Comb Sage Tea In Faded Or Gray Hair

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Watch Your Step Everyone of us has some one who stands on watch and tells us when danger approaches. When your eyes become tired and exhausted, there is a mental guide which says to you above the tones of your daily existence. "Watch your step." You cannot do so if your sight is not perfect. True, you may wear glasses, but are they up-to-date? They may look fit from the outside and still be only partly correct. Don't be forced to watch your step in this matter. SHOP from Holman's Catalog... ROBIN HOOD FLOUR. Wholesale and Retail, Holman's Summerside. 761 1616... NEW CHIEF OUT.—The new chief of police for Summerside made his first appearance on duty on Saturday, Mr. John Todd acted as special police officer until Saturday. AMATEUR PLAY.—The St. Paul Dramatic Club will present a drama entitled "Home Came Ted" in three acts in the Capitol Theatre, Summerside on Monday April 13. There will be specialties between acts. The proceeds will be for the new chapel in St. Mary's Academy. PULPIT EXCHANGE.—The morning and evening services in the Methodist Church, Summerside were taken by Rev. Angus Gillis, Malpeque. Rev. Mr. Gillis preached excellent sermons at both services. Rev. Mr. Boothroyd, pastor of the Summerside Methodist church supplied for Rev. Mr. Gillis in Malpeque.

PRIME EASTER BEEF.—There is on sale in the meat shop of Keir Clark, Kensington a carcass of beef that, completely dressed, weighed 775 lbs. The animal from which the meat was developed was a three year old heifer, fed by Mr. Major Taylor, Hamilton. The meat is of fine texture and delicate tenacity, and would almost tempt one to wish that there were not so many fast days this season. The depth of fat over the kidneys is eleven inches actual measurement. The dressing was done by that adept of the knife, Mr. Thomas Gorman and the quality of the work adds to the appearance of the product. The whole effect is such as to induce conviction that Prince Edward Island can produce as fine beef as can be obtained anywhere on the North American continent.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY To Mrs. A. D. MacDonald and Family, Forest Hill, P. E. I. Dear Mrs. MacDonald:—At such a time as this words of sympathy seem to fall from the lips of the pen powerless to appease. That benign virtue seems to render up its gracious gift and stand self-rebuked before a soul which calls for silence and retreat. Far be it from us to add the smallest note that would aggravate your grief or in the least lay our hands on a wound that will but sorely heal; but as representing the Lodge to which our late brother belonged we feel we cannot let this occasion pass without adding a feeble word of appreciation and of would-be consolation. While he was with us we appreciated his sterling qualities and his fraternal characteristics, and now that he has gone, our grief is ours, but we sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. Though in your home there is a vacant chair, and though in your heart there is an aching void, yet there is "a friend who never changes whose love can never die." Realizing the weakness our strength and our need of dependence on the Divine we would commit you unto the kindly and loving care of Him who loved us and gave Himself for us. "In His keeping you are safe indeed, and with the Great Master of Eternity he whom you loved long since, and lost awhile" dwells in the golden palace of the soul where there is "no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away." FOR LATE WESTERN NEWS page 3 is available. NETS OUT—Gallant Bros. Summerside have fifteen nets out for herring, outside the lighthouse in Summerside harbor. No herring have been reported as yet. DOUBLE FUNERAL.—There were two funerals to St. Paul's Church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, that of Mrs. Mary DesRoches and also that of Miss Eliza Connolly. High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. John J. Macdonald, Rev. George McCabe officiated at the grave. MUCH IMPROVED.—A host of friends will be delighted to learn that Mrs. Emmanuel F. Gaudet, Wellington, has returned home from the Prince County Hospital, improved in health, after a serious operation. Mrs. Gaudet speaks in the most complimentary terms of the attention and treatment given her by the Hospital staff and is also deeply grateful to her Summerside friends for so many courtesies extended during her illness at the hospital. PERSONALS Mr. Justice Arseneault left Summerside Friday evening for Charlottetown. Mr. Creelman MacArthur, M. L. A. returned to Summerside from Charlottetown Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Aeneas Macdonald returned to Summerside Saturday evening after a week's visit in Charlottetown and Vernon River. Misses Jean Corcoran and Angelina Sharbell, students of the Summerside Business College, have returned to Summerside after a pleasant visit with the former's parents in Plussville. ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION A large number of his fellow-citizens assembled at the home of Mr. Stanley Bernard, Kensington, on Monday evening March 20, to take cognizance of the fact that he had decided to depart from our own fair land to resume activities abroad. Mr. William S. Delaney very capably discharged the duties of chairman. Mr. Alexander Hiltz, in tones clear and inspired with profound feeling read the following address: Stanley Bernard Esq., Kensington, Dear Friend: Learning that you are about to remove from our midst for a time, to take up your abode in the United States, your friends of the continuing Presbyterian Church of Kensington, have assembled here this evening to express briefly their sincere regrets occasioned by your departure. You have given your highest support to the best interests of our church in time of our efforts to maintain our Presbyterian form of worship. You have taken an active and kindly interest in all our church work especially in the Sabbath School of which you were our valued Secretary and Treasurer. You shall miss you in all our social activities, as a member of our choir and of our Board of management. As a neighbor you have been highly esteemed by all. As a citizen you have taken an active interest in the civic affairs of our Town, having occupied the position of Councillor in which capacity you performed your part faithfully and well. We now ask you to accept this gift as a slight token of our regard for you. Wish you good health and prosperity during your absence. Signed on behalf of your Friends: Mr. Bernard, with that candor and sincerity for which his whole life is characteristic acknowledged the even with becoming grace, and with unmistakable deep appreciation in language that applied conformed to the feelings that permeated his being, he ardently thanked his friends for this evident cognizance of social congeniality. He expressed the keen sense of worth that the kind friends had shown, in giving him this kind remembrance to store in the mind when he should be far removed from the sphere of their edifying companionship and placed among conditions where, too often, material prestige is required to attain recognition. But Mr. Bernard's buoyant with the hope that he will find abroad conditions that, when properly understood and correctly used may be turned to advantage. The remainder of the evening was spent in social achievement. Eloquent though brief speeches were made by Messrs. Tyrill Sample, Alexander Hiltz and Jas. F. Proffit. The chorus, "God be with you till we meet again," Mrs. Ella Jardine very capably presided at the organ, and in addition sang some beautiful selections. The event terminated with the expression of many good wishes for Mr. Bernard's success abroad, and singing "God Save the King."—Y.

(Continued from Page 7) OF COWS THAT ARE ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM TUBERCULAR DISEASE." What an advertisement that would be for the dairy products of the island. Again, take the sale of dairy cattle. It is a pleasure to say to the rest of Canada "WE CAN ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEE THAT YOU WILL GET DISEASE FREE CATTLE IN OUR PROVINCE" you can see, Mr. Speaker, what effect it would have! I hope that every member of this House will, upon every opportunity bring this matter to the attention of the farmers and lead them to see the benefit to be derived therefrom. The Department of Agriculture has taken up the matter with the Department at Ottawa and we have the assurance that we will be the next time the list provided we comply with the conditions.

Departmental Activities I am sorry the member for Summerside is not now in his seat. He asked me what had done anything in the Department of Agriculture during the past year. We have done some things that were not done for two or three years before, and very useful and important things they are. In the first place, after I took over the Department I looked around to see what was under my control and I found up in the Agricultural Building on Fitzroy Street, a magnificent incubator. Being naturally inquisitive, I asked what that was. They told me it belonged at one time to the co-operative store, Canadian Farm Products. It had been bought for the people of this Province to hatch chickens in, but it hadn't been used. I said "Can't you put it to work?" I got after Mr. Lightizer and Mr. Jones of the Egg and Poultry Association. They agreed to try it out if we would help them. I promised them the assistance of the Department, so far as we were reasonably able to assist. Labor they came to us and said they could buy the incubator for a certain sum of money. Now there was a certain amount of money in the Department for that purpose, which had been put there through the sale of another instrument of the same kind, and we turned that money over to them. Mr. Lightizer asked, "What will happen if we make a failure of it? Will you guarantee our losses up to a reasonable amount?" I asked what he thought would be a reasonable amount, and Mr. Lightizer suggested a guarantee to the extent of three hundred dollars. I consulted my colleagues, secured their consent, and agreed to the proposition. I just happen to have here the results of the operation of that machine during the past year, and I may say that we did not have to pay the three hundred dollars. I have a letter here from Mr. Jones, assistant manager of the Egg and Poultry Association. I don't need to read it all, but he says: "I beg to advise you that the hatching season is now over and all things considered we did a satisfactory business, handling approximately 30,000 dozens of eggs. Enclosed is a financial statement up to June 30th. After allowing for all expenses there is a credit balance of $136.98. On behalf of the Association and the members of the egg circles I have to thank you for your helpful interest and the very valuable assistance rendered by your Department in getting the hatchery under way." That is one of the things the Department of Agriculture has done that was not done before.

MR. McARTHUR: Glad to hear it. HON. MR. MYERS: I can tell the hon. gentlemen something else. In the western end of the Province there was a machine known as a clover huller, a very fine machine, too. This clover huller was bought on October 14th 1924, and after the Bell Government came into power, they bought it and paid out ten hundred and fifty odd dollars for that machine, and it was allowed to stand idle, as the member for O'Leary knows very well. We put the machine to work and I am proud to be able to tell this House that in that section of the Western end of the Province it has been of great service to them. They put over 1,000 pounds of seed through that machine during the past year, and they are only getting the first crop in the Department of Agriculture we have been gathering up during the past year, the loose ends that have been dropped by our predecessors. (Applause.) P. W. C. Third Year Course The Leader of the Opposition made a statement yesterday; I do not know whether he had considered it well before he made it or not, but in any walk or calling of life it is a wise thing for a man to think things over and speak and act afterwards. Don't reverse it or you will get into trouble. He spoke about the revenue that could be derived from third year students at Prince of Wales College. When I began to think over that suggestion and some other remarks he has made in the House, I came to the conclusion that the Leader of the Opposition was not very conversant with conditions as they prevail throughout sections of this Province. Perhaps, as was told him by the members for Summerside (Mr. McArthur), he doesn't know as much about the conditions of country life as the member for Summerside. I will believe it. It is good to see our farmers ambitious for the welfare of their boys and girls, and to see them desirous of giving their children the best education possible. We can give just as good a third year course in Prince of Wales College as anywhere else. It means a great struggle to support children up to seventeen and then send them to college for two or three years; it means a great sacrifice on the part of parents, and when then hon. Leader of the Opposition seeks to put a high fee on them, that would prohibit them from taking this course, I think he is suggesting a very unwise plan indeed. MR. SAUNDERS: That is the third year I referred to. They have a good standing when they have a second year's course. HON. MR. MYERS: They have a better standing when they have their year. I was just curious to know what percentage of those who take the highest place come from the country. MR. SAUNDERS: If my hon. friend is logical what is his answer? It naturally would follow that we should give a four and five years' course, that of the students making the highest rank of all in Prince of Wales College during those years, five came from the country districts. Not too bad a showing after all. (Applause.) I do not intend to enter upon a discussion of the public highways. That has been very well dealt with by the Minister of Public Works. I just made a note of those famous alder bushes on the Western Road referred to by the Leader of the Opposition. I remember too the fact that my hon. friend broke four springs out of his Studebaker car last summer. Well, I can scarcely credit that story about the alder bushes, because a man who was driving fast enough to break four springs out of a Studebaker car would not be in a position to know alder bushes from burdocks. (Laughter.)

Prohibition Enforcement Reference was also made to the administration of the Prohibition law in our Province. While the Leader of the Opposition did not say very much and while he did not level very much criticism at the Government, I just want to point out that in my opinion the Prohibition law has been better administered during the past year than it has been for several years past, and I think I can submit figures to prove it. MR. SAUNDERS: How much did you sell last year compared with the other years? HON. MR. MYERS: If I were able to show how much was sold would you be able to show how much you drank? (Laughter.) MR. SAUNDERS: If you find your task as easy as mine, I would be glad to read mine. HON. MR. MYERS: I was just about to read mine. MR. SAUNDERS: I can conclude mine by one word. HON. MR. MYERS: I have in my hands a report of the Police Court of Charlottetown. It is well known that the Government has no control over the Police Court; they are not our judges, and they are not administering the law in administering the law in the interest of the city. I have a report from Mayor McKenna, a man whose veracity no one will dare question and what do we find, a decrease in revenue and a corresponding decrease in convictions. HON. MR. MYERS: In 1924, a reduction of forty six, the lowest number of convictions for any year recorded on the Police records. Compared with the average yearly convictions, that was a reduction of fifty-three percent. That is all I have to say with reference to the administration of the Prohibition law, and I believe that everything has been done along this line to safeguard the interests of the Province. Something was said by the Leader of the Opposition about Government House and about the arrangements that had been made, I presume in regard to rental. I don't want to raise anything controversial along that line, but we have settled, I may say, and that is more than my hon. friends did. They were four years in power and the question stood open; it was a constant tussle between the Bell Government and ex-Governor McKinnon. We paid that bill as we paid a great many other accounts and bills passed over and laid aside by them. MR. SAUNDERS: Because they were improper. HON. MR. MYERS: Whether proper or improper, you forgot them. But I am proud to say that since we took charge every one of your old accounts have been up before the Council; their debts thoroughly gone into and wherever we found that there was a liability upon the province that liability was discharged. We have paid the rent of the Government to the end of 1923, and I want my hon. friend to get this into his head, that in 1924, the rent was not paid, neither will there be again, so far as we are concerned. He wants to know what we are to do with Government House. He has offered no suggestion as what he thinks should be done. He leads us into the dark, but he doesn't lead us out. MR. SAUNDERS: I will settle that in two years, when we get into power. HON. MR. MYERS: He will have to wait a longer time than that. His chances of getting back in two years are very vague indeed. So far as I have ever had to do with the Leader of the Opposition, he holds out no hope for the future, and he has no policy ready. He appears to live in the past, to be continually looking behind him. Sometimes I fear that the same fate may overtake my hon. friend as that which overtook Lot's wife when she was turned into a pillar of salt. We all know that the past fourteen years, since 1911, have been years that were filled

Are you using the wonderful KING COLE TEA

Sold by Grocers everywhere KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE "EXTRA" in Choice Tea with stirring things. More history has been crowded into the period since 1911 than in any other like period since the beginning of time. During that time elections have been fought and won, governments have gone down to defeat, thrones, kingdoms and empires have been overthrown and the greatest war on record began and ended, leaving in its wake a trail of conditions that have challenged the minds of the ablest statesmen and the brightest financiers of the world, and they have been unable to grapple with the stupendous problems. But my hon. friend looks back over those fourteen momentous years and says, as a remedy for all our troubles: "Oh, if you had only voted for Reciprocity in 1911!" Mr. Speaker, that is absolutely no good. It is no use looking back; it is to the future that we have to look. (Applause.)

Mr. Saunders' Golden Opportunity Missed A short time ago in Charlottetown an important meeting was held. I believe it was on the 22nd day of February, 1924, when the grand old Liberal party, with its noble traditions, met in conclave to choose a new leader. We might say on that day that a new king was born in Israel. The choice fell upon my hon. friend opposite. Fortune was knocking at his door; a golden opportunity lay at his feet. Yet what happened? Did he say to his friends: "Gentlemen I accept the mantle of leadership of your party but I want to tell you that I will not be trammelled with any of the mistakes or the misdeeds of any former administration. When I come to the people of the Province I am coming with a clear, concise, honest policy of my own and stand 'or fall by my own record.'" That is the way he should have acted, but he didn't. What did he do at that meeting? He passed a resolution endorsing the record and the policy of the late Liberal Government, and extolling the conviction that in a short time this sound policy, though temporarily defeated, would again be vindicated and the government again placed in the hands of a Liberal administration! Did my hon. friends not know that the record of the Bell Government was before the people of the Province for four years, and that crowded into those four years there was more turmoil, more unrest and more indignation meetings than were ever crowded into four other years in our whole history? The mistakes of the past will never right the wrongs of the future. The people are through with them forever; and if my hon. friend ever intends to go to the electors again, in the name of goodness don't ever mention the Bell Government! (Applause.) In closing I may repeat that since we took the reins of office we have endeavored to carry on an honest, faithful administration. The budget will be brought down; our public accounts will be laid before you. We are not ashamed of our record; we are prepared to stand by it. MR. McARTHUR: When will
