or giving away the precious volumes. Returning, they settled at Sao Paulo, near Santos, where they hired a room for public meetings. Here the Bible was read and explained. Many came, and soon there were people inquiring the way to be saved. A canvas from house to house was made of the City of Santos, and a large number of portions of the Bible were sold. The City of Sao Paulo, which has 250,000 population, was also canvassed as far as possible, and the people invited to the meetings. Visits were also made to the neighboring towns. At one of these a young Englishman named F. C. Glass was brought to Christ, and so earnest was he that he abandoned his business to assist in the mission work. He has proved a very successful worker.

About forty persons in all have made profession of faith at Sao Paulo, and there are many others who have manifested a deep interest in the teaching and will, it is believed, yet become believers. Among the converts, Sr. Mello, a young man who was formerly notorious for his wickedness, has himself become a preacher. He is a native Brazilian of considerable fortune. After his conversion he set himself diligently to the study of the Bible, and spoke at every opportunity, both on the streets and in the mission. His simple testimony was given with power, and has been greatly blessed. Sr. Mello's meetings, it so impressed a Roman Catholic priest that he became an inquirer, and has since accepted Christ. Sr. Mello, with two other workers, set out on foot on a mission journey through three States, intending to preach in all their chief towns. One of Sr. Mello's companions is Sr. Egydio Dias, who also was converted at the Sao Paulo mission. He is a Spaniard, but speaks Portuguese fluently. For about a year after his conversion he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Young, and they had therefore abundant opportunities of observing his character. Although he had been a man of utterly irreligious life, his quiet, humble, earnest behavior made a deep impression on all who came in contact with him.

Mr. Young's chief desire is to organize a corps of native workers. He is convinced that in Brazil the church will grow better if it is not regarded as a missionary church. Native Brazilians have a better command of the language than a foreigner can ever acquire; they are more familiar with national customs and modes of thought, and they do not encounter the prejudice with which the native is apt to regard the foreigner who comes to teach his religion. He therefore relies chiefly for future success on the converts whom he is training, but most of all on the circulation of the Bible, which, to many Brazilian households, is a new book.

You Don't Take Medicine

You don't take Vapo-Cresolene into the stomach, you breathe it. Put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and then breathe in the vapor. It's easy, convenient, safe. It can be used with success, even for infants.

Don't you see at once how valuable such a remedy must be for hay fever, diphtheria, sore throat, catarrh, asthma, and other diseases of the air passages? For whooping-cough it is a perfect specific, often curing the disease in from one to three days.

What is Vapo-Cresolene? It is what the doctors call a coal-tar product; that is, it's something like carbolic acid, only it destroys disease germs.

Keep Vapo-Cresolene on hand; it's not expensive, for the vaporizer lasts a lifetime and the Cresolene costs but little.

You Breathe it

F. N. MILLIKEN, M.D.,
Rogersville, P.A.:
"I find your remedy to be the best I have ever tried in the treatment of whooping-cough, catarrhal fever, asthma, also for disinfecting rooms where scarlet fever and diphtheria prevail."

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be forwarded, express and customs duty paid, upon receipt of regular price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene, 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPOR-CRESOLENE CO., 130 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.—114.

To The Farmers of Prince Edward Island

THE DOMINION PACKING COMPANY, Ltd., which is incorporated under the laws of Canada with a capital of $1,000,000 (one million dollars), has purchased the Pork and Beef packing business hitherto carried on here by Messrs. B. & M. Rattenbury. It is the intention of this Company to very largely increase that business. To that end the company will be prepared to make very large purchases of live and dressed HOGS, CATTLE, SHEEP and POULTRY. In fact in a very short time it expects to be able to handle at least five times as many hogs, cattle, sheep, etc., as the farmers of P. E. I. are at present raising, and it indulges the hope that the farmers of this Island will furnish all that is required.

Owing to our expert knowledge of killing, curing, etc., and our facilities for marketing our product through our own cold storage warehouses which we intend to build at the points of consumption, such as Sydney, Halifax, St. John, N. B. and St. John's, Newfoundland, and elsewhere, we will be in a position to pay SPOT CASH and HIGHER PRICES than any company now doing business in the Maritime Provinces. We believe you will make more money by selling us your live animals than by either killing them yourself or shipping them abroad on the hoof, as the Company will be provided with the best facilities for saving all the by-products or offal which have heretofore been thrown away.

Arrangements will be made whereby all goods purchased will be properly weighed by duly sworn officials at different points on the Island.

The preliminaries incident to taking over the Rattenbury plant and property and increasing its facilities for the new business will probably cause a week or two of delay. We, therefore, request our patrons to hold their marketable stock for a short time; but should you have any animals you find it necessary to sell immediately, kindly communicate with us before offering elsewhere. We ask as a special favor that you kindly fill in the enclosed postal card and return to us without delay so that we can make our records more complete, and thus facilitate further communication.

Thanking you in advance for your co-operation, we are, sirs,
Yours sincerely,
