Directions For Shipping Fox Skins to C. M. Lampson & Co. Per Parcel Post

Fox skins intended for C. M. Lampson & Co.'s London Sales should be packed in parcels weighing not over 11 lbs., the outer covering of which should be of unbleached muslin or similar material; and the following address should be plainly marked on the outside of the package:—
C. M. LAMPSON & CO.,
 64 Queen Street,
 London, E. C. 4, England.

In addition, the shipper's name and address should be placed on the outside of the package to enable Lampson & Co. to identify it on arrival, and packages should be numbered consecutively from No. 1 upwards.

At the time the shipment is dispatched, an invoice must in every case be sent to Lampson & Co. and a duplicate to Alfred Fraser. This invoice should state:—

- (1) The number of parcels sent forward.
- (2) The serial number marked on each parcel.
- (3) The quantity of skins in each parcel.
- (4) The value of each skin.
- (5) The amount of insurance required.

Unless advised to the contrary, Lampson & Co. will insure, under their open policies, all shipments while in transit for invoice value plus 10 per cent. These policies give protection from the time the goods leave the shipper's possession until delivered to Lampson & Co. in London, and the rate of premium is most reasonable.

If it is not desired that Lampson & Co. should arrange insurance, it must in every case be clearly so stated on the invoice referred to above.

Skins may also be forwarded to London through one of the express companies. Shipments by express should be made in exactly the same way as by parcel post, except that the packages need not weigh less than 11 lbs. It is not necessary so far as the insurance is concerned to declare any value to the express companies.

You can't clean up the world with soap. It requires grit. "The only thing for you to do is to get around and ask her to forgive you." "But it was in the right." "You'd better take some flowers and candy with you, too."

to Montreal or that district. Its trail is in Prince Rupert, in Huntington, B. C., and it certainly can be found around Windsor.

It certainly can be found around Windsor and we know it is around the Niagara district. It is also on the Atlantic coast, but the central pivot point of it all, the veritable cesspool of it all, is in the great customs district of Montreal. I find running all through this thing like a slimy, evil influence the name of an individual Bisailon and I am going to examine a little into this man's record. It is well to start right in and to say who and what he is and what this Government has done with him. The worst of crooks, he is the intimate of ministers, the pet favorite of this Government. The recipient of a moderate salary, he rolls in wealth and opulence, a typical debauched and debauching public official.

Mr. Stevens: "Will the hon. gentleman permit me to say that that gentleman belongs to the Conservative party."

Mr. Stevens: "My good friend is pleased to have his joke."

Mr. Jacobs: "There is no joke about that. The joke is on you."

Mr. Stevens: "The joke is that this Government promoted this man after they had knowledge of his crimes, to what position? As chief of the preventive staff of the district of Montreal in Quebec."

"I care not whether he was a Conservative or what he was. He is a criminal and known crook. He was appointed first to the customs service, as nearly as I can learn in 1910. Where were the Grits of Montreal to let a Tory be appointed to the customs service in 1910. He had a junior position in the customs service and he was promoted by the Minister of Customs, not the present one, but his predecessor in 1921, to be chief preventive officer of Quebec."

Mr. Jacobs: "Where was he between 1911 and 1921?"

Government Knowledge.

Mr. Stevens: "From what I know of him I would say that he was in no good service. He was in mischievous from start to finish. If I can judge by this man's character, it is about it he lived a straight day during that whole period. Let me repeat to my hon. friend and other hon. members. I am not seeking to limit the evils of smuggling to the term of this Government's office. What I say is that for a year this Government has had intimate knowledge of it and that is what I am charging. This man has a farm on the boundary, on the Canadian side, and on the American side, a rendezvous of noted crooks and smugglers. He is the head of the chief smuggler of the ring, a purveyor and a thief. In the presence of a deputy and another witness this individual, asking to be appointed to a certain position, of a deputy to superior officers a bribe of $100 a week, not a casual little bribe that ended with the first offering but a steady salary addition of $100 a week. This was before he was chief preventive officer. This was reported to the Minister of the Crown and, subsequent to the report of that offer of a bribe, the same Minister of the Crown promoted him to the position of chief preventive officer of the district of Quebec. Bisailon offered a bribe for promotion, but no, this Government says keep your money to yourself, do not waste your money in that way, we will give you the position without any bribe, and they elected this arch smuggler, a sly and with rottenness and crime, into the most responsible position in the gift of the Government in the customs service of that province, into the most responsible position in the gift of this Government, in the Dominion of Canada, as far as opportunity for corruption, crookedness and graft was concerned, I am giving simply certain facts and I am going to ask the House to judge for itself.

Deal With Cases.

Mr. Stevens proceeded to deal with the case of the barge Tremblay, seized in Quebec by the officers of the Liquor Control Board. It was a case of the smuggling of $350,000 worth of liquor. Bisailon had arranged for the liquor to pass. After the seizure Bisailon had fled to his office on the barge out of the hands of the liquor control officers and was arrested and placed on trial. Still he was kept in the employ of the Government. He had received moneys of the Crown and had not remitted them. Although the Government knew this he was kept on.

Mr. Stevens took up the case of two women and accomplices arrested in connection with the seizure of trunks which had afterwards been stolen from the custody of officers presumably by Bisailon and another officer named Groux were implicated in this case. A colored man, Bud Harris, had intimidated he would squeal on the smuggling gang in Montreal and his body had been found in the Back Bay wired and weighted.

Mr. Stevens: "Do you wonder that I emphasized this, that with the knowledge of these things, with the knowledge of the character of this man Bisailon, with the knowledge of these activities of Groux and others, this Government prevented them in the office of last February with positive knowledge before them, and with equal knowledge of their rascality, put this man Bisailon in the premier office of the customs service, the Dominion of Canada?"

Mr. Stevens: "And then this Government comes to this House and asks for confidence. Yes, asks for an adjournment so that I can be prevented from investigating this matter before a parliamentary committee of this House."

Hon. E. M. Macdonald: "What are you talking about? Pure bunk."

Mr. Stevens: "Mr. Speaker, I hope you are not missing the eloquent language of the Minister of National Defence."

Mr. Speaker's rule to the effect that the word "bunk" was not parliamentary. The word "bunk" should say is certainly not in the King's English.

"Now I may be asked, what about this 'ready-made' smuggling? I want to say here on my responsibility as a member of this House that there is the most flagrant, organized, persistent, wholesale smuggling in the border towns along the province of Quebec and the American boundary, and again I say, go that the members from Quebec will not think I am picking on their province, but that the same thing, perhaps in a lesser degree, exists along the boundary in other places, but here, sir, we have it erected into a legalized traffic, a regular occupation or vocation, and with the individuals practicing it known to the Government, with

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of these "ready-made" cough remedies, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple, home-made cough syrup which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pine and Syrup, 1/2 ounce of Eucalypti, 1/2 ounce of Peppermint, 1/2 ounce of Cloves, 1/2 ounce of Nutmeg, 1/2 ounce of Cayenne, 1/2 ounce of Vanilla, 1/2 ounce of Sugar, 1/2 ounce of Gum Arabic, 1/2 ounce of Glycerine, 1/2 ounce of Water. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pine and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pine is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pine" and give most immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Mr. Lapolite—Then, again, my hon. friend is wrong. The Department of Justice has nothing to do with it. Mr. Stevens—The hon. Minister has no more rights in this House than I have. Mr. Speaker, I repeat that the Canadian Mounted Police, a body of men who have had the respect, the confidence and admiration of Canada for half a century have reported on these matters and I say to you and through you to this House that the Department of the Minister of Justice—not himself—his deputy, his officers having these things within their knowledge.

Has List of Names.

"I am well within this mark—millions of dollars. I could, sir, any man could, within a week have these men arrested, seize some of their effects and send you to secure some portion, some small portion of the funds of which this country has been defrauded. It is not a difficult task. I have under my hands a list of their names. I have them here. All of them? Yes, I have every last name, friends, supplied me, intimate associates of the Government of Canada. Mr. Lapolite—it is all right to speak of the Government collectively, but I do not know any man mentioned or suggested by my hon. friend tonight. I have never seen any of these men and I have never heard of them."

Mr. Stevens—Mr. Speaker, I have but one thing to say—An hon. member—Tell it.

Mr. Stevens—Yes, I will tell it to the Minister of Justice. With the reports that he has in his office, abundant reports, if he stands in his place in the House here and declares he has no knowledge of these things the rules of Parliament compel me to accept his word, but I say this, I would not dare to describe the simplicity of mind of an individual who could make a statement like that having the reports under his hands which he has.

Mr. Lapolite—My hon. friend is wrong. I notice that he had two motions for the production of papers concerning two cases mentioned in the report inquired from the offices of the Department of Justice and they say there is nothing in the department concerning those cases.

Mr. Stevens—Well, I know Mr. Speaker, what I am talking about.

To Move Amendment.

Hon. Lucien Cannon objected on a point of order that the discussion should not go on unless definite charges were adduced. Mr. Speaker Lemieux repeated a suggestion that the statements of Mr. Stevens were not pertinent to the motion before the House, but Mr. Stevens assured him he would have an amendment, which would satisfy the rules of the House. Mr. Stevens invited ministers who were not involved in the case to come out from his underbrush and be seen from the Government that was.

"Regular truck lines," continued Mr. Stevens, "daily, openly, brazenly, within the knowledge of everybody that lives in the community, pass backwards and forwards along border points. Liquor, also comes in, running into hundreds of millions of dollars of silks, yokes from the United States, coming not only in truck-loads, but in carloads; carloads of liquor going out and carloads of liquor also comes in, running into hundreds of millions of dollars of silks. I went into the question of silks quite recently, and it is estimated that from fifteen to twenty million dollars' worth of silks have passed through that port since the beginning of the year at the point each year on which there is a duty of 37 1/2 per cent, and there we have the sum of six, seven or eight million dollars, I am well within the mark when I speak of fifteen or twenty millions. I cannot estimate the cottons, nor can I estimate the value of them, although I expect to have one before long, of the amount of cotton goods being smuggled over."

"Let me say to my hon. friends of the labor party—I do not see them here, perhaps they are not interested—but the country is being flooded with cotton goods, chiefly with overalls and work shirts and such like, made in the penitentiaries and prisons of the United States, coming in as finished articles and being marketed by a ring of business men. I said a moment ago that they were known. If I read the list, there is scarcely an hon. gentleman on the Government benches who would not recognize every firm."

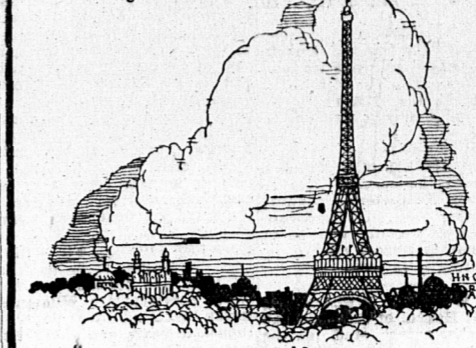

"The products of American fall birds, versus the products of Canadian workmen. To give an illustration, the other day a New York firm boasted of having received from a Canadian firm, the name of which I have under my hand, an order for $200,000 worth of cotton goods and not an ounce of it paid customs duty. There was absolutely no trace of a notion of paying the duty and not the slightest interference with it coming through, and, sir, I repeat that scores of millions of dollars worth of goods come in every year and the exchequer is defrauded of scores of millions of dollars as well."

"Now, Mr. Speaker, five of these firms were reported by the customs officer, who is a new broom and swept clean for a day or two, but there were no prosecutions. They have the records in their hands, but no prosecutions. Now do not let hon. members say to me that the Government did not know. I read the Prime Minister's statement a moment ago. They do know. They had during the last ten months' evidence by the hon. minister, by the business men and groups of business men before them telling them these things and pointing them out to them. The Prime Minister, eight or nine months ago stated, when pleading to this House to give them the vote of $350,000 that he knew that anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000,000 a year was lost through smuggling operations. I say that no prosecutions of any account have been conducted, and I charge the Minister of Justice and the Solicitor-General with the responsibility for carrying on prosecutions of this kind."

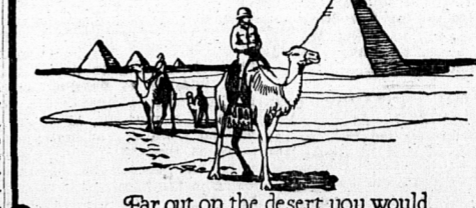

Mr. Lapolite—Then, again, my hon. friend is wrong. The Depart-
