On Saturday evening, June 29th, a large number of parents and pupils motored to the teacher's home in Stanchel. This surprise meeting was called to order by Mr. Dan Buchanan, and an address was read by Mrs. J. J. MacLeod, and a lovely gift presented to the teacher by Mrs. Lisa Abbott.

Following is the address:

Bradalbane, P.E.I.
Mr. Dr. Lester Cairns:

Dear teacher—The raters and pupils of Bradalbane rural school have come here tonight to endeavor to convey to you our appreciation of your services as our teacher for the last three years. To the pupils you have been patient and painstaking; to the parents, frank and courteous, and the welfare of the school and the school district has always been your first consideration.

We trust that although you are going to teach in another school, that you will find time to remember old friendships, and visit us when convenient. We would ask you to accept this small gift, not for its intrinsic value but as a small memento of the pleasant relations we have enjoyed in the years you have been among us.

We wish you many successful years in your chosen profession and trust God may greatly bless your efforts among the children, for as the twig is bent so the tree is inclined.

Though the lapse of years can change cherished friendships to deceit. After all, within its range, We're your friends wherever we are.

Signed on behalf of pupils and raters of Bradalbane Rural School.

Further complimentary remarks were made by a number of those present. The teacher in a few words thanked the pupils and raters for their kindness. This was followed by singing "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow."

The remainder of the evening was spent in music and games. The happy event was brought to a close by singing "O Canada" (Patriot please copy)

The Shooting Of William Tanner

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire)
HALIFAX, July 12—The story of how William Tanner of Lunenburg was killed by a Police Bullet while the R. C. M. P. Cutter Acadia was chasing the run-ship Lucky Peggy of Cross Island in May was told at the preliminary hearing of 11 Maritimers charged with conspiracy in an alleged $5,000,000 liquor smuggling ring.

"If I had been able to overtake her I would never have used my gun," said Captain John C. Kelly, master of the Acadia, one of three witnesses called by prosecutor H. P. MacKeen, K. C.

Captain Kelly also told of Colin Chisholm, Halifax, one of the accused, offering him a bribe $200 in 1930 if he would "stay in port." "Bed" young, who accompanied Chisholm, had indicated that the bribe would be raised to $400, but he had refused both offers, the witness said.

J. A. McKenna, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Bear River, told of business transacted by Genos Sanford, Clementsport, and L. A. Ritcey, Riverport, two of the accused.

Documents bearing the names of Woughby Ritcey, Lower LaHave; Milton Gerhardt, Riverport; B. O. Johnson, Halifax and Thomas Rossiter, Halifax, all accused, were produced for identification by R. C. Mitchell, Manager of the Bank of Montreal, at Riverport.

The documents were seized by Royal Canadian Mounted Police during their investigation before a blanket warrant was issued against the nine Nova Scotians and two Prince Edward Islanders. Captain Kelly was the first to testify when the hearing was resumed in the afternoon. He told of sighting the Tessie and Aubrey on August 3, 1933, when the motor vessel Muir arrived and transferred 400 kegs to the Tessie.

Again on Aug. 6, the Acadia stood by the Tessie off the coast and watched the Muir put provisions aboard later, he said. The Nashwaak arrived and loaded 400 kegs from the Tessie. The Acadia followed the Nashwaak as far as Egg Island, Halifax county.

In May, 1935, Captain Kelly was on the Acadia off Cross Island when the Lucky Peggy was seized.

W. G. Ernest, M. P. one of the defence counsel, declared the Lucky Peggy had not been contacted by any of the evidence with the run traffic and the fitness continued subject to objection.

"I received instruction to go to a point off Cross Island. I proceeded to this position and encountered the Muir. I approached the Muir. The Lucky Peggy was at her starboard side."

The captain then told of halting the Muir to halt in the King's name. When she failed to respond to his order he said the Acadia opened fire on her but only one shot was fired before the machine gun struck.

While this was taking place the Acadia's searchlight was played continually upon the Muir and the Lucky Peggy. The Lucky Peggy started to escape by running around the stern of the Acadia. The Acadia swung around in pursuit and opened fire. Later it was found that one of the men on the Lucky Peggy, William Tanner, had been shot.

The witness said 142 kegs and 22 cases of liquor were found on the Lucky Peggy.

Questioned by Mr. Ernest, the captain said he had fired 11 shots which were fired from the Acadia at the time of the tragedy. He had shot at the kegs to scare the run-runners, into stopping.

"I couldn't see anyone," he declared.

The witness said he believed Tanner had been killed by a bullet that ricocheted. Tanner has been found dead in the Wheel-House.

Asked about the speed of the cutter and the Lucky Peggy, Captain Kelly said the Acadia usually did about 10 knots. He did not know the run-runners' speed but she was getting away from the Acadia at the time the shots were fired.

Do you know what speed the Lucky Peggy can do?
A—No, I have no idea. If I had been able to overtake her I would never have used my gun.

Asked if he had hoisted a pennant as a signal for the Luck Peggy to heave to and if he was aware that such a pennant was necessary according to regulations of the sea, the witness said he knew of some such regulation but no pennant had been set by the government.

Q—As a matter of fact the pennant has to be set by the governor-in-council and the government has never got around to it.
A—That's right.

Canada a Producer of Radium

Canada is the sole producer of radium in the British Empire. The finding of large deposits of pitchblende or uraninite at Great Bear Lake, N. W. T., which ore is one of the principal sources of radium, is a discovery of major importance in the mineral history of Canada, this not alone because of its economic value, but because radium plays a vital part in the modern treatment of cancer. The Great Bear Lake deposit was first discovered by Gilbert LaBine and Charles St. Paul, who flew there on a prospecting expedition in 1930.

Pitchblende has been known to the world since 1771, and was first discovered in Bohemia. It was called pitchblende because of its appearance—a brownish to velvet black colour and of pitchy lustre. The radio-active properties of pitchblende are of special interest. It was not until 1898, following Rutherford's analysis, that the discovery was made that it contains the element uranium. The fact that pitchblende is more strongly radio-active than metallic uranium led to the discovery in it of the elements radium, polonium and actinium. When pitchblende is ignited or dissolved in diluted sulphuric acid, a gas is evolved which consists largely of helium and argon. Terrestrial helium was first recognized in this manner.

Radium is by far the most valuable, the most rare and the most

A TRIBUTE TO DR. OLIVER

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire)
TORONTO, July 12—In the Absence of the Moderator of the United Church of Canada, Dr. Richard Roberts, who is in England, the Deputy Moderator, Dr. T. Albert Moore, issued the following tribute to Dr. Rev. H. H. Oliver, former Moderator, who died at Round Lake, Sask., yesterday.

"The United Church of Canada is greatly bereaved in the death of Dr. Oliver. His Moderatorship was during the period of great distress in Western Canada as well as at a time of serious suffering throughout the church caused by the depression. His leadership gave heart to the whole church and greatly strengthened her to meet her obligations. No minister was more beloved. None will be more seriously missed."

Afghan Hound Tricks The Customs

SYDNEY, July 12—The first Afghan hound ever to be imported into Australia, and valued herself at more than 500 dollars, Sarkhunda 21 Kabul has made canine history in Sydney by presenting her owners, while still in quarantine, with a litter of eight puppies, valued altogether at more than $1500.00.

Incidentally, Sarkhunda played a pretty trick on the Customs Department. Heavy duty had to be paid on her when she was imported, but she managed the birth of her progeny so well that any Customs payment was obviated.
