THE SMALL GIRL WEARS A BLUE AND BLACK TUNIC
 ON THE STREET

The little girl, this season, wears a frock or coat which is an exact replica of her mother's, except that it is made on a very much abbreviated scale.
 The little skirt is of black satin, scalloped as to hemline. Only a few inches of this shows, for above it is a tunic of delicate blue kasha, edged with black satin.
 The same model would be lovely for summer in linen, blue and white, pink and white, or all in one color.

When a man is out of a job he can keep himself busy looking for work.
 For Sore Feet—Minnar's Lament.

The Restricted Area
 Stop - Look - Read

Is the Restricted Area plan worth while?
 Have you any doubts on this question?
 Read over the following points in its favor.
 (1) The inspection service is given free. The breeder is not charged one cent for this service. Compare this with a private test. What would be the cost of testing a herd of twenty cattle under a private test?
 (2) The test is continued free of charge. Retests are made at certain intervals in order to thoroughly eradicate disease and keep the herds clean.
 (3) Remuneration is paid the owner of cattle going down in the test to the extent of a maximum of 50 percent of their value for the best animal. The owner is also given the carcass when not generally affected. Could a more favorable opportunity be presented. A breeder who knew his animals were infected would want to get clear of them at any cost. Under this plan the diseased animals are disposed of at a profit.
 (4) The individual losses in cases of diseased animals are completely stopped.
 (5) The very great losses suffered in the swine industry, resulting from the feeding of diseased milk from diseased herds will be stopped.
 (6) The losses in poultry, fed or milk from diseased cattle will be curtailed.
 (7) Of greatest importance the danger of human beings contracting tuberculosis from the use of milk from diseased cattle will be entirely eliminated.
 (8) The value of our livestock will increase tremendously.
 (9) Our butter and cheese will command a premium on the market.
 (10) Our farm lands will increase in value.
 (11) Prince Edward Island will become a more desirable place for settlers and breeders. Interest in progressive animal husbandry in pure milk, pure butter, pure cheese, pure meat, chicken, etc. will these not be an attraction to summer visitors, especially those with families of children.
 (12) A Restricted Area for Prince Edward Island means better

Waiting for "Something to Turn Up"

Industrial Eastern Canada is languishing for lack of Canadian population.
 President Beatty of the C. P. R., declares that only more people on the soil can bring Canadian prosperity.
 Sir Henry Thornton announces that until immigration is stimulated, Canada must languish.
 Premier Mackenzie King and his advisors, day in and day out, preach immigration.
 Population, they all say, is the one remedy; in fact the urgent need for immigration has become an axiom in Canadian life.
 ... But how, when and by whom is immigration to be promoted?
 Have any of these gentlemen made any real, definite, concrete move to bring the required, thousands to Canada?
 The truth is that like the genteel Mr. Micawber, our railroads, industrial Canada and official Ottawa are simply "waiting for something to turn up." Meanwhile, the industries and people of Canada, like the children of Mr. Micawber, are getting shiny in the elbows, ragged at the cuffs and hollow at the stomachs.
 Promotion of California as a national playground, during the past 10 years, has raised the population of Los Angeles from 319,198 to a round million people lying in Los Angeles banks today are $780,000,000 of free capital.
 Vigorous promotion of Florida's charms, during the past two years, has raised the population of Miami from 29,571 to 111,000, and other cities and towns of the State are on the move. Florida has just commenced. Her cycle of boom will last another ten years.

Both Florida and California have been transformed from desert wastes into rich populous countries bursting with wealth.
 And that transformation has been accomplished by the energy and initiative of California and Florida people who have gone out and circussed the attractions of their States to the whole North American continent.
 These millions of people and these hundreds of millions of wealth that have been drawn in, may have been creatures of a boom. But even though a certain percentage of California's expansion has been of the mushroom variety, the great balance has been good, solid, permanent growth.
 By whatever means and by whatever devices, California and Florida have been tremendously successful in attracting wealth and population. California's population is half that of the whole Dominion of Canada. Her annual production is actually greater than that of the Dominion of Canada.
 And what has Canada been doing while California and Florida have been turning themselves from desolate camps into rich teeming cities, by their own promotion and salesmanship?
 Nothing.
 While California and Florida have been creating their own fortunes, official Canada has been sitting, vacuously, Micawberlike, "waiting for something to turn up."
 And yet Canada has the most wonderful latent field for promotion that the world has ever seen, not for retired plutes, but for young virile soil-workers who are the backbone of any nation.

Beside the legitimate advertising promotion potentialities of the Maritimes, all the blistering sunshine and orange groves of California and Florida look sick.
 What California and Florida have done for themselves by attracting tourists and wealth, Ottawa can do for the Maritimes by using Prince Edward Island as a super-attraction to draw farmers and settlers into the Maritimes.
 California and Florida may be creaming North America of its wealthy class. Canada, with the colorful, irresistible Maritime magnet, can cream the world for the short-legged, broad-backed fellow who digs into the soil with his horny hands and creates the only real, permanent kind of prosperity for any country.
 But that influx will never occur so long as official Ottawa sits back on its calloused haunches waiting for something to turn up.
 Promotion of the Maritimes is Canada's one big hope for renewed life. Such legitimate advertising promotion would inject the same new vigor into this Dominion as was injected when Sir Clifford Sifton threw open and boomed the prairie provinces.
 And what Sifton did for Canada with the prairie provinces can be repeated today, not by lolling back in an easy chair and waiting for a compassionate God to send down population, but by actually turning loose one or two real live colonizers who, with Prince Edward Island as their drawing card, will sell Maritimes to the farmers of the world.
 The way to bring those people in is written in the recent history of California and Florida. It is a simple recipe—
GO AND GET THEM !!!
