HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

The King has directed that both the Queen shall have ration cards when the system operates. In 1918 King George and Queen Mary had their own cards. The King bore the entry "Holder's name, His Majesty the King; address, Buckingham Palace." After the entry "Holder's signature" the King signed "George R.I." in his own handwriting. The registration form collected by the enumerator from Buckingham Palace this week bore the entries: "His Majesty the King" and "Her Majesty the Queen". The form was completed by the Master of the Household.

Mrs. Ings and little son arrived Tuesday night from Calgary. They joined her husband, Captain Eric Ings, Executive Secretary of the Provincial Boy Scouts Association.

A much enjoyed afternoon tea at the Charlottetown Hotel was given by Mrs. A. Carolyn Bayfield on Wednesday for a number of her friends.

Miss Rose Longworth is spending several weeks in Montreal.

Miss Patricia Ritchie, whose marriage took place last evening, was delightedly entertained by Miss Avis Higgins and Miss Eleanor Baznall at the latter's home last week, when the guest of honor received many beautiful gifts.

The Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, has accepted the position of honorary dress designer to the British Government's official group which organizes entertainments for the soldiers.

Mrs. J. A. Matheson, wife of Chief Justice Matheson entertained at luncheon yesterday.

Mrs. W. A. Green and winsome young daughter Dorothy Ann, who have been spending the summer with Mrs. Green's father, Mr. A. C. Duchemin, left Thursday on return to their home in Trinidad.

Miss Lesley White, whose engagement to Mr. Bruce Stewart Moore of Sydney, was announced this week, is being widely entertained by her friends prior to the happy event.

On Monday evening several of the girls with whom Miss White camped during the holiday season had a jolly dinner party at Old Spain and presented her with an exquisite coffee table.

On Tuesday Mrs. Frank Hobbs and Mrs. J. E. Cameron were joint hostesses at Mrs. Hobbs' attractive luncheon in Miss White's home last week, when the guest of honor received many lovely miscellaneous gifts, accompanied by hosts of good wishes.

On Wednesday evening the staff of White's Restaurant among whom the young bride-to-be was a general favorite, had a pleasant dinner for her and again many exquisite gifts were added to her Hope Chest.

Miss White was honored by her aunts the Misses White at their home 11 Grafton Street yesterday afternoon at a pretty tea and personal shower. On this happy occasion Mrs. Harold Ickard presided over the tea table.

Mrs. C. B. Stewart Keppoch is visiting in Trinity, N.S., the guest of Mrs. S. A. Fulton for a few weeks.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Don't Take Chances on "Pickups"—Be Good, or You May Be Dead is an Axiom That Holds Fast, Especially in These Days of Seeming Irresponsibility by Young People

Dear Miss Dix—What do you think about girls "picking up" boys on street corners in parks and other places, and about getting into automobiles with strange men who offer them a ride? I have the habit of doing it. So does my girl friend. What should we do about it? LORRAINE.

Answer: Are you an imbecile, too dumb to know what you are doing? Or are you a foolhardy daredevil who is willing to risk everything, even life, for the sake of having a little fun? You must be one of the other or you would realize that for a lamb to walk into a lion's den is not so dangerous as for young girls to pick up men on the street and particularly to go off riding in cars with men whom they have never seen before.

It is a thing that no decent girl would do, and when a girl does show such an utter lack of feminine modesty she should be and feels free to offer her any kind of insult. Aside from all questions of morality and propriety, I wonder that girls don't refrain from picking up boys on the street, because it is the most hazardous pastime in which they can engage. Every newspaper in the country is filled with the accounts of the bruised and beaten and broken bodies of young girls that have been pitched by the roadside from some car or that have been found lying in a gutter without exception when the murder is traced to its source it is found that the crime was committed by some boy or boys the girls picked up on the street.

Don't you girls, who think it is a gay adventure to pick up loafing lads on a street corner or bench-warmers in a park, or any man with a car and go off with him to some cheap hotel or dance place ever realize that you are only a few weeks ago that told of the two girls who went off with a strange man who brutally murdered one and beat up the other one until she was nearly dead and that tragic story serves as no warning to you? Didn't it make you realize that such a fate might be yours, and that the end of your joyride might be death and worse than death to you?

In all the accounts of the murdered young girls that fills the papers I cannot recall even one in which the victim was a good girl, a girl who watched her step and was careful of her conduct and who took the trouble to investigate the character of a man before she honored him with her society.

It is hardly too much to say to girls in these days: Be good or you will be sorry. Don't go out with any man of whom you know nothing if you value your life. Every time you make a pick-up you are taking a chance of becoming one more girl in the morgue waiting for identification.

That Boy and Girl Question Dear Miss Dix—In a marriage where there are just two children and no more expected, which should be the elder, the boy or the girl? We are looking at it only from the standpoint of the children's value to each other. My wife says that the boy should be older than the girl, since because of his nature he will have the benefit of mutual interests, friends, etc. I say that if the girl is the older her early maturity and consequent worldly experience would prove to be a basis for the mutual interest and thus both children would profit; that is, the girl could help the boy in the same way that she has learned and that would be helpful to him in his growing up. We seem to be stalemated in this discussion. Can you give us some point that we may not have thought of? TWO AT ODDS.

Answer: I can certainly give you one pointer that will end the discussion, and that is that the one of you will have the slightest say-so in deciding whether your first child will be a boy or a girl. That is on the hands of the gods; for chief among the mysteries that science has never been able to solve is the determination of sex.

Hundreds of people have thought that they could control it, but not one has been able to do it. You will recall that one of the lauders of last Summer was on the gentleman who was so sure that he could forecast exactly the date on which some child would be born and that it would be before-hand in all the papers. And then a girl baby was born a couple of weeks later than she was scheduled to arrive.

Personally, it does not seem to me to make much difference whether the boy or the girl is the elder child unless there is to be a long space between the two. I think a brother five years older than a sister could be a great help to her when she begins to go about in society, because she would know the boys from the girls, and she would know and introduce her into the right set. Also, an elder brother is the best chaperon in the world, because he knows what the young people are doing and Mother doesn't.

But if the girl is the elder by even two years she is so much older in reality than her brother that they have little in common. About all that she has upon him is to nag him about his hair and combing and washing behind his ears. Older sisters are generally pretty tyrannical and quite unpopular with Little Brother. However, you will find when you have children that it isn't the brothers and sisters who form each other's characters and are mutually helpful. It is the outsiders—the other children with whom they go, the boy across the street and the girl next door.

Marries Through Pity, Then Regrets It Dear Dorothy Dix—Some years ago my girl friend came to me crying and begging me to marry her. Her parents were going to turn her out of her home. I did not love her but I married her through pity and because I was only a boy of 19. I have made a nice living and provided a good home for my wife, but she is insanely jealous and does not want me out of her sight. I have told her that I did not love her and never did, and have offered her everything we have and agreed to support her the balance of her life if she would give me my freedom. I don't ask for a divorce, but for her just to let me alone. I have stood her nagging as long as I can. Please tell me what to do? C. W.

Answer: To see a lawyer. He will arrange a separation for you, there is no reason that you should stand for the persecution of this woman who forced herself upon you in the first place. DOROTHY DIX.

YOUR INDIVIDUAL HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE (Copyright, 1939, King Features Syndicate Inc.) Look in the section your birthday comes in, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, Nov. 18th MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—A let-down from the last two days. Caution is advised in dealings with strangers and in new and unimportant projects. Keep emotions and temper well under control. Judgment must be calm, vision clear.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus)—Two unfriendly aspects operating during this morning suggest premeditation before decisions or changes. Afternoon also calls for discretion although a friendly ray persists between 6:30 P.M. and midnight, primarily for minor matters.

MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—A mediocre planetary setup so if you have a full, active program ahead of you, you'll have to inject some initiative into yourself and perhaps into your associates. Cheer up!

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Not slated as tops for money but the indications point to a pleasant Saturday for social and domestic affairs. Relax and enjoy afternoon and evening with family or friends.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 22 (Leo)—You born after Aug. 7 are admonished to avoid extravagance. All Leoties! Keep to a middle road. It will be surer, safer. Conservative matters, essential duties most favorable.

AUGUST 23 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Agreeable for the usual activities favored on your Saturday. You born after Sept. 6 may even find the day profitable for business enterprises, clerical work, selling, shopping.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Stars friendly tip to do financial matters, but so suspicious of others' displeasure, running risks regarding finances, employment or investments and acting impulsively. Be wary of those who would flatter or impose upon your generous heart.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Born before Nov. 10? Financial matters not so auspicious as heart affairs, relaxation and travel. You born after Nov. 9 will find it just the other way round, with industrial and money issues more favored than private interests.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 22 (Sagittarius)—Some benefic Moon-Saturn and Moon-Jupiter rays augur slight gains in employment or business issues but close attention to details will be necessary. Push ahead!

DECEMBER 23 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—on the friendly side if you are not reaching for the impossible. Your thought for today: "A little with contentment is great gain." Proceed faithfully with plans.

THE COOK'S CORNER

Marbled Orange and Chocolate Cake

1 3-4 cups cake or pastry flour 2 tps. baking powder 1-2 tsp. salt 1-3 cup shortening 7-8 cup sugar 2 eggs 2-3 cup milk 2 squares grated or melted chocolate

Pinch of baking soda Grated rind of one orange 1-4 tsp. almond extract Sift the flour and measure and then sift several times with the baking powder and salt. Cream the shortening and the sugar together and then add the well-beaten eggs and beat till like whipped cream. Add the flavoring and the dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Mix well.

Now divide the batter into two equal parts. To one batter add the chocolate and the baking soda. To the other batter add the grated orange rind. Mix well. Grease and flour a cake pan 8 by 7 by 2 inches deep. Drop the batters by alternate spoonfuls into the pan; alternating the dark and the light batters. Bake at 350 degrees F. for approximately 40 minutes or till done.

When cold, ice with orange frosting trimmed with black candies, or a chocolate frosting trimmed with orange slices.

Rice Fritters 2 cups cooked rice 1 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons melted butter 1 egg or 2 yolks Method: Cook the rice rather dry and either salt the water or use the salt in the mixture after the rice is cooked. Mash the rice while it is warm with a fork and blend in the melted butter and beaten egg or yolks.

Drop this by spoonfuls into a skillet containing hot, melted fat and fry to a rich golden brown on both sides. Again it takes a little time on account of the moisture in the rice. But they are most delicate that way then if you stuff them with flour or crumbs. They are particularly good served with a spoonful of jelly, grape or currant or any tart kind.

ing and correspondence under friendly rays. A CHILD BORN ON THIS DAY will have a great deal of magnetism; will be dignified, yet dynamic, generous yet thrifty. This lot will not give up its rights without a valiant struggle. It needs very careful training to help it suppress a tendency to quick anger, jealousy and extravagance. A clever individual, capable of real success.

THE HOUSEWIFE AND HER ACTIVITIES

The common problem, yours, mine, everyone's Is—not to fancy what were fair in life. Provided it could be; but fending first: What may be, then find how to make it fair. Up to you means, a very different thing! —Robert Browning.

CAUTION NECESSARY ON ELECTRICAL REPAIRS Only minor repairs to the electrical system and equipment of a house should be undertaken by the home owner.

Such tasks as replacing fuses, overhauling electric-bell systems, and other minor repairs may be safely undertaken by the average home owner, but unless he has had considerable training he should not attempt to disturb the permanent wiring or make extensions to the main wiring system. Work of this kind should be done by an experienced electrician.

In cases where the wiring system is obsolete and inadequate, it is usually a good investment to install new material and a more convenient system.

When making Cream Puffs, put the eggs in a bowl and beat them thoroughly with a rotary beater. Then beat the beaten egg into the cooked flour mixture. This saves time and energy and produces delicious Cream Puffs.

What a common sight it is to see a young person whose bloodless face and feeble frame are evidence of poor circulation and weakness where bounding health and rosy cheeks should reign.

Young people in such a condition are generally of an anemic nature and require a preparation containing iron to help improve the blood content.

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills meet this requirement, as they contain three concentrated forms of iron of an easily assimilated nature together with other valuable ingredients indicated for building up the system, strengthening the nerves, and adding to your physical attraction.

Morning Smile TWO REASONS Vicar's Wife: "I'm sorry, Mrs. Johnson, to notice that you do not come to our meetings as regularly as a year ago." Mrs. Johnson (calmly): "I have two good reasons for not coming." Vicar's Wife: "How bad what are they?" Mrs. Johnson: "Twins!"

GIVE HIM A CHANCE "These new people across the road seem very devoted," said Mrs. Jones wistfully to the newspaper which hid her husband. A rustle of the sheet was all the reply she got, but she was used to that. "Every time he goes out he kisses her, and goes on throwing kisses all down the road. Edward, why don't you do that?" "Me!" snorted the man behind the news. "I don't know her!"
