

ELECTION ODDITIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(CP)—New York City's one-man precinct, Rabbi Nathan Wolf, cast his vote today in the barber shop designated as a polling place for him alone.

Rabbi Wolf comprises the 40th election district because of a quirk in geographical lines.

It costs New York City about $500 to register his ballot, but until the polls close tonight no one will know how he did vote.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 3—(CP)—Mrs. N. Rice, 194, designated last year by a foundation as "America's oldest mother," braved the rain today to vote for President Roosevelt.

HIGHSTOWN, N.J., Nov. 3—(CP)—Mrs. Lydia Everingham, who will be 101 in another month, cast her first ballot today. The widow of a civil war veteran, she said she voted the straight Republican ticket.

LAKE WALES, Fla., Nov. 3—(CP)—Five bunches were served to voters in the Lake Wales precinct today. The Roosevelt club of Lake Wales, as an incentive to bringing out the voters, barbecued a steer.

WOODBURY, N.J., Nov. 3—(CP)—Things got off to a fast start in the third ward here today. The polling place was in the firehouse. Election board members hung their hats and coats on the firewagon and on the running board they placed piles of ballot forms.

An alarm had come in and the truck was roaring out when the board members discovered their plight. Down the street the fire engine roared, followed by shouting officials. The engine was stopped two blocks away.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(CP)—LMS in the United States capital today was unique among communities of the land. Six hundred thousand people do not have a vote.

Seventy square miles and not a ballot box. The promised land of politicians and not a candidate's free cigar. Incidentally the capital is about the only place in the country where you can buy a drink today.

Premier King Commends Home Improvement Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 3—(CP)—Receipt of a message from Prime Minister Mackenzie King commending the Home Improvement Plan was announced today by Arthur B. Purvis, Chairman of the National Employment Commission.

Mr. King's message was: "I am delighted to hear that the Home Improvement Plan is meeting with such an encouraging reception. The breadth of the plan, its fine objectives, its potentialities for good and, finally, its eminent feasibility will appeal to the idealism as well as the practical, clear-headedness of the Canadian people."

A program which simultaneously gives employment and hope to the workless and provides brighter, better, happier homes, is indeed one to enlist the most generous support and co-operation of all Canadian citizens. The Home Improvement Plan is a direct constructive attack on unemployment. It brings to bear the power of determined co-operative effort and such effort, if sustained and continued, must succeed.

I commend the Home Improvement Plan of the National Employment Commission to the Canadian people, and I feel sure its fine purpose, generous terms and eminent fairness will appeal to all.

De Valera Says Relations With Britain Remain

DUBLIN, Nov. 3—(CP)—President Lamont De Valera tonight announced terms of the new Irish Free State constitution, limited for the time being to domestic affairs with the question of relations with Britain and the Empire relegated for subsequent decision.

There will be a new senate, he told the annual Fianna Fail party convention here, "so as to bring in people who will have a slightly different attitude from those in the first senate."

Referendums will be held "on matters that fundamentally affect the constitution," he announced. "It is not our intention for the moment," he said, "to change existing relations (with Britain and the Empire) insofar as use is made of the same machinery by Canada, Australia and New Zealand in the field of external affairs."

Legion Poppy Sale Now On

The usual sale of poppy wreaths is now well under way in the city, through the kindness and ready co-operation of the Ladies of the Auxiliary of the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

On Saturday next some sixty-four girls of the city schools will commence a house to house sale of the Poppy—the Flower of Remembrance.

This sale will continue until Monday night, and it is felt that these young ladies will be as usual kindly received by our citizens, who are again reminded that every cent made through the sale of wreaths and poppies is applied to the relief of returned soldiers, who are either now physically in need or out of employment. Therefore, meet the girls with a smile and readily buy and wear the Flower of Remembrance at Armistice Day.

Throughout the world, wherever the Union Jack flies, this sale of poppies is being carried on for the same purpose, under the auspices of the British Empire Service League, which was founded by the late beloved Earl Haig, and of which the Canadian Legion is a component part.

HIS BACKACHE WAS UNBEARABLE

Kruschen Brought Him Relief from Pain

This man of 31 was prematurely aged by backache, when he should have been enjoying the best years of his life. Here he tells how Kruschen helped to restore him to health, after months of pain.

"I was in hospital for ten weeks, owing to kidney trouble. When I was discharged I felt like an old man, although I am only 31. If I stooped to do anything it was agony to straighten up again. Several people advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I tried them and found they gave me relief from pain and I felt better in every way. I cycle 28 miles a day to and from work, and shall keep up the daily dose of Kruschen because I can now do the journey to and from work and not feel any worse for it."—S.V.C.

Landon Had Meteoric Rise In Politics

By The Canadian Press ALFRED M. LANDON Smiling Alf M. Landon's nomination as the Republican party's presidential candidate climaxed a meteoric political career. It was not until 1928 that he became the party's state chairman in his home state of Kansas but four years later, despite a Democratic landslide in the state, he was elected Governor over Harry H. Woodring, seeking re-election.

In 1934 he was the only Republican Governor in the United States to be re-elected in the face of the swing to the Democratic party. The national spotlight fell on his Kansas administration as the Republicans sought a presidential candidate. At the Cleveland convention he won the nomination on the first ballot without ever declining publicly he was a candidate.

Forty-eight years old, Landon was born in the Methodist parsonage of his maternal grandfather, Rev. William H. Mossman, at West Middlesex, Pa. His parents were John Landon of New England ancestry and Anne Herdman Mossman.

In 1904 the Landons moved to Independence, Kas., and Alf, as he always signed himself, entered the University of Kansas, graduating from the law school in 1908. But it was oil that interested Landon.

In 1912 young Landon started in business for himself in Northern Oklahoma. He was credited with being a shrewd trader and scrupulously honest. It was not long before he made a comfortable fortune.

Landon enlisted in the army but the war ended three months later and he returned to Independence and the oil business.

The year 1930 was the turning point in Landon's political destiny. Over-production of oil sent prices sagging and Landon became a director of the Independent Oil Association. His activities drew him further into politics and ended in his winning the nomination for Governor of Kansas in 1932.

As head of the state he followed a policy of retrenchment and he became known as "Kansas Coolidge."

As presidential candidate he campaigned vigorously, criticizing the spending the Roosevelt administration and urging economies in national government. He pleaded for the "American way" of life.

CAREER OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

(By The Canadian Press) FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt was a household word throughout the United States 30 years ago when Franklin Delano Roosevelt was finishing his education at Harvard and Columbia law school. He was a kinsman of Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt, then serving the second of two four-year terms as Republican President. "F. D." was born in 1882.

Theodore and Franklin were both descendants of the Van Roosevelts who came from Holland to the new world in 1649. Despite the kinship Franklin was drawn into politics as a Democrat. But his career paralleled that of the fighting "T.R." from New York State legislature to presidency. They both served as Governor of New York.

F. D. Roosevelt was defeated for the vice-presidency in 1920 when he ran with James M. Cox against the Republican Harding-Coolidge ticket. One year later his career was interrupted by infantile paralysis from which he partially recovered.

He created a sensation in New York's Madison Square Garden in 1924, appearing on crutches to nominate Alfred E. Smith for President.

The present election brought a parting of the ways for Roosevelt and Smith, the latter disagreeing with the President on the "New Deal."

In the 1928 elections, Roosevelt was elected Governor of New York, but Smith was defeated for the presidency by Herbert Hoover, Republican. He was nominated for president against Hoover in 1932. Roosevelt rode to the White House on a landslide.

The Democratic popular vote was 22,821,857; the Republican 15,761,841.

Roosevelt escaped an assassin's bullet at Miami, Fla., early in 1933 and was sworn in as President March 4. He called a special session of congress, startled the country by declaring a long "bank holiday" and set up various agencies to stimulate industry and employment. Wine and beer were legalized as a prelude to prohibition repeal.

Throughout 1934 and 1935 he pushed his reform measures through congress. When the Supreme Court invalidated the national recovery act, blanket authority for the "new deal," he launched other measures to carry on. His works relief bill approximating $4,880,000,000 was put through.

Roosevelt and Garner were unanimously renominated at the 1936 Democratic national convention in Philadelphia. In his acceptance speech the President denounced "economic royalists" and throughout the campaign he declared the fight against depression was won with the "new deal."

Island Premier Attends Dominion Provincial Parley

OTTAWA, Nov. 3—(CP)—A problem that has faced succeeding generations of lawmakers since Confederation was under consideration here today by representatives of seven provinces who met at the call of Secretary of State Fernand Rinfret to study means of attaining more uniform company laws. Quebec and British Columbia were not represented although invitations had been sent to all the provinces.

Hon. Thane Campbell, youthful Premier of Prince Edward Island, who holds the portfolios of attorney general and provincial secretary, was the only premier present. In the majority of cases the provinces sent their deputy provincial secretaries or deputy attorneys general or both.

At the Dominion Provincial Conference last December it was unanimously agreed more uniform company laws in the Dominion should be sought and the Secretary of State was instructed to summon this conference so that some progress might be made toward that end. In his welcoming address today Mr. Rinfret said the return of prosperity would render it even more desirable that the Dominion and provinces agree on a uniform set of corporate business regulations which would stimulate industry while providing every safeguard to all concerned.

The sessions opened this morning and are being held in private. A statement will be issued at the week

PRESBYTERY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Presbytery of Prince Edward Island held its annual meeting yesterday in Zion Church, Charlottetown. A large attendance was present and a heavy dossier business was disposed of.

The resignation of Rev. V. Orsborn from the New London Church was accepted that he might be free to accept an appointment to the First Church, Moncton.

A hearty and unanimous vote from the Brookfield congregation addressed to Rev. Howard Dolg was sustained as a regular gospel call.

At a congregational meeting held in Alberton recently it was decided to ask Rev. H. G. Grutz to supply that congregation for the next six months. The Presbytery accordingly appointed Mr. Grutz for that time specified.

The congregation of Caledonia, asking to have student supply for the winter months, Rev. G. Webster, interim moderator, secured the best student possible for the field.

The budget report was given by Rev. T. Owen Hughes, convener of the budget committee. The amounts contributed at this date are not so large as the amounts contributed at this same date last year. A large number of the congregations had fallen into the habit of leaving the paying of the budget allocations until the end of the financial year which is January 31st.
