
"200 Years of Excellence 1728 - 1928"

WHEN the grave young scientist, Dr. Joseph Fry, was introducing his famous beverage in 1728, he found his best advocates were the quality, flavour and absolute purity of his Cocoa. Such, indeed, remain its best arguments today.

—"AN OLD FASHIONED MOTHER" was the title of the pathetic comedy drama which delighted and interested a large audience in Tignish hall on Wednesday, 1st. The Catholic Women's League, under whose auspices the above event was staged, are to be congratulated on the excellence of this entertainment. Unique in style with plenty of comedy a good moral and the always sacharine ending formed a combination of pathos, fun and excitement which "got everybody." The costumes were in keeping with the times and circumstances in which the play was first conceived—not at all modern! The caste were as follows:—Deborah Underhill, the old fashioned mother, neglected and impoverished by her six children who would stand aside and see her "go over the hill to the poor house." This role was exceptionally well played by Mrs. C. P. McCarthy who gave the audience a taste of dramatic expression and ability which is rare in amateur theatricals. Widder Bill Pinder, choir director and news budget, was a pleasing role well taken by Mrs. J. A. Bernard whose performance last night has made room for her in stardom. Miss Lowzey Custard expert seamstress and gossip, looking for a man and not having much success at it until after forty seven years when she succeeds in lowering a very popular gentleman to his knees where he dares to propose only to be rejected, was the difficult role played by an old favorite Mrs. L. J Murphy who kept her audience amused throughout by her astute acting and clinched for herself a place among "our best." Isabel Simscott, in this role Mrs. W. A. Gaudet has made her first appearance behind the footlights and her brilliant interpretation of the village belle was indeed excellent Gloriana Perkins, the dutiful neice of the neglected Deborah Underhill was the role played by Mrs. C. F. Morrissey whom we welcome to the footlights after an absence of some years Mrs Morrissey's performance has again placed her among the lights. Sukey Pinder the widder's mite, was a pleasing role well taken by Miss Brenda Gallant, John Underhill prodigal son of Deborah Underhill was taken by Mrs.. W. A. Gaudet whose resourcefulness as an actor finds for him the strenuous part of acting hero, villian and mother's boy: He finally turns up and saves his mother from the poor house. Mr. Gaudet's role was played with great credit to himself. Charley Underhill in this role Mr. Alex. McDonald played the difficult part of the selfish brother and embelished his already good reputation as an actor. Brother Jonah Quackenbush, a whited sepulctre and "gold digger" when looking for a wife, meets his "Waterloo" and is compelled to remain "digging. This part was extremely well acted by Mr. E. J. McTague who received much appaluse from an appreciative audience. Jeremiah Goshling, "Jerry". Here Mr. Claude Kinch plays "the village half wit" mid shouts of applause from the audience who were kept in an uproar by the amusing and silly actions of Jerry who is a local Harold Lloyd; Enack Rove the good angel of the whole caste who helps everyone and brings home the prodigal son was played by Mr. J. A. Brennan who is the veteran stage man of this town and always brilliant and humorous Fuintus Todd, sheriff with a disagreeable duty to perform was exceedingly well played by Mr. G. A. McInnis who in last night's performance made his initial appearance behind the footlights was cordially received and applauded. The specialties were: Dancing by Miss C. McInnis who received a hearty encore. Song by Miss Freda Bernard who was encored and played a very pretty solo she received hearty applause but failed to reappear. Mr. H. J. Gallant very pleasingly sang one of his comic songs and was clapped back. Mrs. Marjorie Murphy was the accompanist of the evening and very pleasantly filled in with some of her many beautiful piano solos for which she has a splendid reputation as a pianist. The caste wish to thank Rev. W. McCabe, Mr. J. A. Hackett, P. A. McDonald and Mr. Hubert Gaudet for their kind assistance in the many difficulties which they had to overcome. They also wish to thank Mr. Ellert Govan who gave such excellent service as janitor.—T.

King Rode Alone At State Opening

(Special to the Guardian)

LONDON, Feb. 7. —Great Britain's finest spectacle of royal pomp and ancient pageantry, the royal opening of parliament, was enacted at noon today. It lacked just a little of its usual brilliance, however, because for the first time in his reign King George was not accompanied by Queen Mary.

The Queen was ill with a cold at Buckingham Palace, and the King rode alone in state in the coach of glass and gold to Westminster.

In the House of Lords His Majesty read his speech from the throne in which he said the British government was sympathetically studying the new draft of the treaty of arbitration with the United States to replace the treaty of 1908.

The King touched on the improved situation in China. The royal forecast of new legislation contained little beyond proposals for amending parliamentary and local government franchises and consideration of measures to relieve the burden of taxation.

Exposure—chill—muscles knotted with pain

260 Atlantic fishermen said, "This gives quickest relief"

NO HARDIER, heartier class of men lives than the men of the fishing fleets.

Nothing daunts them—raging gales, mountainous waves, sudden and heavy strains, the freakish accidents of the sea.

How do they manage to avoid colds, rheumatism, stiffening of the muscles when they've been facing icy seas in an open boat? How do they relieve the aching of tired muscles when they've been straining over the heavy nets? What do they do for the sprains, wrenches, bruises that are bound to occur in an adventurous life like theirs?

We asked numbers of the fishermen who ply their active and hazardous trade along the Atlantic coast to answer these questions.

260 said, "We use Sloan's."

One of the Atlantic fishermen. They protect themselves from strain and exposure with Sloan's

The best friend of all who face exposure and strain

It's the same story everywhere among people who have to face exposure or strain. Policemen, postmen, firemen, factory workers, farmers—they all say they rely on Sloan's Liniment to rid them of rheumatic aches, stiffness of the muscles, the pain of sprains and bruises.

Read this account of how a bad case of stiff neck was completely relieved in less than five minutes:

"I was working and got a little warm, and it turned in and rained. I got good and wet. I got a stiff neck and could not turn my head. I used Sloan's and the pain left me in less than five minutes." S. K. Smalley, 75 Union Ave., Bellevue, Pa.

Sloan's Liniment doesn't just deaden the pain. It draws new blood into the stiff muscle, the torn ligament, the rheumatic joint; and stops the pain by driving out congestion, and sweeping away germs and poisons. Get a bottle. You can never tell when it may save you hours of agony. A bottle that lasts a long time costs only 35c—at all druggists.

A doctor who takes care of thousands of workers says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

Use Sloan's Liniment for all kinds of muscular pain. It relieves:

Rheumatism — Lame Muscles
Sciatica — Stiff Neck
Lumbago — Colds
Neuralgia — Congestions
Sprains — Bruises
