SHOP from Holman's Catalog. JULY THE TWENTY FIFTH Don't forget that date. Make it one of your holidays and meet all your friends at Souris, they will all be there at the Grand Tea Party.

FISHING—June 4, saw quite a few sports in Souris with Rod and line and some excellent catches were secured from the surrounding waters. Salmon were in evidence but none hooked.

SUNDAY SERVICES—Rev. E. Lockhart, Souris, will conduct the following services on Sabbath June 10th. Morning—Session Meeting 10.30 a.m. Sunday School 11 a.m. Hay Fortunes, Sunday School 3 p.m. Hay Fortunes Service 3 p.m. Souris—Regular service at 7 p.m.

TAKING GENERAL CARGO—The schr. Lillian Welsh, Capt Bennett arrived at Montague on Tuesday last from Newfoundland and will load a general cargo on return by Messrs McLeod and McGregor. It is understood that the price of potatoes is such as to prove quite remunerative for the owners of these vessels.

CAN YOU BEAT IT? What is so rare as a day in June? Souris by the Sea! Good hotel accommodations. The best bathing beach in North America and a walk out to sea on the longest breakwater in Eastern Canada. Oh, boy! when you take your vacation to Souris, remember to bring your Rod for day in and day out you can always lend them, Souris Tea July 25th.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A very painful and most regrettable accident took place near Montague a few days ago, while Mr. Edward Campbell, a farmer, was working in a field. The horses becoming frightened Mr. Campbell in some way got caught in the wheels, almost severing one of his feet. Only Mr. Campbell's presence of mind and endurance in stopping the flow of blood and dragging himself to the nearest neighbour saved his life. Two months will at least elapse before he will be able to resume work.

NEW BUILDING—A new parochial house in Connection with St. Mary's Church Souris is now under construction. The plans were prepared by Messrs Chapelle and Hunter, Charlottetown and the work is being done by Messrs A. F. McQuinn and Stephen McAulay, Contractors, Souris. The residence which will be built of wood, promises to be a beautiful one and a credit to the parishioners also an added asset to the town.

VISITING PASTOR—The Rev. E. Aitken occupied the pulpit of the Montague Presbyterian Church on Sunday last, both morning and evening. In justice to the reverend gentleman, he only received word late Saturday evening that he was to preach at Montague. Unlike an old timer, who always has a special sermon for a special occasion Mr. Aitken is only a special graduate and had to rely on his own resources. He was equal to the occasion, however, and delivered splendid addresses at both services.

Criqui Knocked Out Kilbane in Sixth Round

NEW YORK, June 3.—Eugene Criqui, of France won the feather-weight championship of the world yesterday knocking out Johnny Kilbane, Cleveland in the sixth round of a fifteen round bout. The end came with dramatic suddenness after Kilbane apparently had the fight well in hand. As he stepped back from a clinch Criqui shot over a right swing to the jaw and sent the veteran champion backwards to the canvas.

He rose to his knees at six but would rise after a short count. At first it seemed that Kilbane fell over on his back unable to get to his feet. Criqui stunned himself, by the quickness of his victory stood still in the centre of the ring for a few seconds. Kilbane was lifted to his corner and Criqui rushed over and kissed the fallen title holder on both cheeks. Kilbane weighed one twenty-five half.

He Refuses $26,000 Fee

LONDON, June 7.—How the London Hospital, in a curious way came to receive a gift of 5,000 guineas, is told in the "Lancet" by Dr. S. D. Clippingdale. The late Sir Andrew Clark was called to the house of a very wealthy man who had gone to the Riviera, and retained for six weeks. During that time he was shown the greatest hospitality. When the physician left the patient offered him a fee of 5,000 guineas. "This, Sir Andrew Clark declined, on the ground that he had received so much comfortable hospitality during his stay. As he was leaving, however, the patient's wife put an envelope into his hand saying:— "As you would take nothing for coming to see my husband, give this to the London Hospital." The envelope contained a cheque for $26,000.

EDUCATIONAL CENTRES

PORT ARTHUR, June 7.—The Presbyterian Church has conducted for 82 years an institution of learning in Quebec widely known as the Point-Aux-Trembles School or, as its sign reads "Institut Evangelique de la Point Aux Trembles." The enrollment for 1922 to 1923 is 400 boys and girls out of 400 applications and its supporters feel that it is making a valuable contribution toward the unity of the nation and the upbuilding of a Canadian citizenship. Rev. E. H. Brandt, who has been its principle for over 20 years, states that the years have brought a great change among the French Canadians.

The teaching staff consists of the Principal and fourteen well-qualified teachers from Canada, France and Switzerland. The subjects taught are those of the Public and High School courses, from the primary grades to University Matriculation and four pupils were successful at the Matriculation Examinations last June. "What becomes of our scholars after they leave us?" is a question very often asked. Many go back to the rural districts and work on the farms, as they cannot afford to continue their studies, and they return to their fellow-countrymen. Others go to McDonald College lawyers, doctors and mechanics. At the present time seventeen or eight pupils are continuing their studies in different institutions of learning. Many of the graduates are today occupying positions of honor in the Dominion and elsewhere.

An Imperial Economic Conference

LONDON, June 7.—Sir George Fuller, Premier of New South Wales, who presided at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute made a strong appeal for definite decisions on inter-imperial trade at the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference. He said that during the whole period of his stay in Great Britain he had kept this question in the forefront of his public deliverances and had consistently and persistently advocated the extension and development of trade within the Empire.

Within the last few months responsible members of the present Ministry, men belonging to the Opposition parties, and commercial and financial leaders, had all testified to the belief that it was upon her own Dominions and Colonies that Britain must now concentrate attention for the expansion of her export trade. That was the greatest gain that they could attribute to the loss and confusion which the post war period had brought in its train. Because of this changed trade outlook in Britain they, as representatives from the Overseas Dominions, were looking forward eagerly to the Imperial Economic Conference which Mr. Bonar Law had summoned for October next. They felt that in the light of the present focussing of attention on imperial developments they could confidently anticipate definite decisions by that Conference which would make for a real and steady advance in the extension of inter-imperial trade.

AGED AND INFIRM MINISTERS FUND

PORT ARTHUR, June 7.—The Presbyterian Church seeks to make some provision for its aged and infirm ministers through a fund established for that purpose in a report to the General Assembly, 869 ministers were connected with the fund at the close of 1922, an increase of 23 in a year. The report says: "Acting on the approval by the last General Assembly of the Committee's recommendation of a Bonus of 25 per cent on the Annuity Units, the sum of $625 was paid to Ministers on the fund who had paid rates with 40 years of ministerial service, and those of less years of service in the same class annuities proportionate to their years of service." The fund has received $28,250 in 1922, arising in part from the large number going of the fund, but more largely from the increase in the individual annuities paid. It is just possible that for some time many continue to be experienced. "The contributions from congregations are a real disappointment. These amounted to $30,828, but there was charged for items beyond the control of the committee, the sum of $2,477, leaving only $28,351 applicable to the payment of annuities and other outgo leaving the larger share of the outgo to be paid from the interest paid by Capital. As a consequence it is impossible to carry as large a share of the interest earned to Capital as would actually be desired. This is not a sound deal more generously with this fund, it seems the only course possible to pursue, if even not more than a fair measure of justice is to be done to the retired ministers of the Church who received such a small stipend in the past that it was impossible for them to make any provision for old age, a feature that, in dealing with them now, should not be lost sight of."

EXERCISE FOR LOSING OR GAINING WEIGHT

The adult who has brought his body to a proper development during the formative stage and who has strong and normal organs can not expect to retain health, even upon this excellent foundation, without continuing to exercise. The young man or young woman who is athletic up to the time that bodily growth ceases and then stops exercising altogether is often disposed to accumulate fat rapidly. This is explained by the fact that fat is poorer and less complex tissue than muscle and is not easily stored. There are some persons who are just naturally inclined to be fat, or bulky, and their excess of adipose tissue is not due entirely to lack of exercise. But in almost every case a tendency to become fat can be partially offset by physical training and careful supervision of diet. Diametrically opposed to the extremely fat are the extremely thin types who take no exercise. Their lack of flesh is due to the fact that they consume tissue as rapidly as they manufacture it. This may be due either to an excess of nervous energy or to a lack of ability to take enough nourishment to keep the supply ahead of the demands on it. Exercise will often result in a gain in weight for such persons, because the digestive system will be sufficiently strengthened to catch up to the schedule imposed by the nervous system.

Canteen Profits For "Nighties"

LONDON, June 7.—Lord Wolmer, M. P. appeared at the first public session of the House of Commons Committee to inquire into the profits made out of Army canteens during the war and accused the Navy and Army Canteens Board of spending the proceeds on crepe-de-chine night-dresses and other apparel for trading purposes. "You must not bring forward charges which you cannot prove," said Sir Frederick Banbury, the chairman.

"Look at the photograph of the Malta premises of the Navy and Army Canteens Board," replied Lord Wolmer. "You can see what things are hanging there." The chairman refused to look at the photographs. Lord Wolmer declared that the total loss was nearly $20,000,000. He said that when the Navy and Army Canteens Board took over the liabilities and assets of the Expeditionary Force Canteens in 1919 the profits amounted to £10, 236,000 not including the profits made by the board in the canteens at home during the same period. "This money," he said, "should have been handed over wholly to the War Office for the good of the soldiers and his dependants, under the orders of the Army Council. At the date of handing over to the complete wind-up of the war organization and a fresh start made. Instead of that there was a wild gamble with the profits. I object to these profits being used as capital for an entirely new concern."

"I have never accused any one of fraud in this matter, but I do charge the board with mismanagement."

THE DUST OF THE EARTH A GREAT SUCCESS!

The Wiltshire Social and Athletic Club was greeted by a bumper house when they staged that excellent four act drama "The Dust of the Earth" in the Wiltshire Hall on the 30th ultimo. The splendid order which prevailed with standing room taxed to capacity, is worthy of mention. Mr. Edison Easter, the Chairman for the evening fulfilled his duties in a manner creditable to himself and to the satisfaction of all.

Mr. Geo. C. MacLean, one of the chief characters had also the difficult task of stage manager and the excellent settings which his skill and ingenuity provided added greatly to the success of the play. Each member of the caste portrayed his or her part in such a creditable manner that professionalists would find it hard to improve upon.

Robert Smith as David Moore was a typical old country farmer, whiskers and all. While Master Sheldon Easter as his son gave the old man all kinds of trouble, keeping his mischievous boy from shocking the natives. Miss Irena Mitchell as the daughter of the household played her part in her usual highly satisfactory manner. The character role of the Rev. Dr. Tompleton was admirably portrayed by Mr. D. S. McLean. Mrs. George E. McLean as Mrs. David Moore was a typical mother in a country home, enunciating and acting being par excellence.

Nellie, the wait and heroine of the play was in the capable hands of Miss Florence MacLean, who played a difficult part with consummate skill. While Mr. G. B. Noy in the leading male role of John Kyder, played his part in a manner worthy of a professional. The comely role of Arabella

GOOD QUEEN BESS.

Queen Elizabeth may be even greater than historians have admitted. At least one person, Mr. Frederick Chamberlin, the most recent student of the character and capacity of the great Queen, thinks that historians have underestimated her. She was, he says, by far the greatest woman of history; she was not only the greatest monarch who has ever occupied the throne of England but, if we except Alexander, Caesar, and Napoleon, the greatest monarch who has ever occupied a throne.
