SITUATION IN GREECE STILL UNSETTLED

King Constantine Threatens to Leave Country But is Disuaded Allies May Still Trust Greeks and Withdraw Troops.

(Special to the Guardian)
ATHENS, Oct. 18.—A French marine patrol last evening arrested at the point of the bayonet, seven youths who were hooting the entente powers. A huge crowd gathered for the purpose of rescuing them. The Greek militia commander in Athens called out troops, who charged and dispersed the crowd. Greek patrols were immediately placed in front of anti-entente manifestations. The French admiral in command informed the premier that he would call at the ministry in the morning, although it is thought possible that as a result of the British minister's audience with King Constantine the French troops may be withdrawn on a pledge that the Greeks maintain order.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
LONDON, October 18.—The British minister to Greece had a long interview with King Constantine this evening. A Rouser despatch from Athens, under date of Tuesday, "and it is understood his Majesty insisted on the groundlessness of the suspicion that Greece contemplated an attack on the forces of General Sarraïl. As proof of his good faith the king is said to have declared his readiness to withdraw the Greek forces from Larissa."

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
PARIS, October 18.—Every act of Vice-Admiral Du Poutre commander of the allied fleet in Greek waters, respecting control of the Greek administration has been by direction of the allied governments. It is explained here, with the sole object of safeguarding the communications of the entente armies on the Macedonian front.

FIERCE FIGHTING ON MACEDONIAN FRONT

Fierce Bulgarian Attacks have been Repulsed by British. Serbians also have Successfully Withstood Enemy Attacks, and Captured Village with 500 Prisoners. Bulgarians are Being Heavily Reinforced and Heavy Fighting is Anticipated

(Special to the Guardian)
LONDON, October 19.—The British right flank in the Doiran sector of the Macedonian front has been subjected to heavy Bulgarian attacks which, however have been repulsed. In the mountainous district of Dobropolye fighting continues to the advantage of the Serbians, notwithstanding stubborn resistance of the enemy.

(Special to the Guardian)
SALONIKI, October 19.—Large Bulgarian reinforcements are being sent to the Macedonian front, according to an announcement from the Serbian War Office today. Further gains for the Serbians are reported. Serbian troops entrusted with an attack on Sokol Mountain succeeded in occupying several positions there and in advancing approximately to the highest peak. The advance is being continued. In the direction of Monastir there is no change. On the remainder of the front, nothing of importance has taken place. The Bulgarians are bringing up reinforcements and a large number of trench mortars.

(Special to the Guardian)
LONDON, Oct. 19.—Gradually the French are drawing their front closer to the town of Peronne on the eastern bank of the Somme River in France. Following Wednesday's advance along the front between Biaches La Maisonnette on the west side of the River, an attack launched Thursday was renewed with further gains which virtually brings them to the bank of the stream, to the north and east of Sally Saillez, where the French have advanced their line in the past few days at what the British War Office asserts was a cost in casualties not commensurate with the gain. The Germans made a violent counter attack which was repulsed by the French. Berlin admits that in their attacks in the Saris Moyal front the "British captured German positions" but says these later were retaken. Heavy rain fell Thursday on the British front, and, except for a slight gain by King George's men at Butte Du Warlencourt and the repulse of a German counter attack there, comparative quiet prevailed. As yet no decisive result has been achieved by either Austro-Germans or Russians in the violent fighting that has been raging for several days in Volynia and Galicia. The Petrograd War Office says that near Kiselin in Svinoski in Volynia violent attacks by Teutonic Allies were repulsed while Berlin records the capture of Russian trenches on the west bank of the Stokhod and the repulse with heavy casualties of Russian attacks near Bubnow. South of Seborow in Galicia several enterprises have been carried out successfully by the Austrians at other points Russian attacks were put down. Having held the Teutonic Allies in the mountain passes on the Transylvania-Roumanian border for several days the Roumanians have taken the

GENERAL VIEW OF WAR SITUATION

(Special to the Guardian)
LONDON, Oct. 19.—The situation in the West is still unsettled. The French are drawing their front closer to the town of Peronne on the eastern bank of the Somme River in France. Following Wednesday's advance along the front between Biaches La Maisonnette on the west side of the River, an attack launched Thursday was renewed with further gains which virtually brings them to the bank of the stream, to the north and east of Sally Saillez, where the French have advanced their line in the past few days at what the British War Office asserts was a cost in casualties not commensurate with the gain. Submarine Sunk Off Nantucket

(Canadian Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A news agency despatch from Norfolk, Va., today says: "A German submarine, probably the U-53 has been sunk off Nantucket, according to a signal from a British cruiser to the British steamer North Pacific taking on bunker coal here today. "The North Pacific on Monday night from New Orleans did not report until early today that the cruiser had signalled. The message read: "German submarine sunk east of Nantucket." Officers of the North Pacific said the cruiser was lying off this coast. A London cable a few days ago said a sudden reduction in insurance rates on trans-Atlantic shipping by Lloyd's had aroused speculation as to whether the U-53 has been sunk, captured or had returned to a German port. It being believed that the reduction was ordered because Lloyd's has received "inside information."

CUNARD LINER SUNK BY MINE

(Special to the Guardian)
NEW YORK, October 19.—The Cunard liner Alaunia, has been sunk in the English Channel, between Falmouth and London, by a mine, according to cable advices to the Cunard Line here today. Alaunia sailed from Falmouth on October 7th with passengers and crew. The British believe they landed at Falmouth as is the custom. The text of the message received from the Liverpool office indicated that there were some passengers aboard but all were saved. It reads: "The Alaunia struck a mine in the English Channel this morning and sank during the forenoon. The passengers and a majority of the crew were saved. Several are missing. The Alaunia's crew numbered 250. When she sailed from New York she carried 185 cabin passengers and 55 steerage of whom a few were Americans. "Alaunia was a comparatively new boat being built in 1913. (Special to the Guardian)
LONDON, October 19.—The sinking of the Cunard liner Alaunia entailed great loss of the lives of four members of the crew, so far as has been ascertained. The remainder of the crew were saved. It is understood all the passengers landed before vessel was sunk.

Island Soldier's Well-Earned Promotion

(Canadian Press Despatch)
CHARLOTTETOWN, Oct. 19.—From private advices received in Charlottetown it is learned that Signaller H. Ronald Stewart, son of Mr. D. B. Stewart, of this City, has been gazetted as a Lieutenant with the Royal Flying Corps. After twenty-one months of active service at the front as a signaller with the First Infantry Brigade, his promotion is well merited. It will be remembered that Lieut. Stewart some time ago won the Russian Distinguished Service Medal, founded by Empress Catherine in 1769 for distinguished military service on land and sea. Lieutenant Stewart's many friends in his home City will be pleased to hear of the distinction signified by this promotion to a lieutenantancy in one of the crack regiments and those who know him best will realize that he earned it.

More French Marines Have Landed at Athens

(Special to the Guardian)
ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 19.—Via London.—A further detachment of French marines were landed this morning. The commander demanded the use of the parliament and university buildings as barracks.

FRENCH CAPTURE ANOTHER VILLAGE

Growing Weakness of Germans on Western Front Indicated by Feeble Resistance to Counter-Attacks. Allies Sweeping Along.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
LONDON, October 18.—The village of Sally-Saillez is completely in the hands of the French. In a furious attack this afternoon Foch's troops not only hurled the enemy out of the village, but swept on and cleared the ridges to the northwest and northeast. Thus the French have surmounted the last great obstacle between them and the Cambria Plain and hold the heights dominating the Bethune road as far as Transloy. At the same time the French made progress in their move to flank Peronne by seizing the entire first line on the mile front between Biaches and La Maisonette immediately west of Peronne.

The British co-operated in the French stroke at Sally by advancing north of Cuendecourt and west of Transloy. The two moves narrow the salient at this point and if carried through successfully will place Transloy in peril from which it cannot escape capture. The allied forces made no attempt to launch their latest blows until the Germans had worn themselves out with furious counter assaults that resulted in complete failure at every point.

East of Bervy-En-Santerre the enemy succeeded in penetrating the French trenches, but it proved to be a costly venture. A counter-attack supported by French artillery swept them back and cut to shreds the forces on whose shoulders fell the brunt of the assault. Everywhere else the Germans hammered in vain at the salient. For the Germans the loss of Sally-Saillez and the heights to the north constitutes a real disaster.

ROUMANIANS HAVE THE HUNS ON THE RUN

Enemy Hurled Back and His Offensive Breaks Down at Borders of Roumania.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
LONDON, October 18.—To the immense relief of military authorities here the Rumanian situation took a very distinct turn for the better today. There is now strong reason to hope that King Ferdinand's country will not suffer a repetition of the Rumanian tragedy. There is a ringing note of optimism not evident before in days in Bucharest's official announcement that "all the military news is reassuring."

Although the Teutons continued their attacks on the whole Carpathian front today they failed to gain an inch. The Rumanians on the other hand, vastly encouraged by the breaking down of the enemy's offensive at their very doors, flung themselves forward to the attack with fresh vigor and in the important sector south of Kronstadt, near Predael, drove the Teutons back on the Transylvania front.

In the Buben valley another success was obtained, the Teutons being hurled back nearly a mile after the Rumanian artillery had broken up their attack. In all the violent engagements throughout the front the Rumanians inflicted severe losses on the enemy, taking scores of prisoners and crippling the Teutons batteries beyond use.

Only at two points on the frontier at the Torzbergo and Grymes passes did the Falkenhayn's to Rumanian territory and at both these places their grip is slowly being weakened. Meanwhile every hour of respite from the furious assaults of the enemy is being utilized by the Rumanians in strengthening their frontier defenses and preparing for the coming great counter blow. In this movement they will enlist the aid of the formidable Russian forces to which belongs much of the credit for turning back the enemy's hosts at the gateways of Rumania.

Unless signs fall the general offensive about to be launched by the Rumanians and their allies will constitute the greatest effort of the war by forces of the entente in the Balkans. With Falkenhayn's armies as powerful as they have shown themselves to be in the past the struggle in Transylvania will undoubtedly be one of the most ferocious and spectacular struggles ever staged. Military observers here are confident of the ability of the Rumanians to blast the hopes of Von Hindenburg ter—THE BEGINNING OF THE END FOR HAPPAUME. That they realized this is evident from the desperate nature of the attacks launched in this sector. Each fresh advance by the British and French forces in this region now will bring more and more of the eastern side of the Bapaume triangle under their domination and make inevitable the speedy fall of their objective. As the great Somme battle unfolds the perfect co-operation of the French and British is becoming more and more of a revelation to military critics and the public in general. Individual aims and aspirations are subordinated to the general scheme. Opportunities for spectacular and brilliant moves are specified wherever they conflict with the single purpose of the joint command. Neither the French nor the British have shown the least inclination to begrudge the chances for individual glory which they have been compelled to forego to push to a successful conclusion the common plans.
