Bird In A Gilded Cage

EXILED FROM her war-torn European kingdom, Princess Maria, Olivia de Havilland, feels as lonely and confined as the canary which chirps in the cage above her head. Unable to stand it she frees the bird, and she herself is freed by a dashing pilot, Eddie O'Rourke, and the link between the old world and the new is forged in Warner Bros. "Princess O'Rourke."

The ravaged world needs the RED CROSS

AGAIN, War and his fellow horsemen—Famine, Pestilence and Death—are trampling underfoot millions of innocent victims. From battle-scarred areas across the world, the piteous cry goes up: Help us, or we perish! Parents bereft and destitute... children orphaned and starving... millions of the helpless, scourged by hunger and disease. The need for food, clothing, medical supplies... for the merciful ministrations of the Red Cross... is appalling in its starkness and extent. For these, too, YOUR Red Cross bespeaks YOUR dollars. As war intensifies, its victims multiply. The work of mercy widens. Give Generously.
