Port Simpson May Not be the Terminus

Good Progress Made in Surveys—Great Care Taken to Secure Minimum Grade and Curvature Road—Will Take Five Years.

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—Mr. Charles M. Hays this afternoon gave to your correspondent the following statement in regard to the Grand Trunk Pacific. He consented to speak as the Bill had passed its third reading in the Senate:

"The Grand Trunk Pacific incorporation Act having been passed by the Senate and the amendments offered thereon concurred in by the House the Bill is now only awaiting the Royal assent to place the matter in a position where the company can be organized and take definite steps to inaugurate the necessary action preparatory to undertaking the obligations entered into by the company with the Government.

The reconnaissance survey is proceeding and in fact has been ever since early last spring. We have between fifteen and twenty parties in the field, some of which have about completed the work on their division, others will keep on all through the winter. Great care is being taken with a view of obtaining a line with a minimum grade not to exceed 4 per cent and with no greater than two or three degree curves. In some portions of the route, where the country is comparatively unknown, and owing to the lack of transportation facilities, supplies are difficult to obtain, progress is not as rapid as would otherwise be the case.

"Answering your question as to plans as to construction and the point at which a beginning will be made I will state that is dependent upon the completion of the surveys. We now have the territory pretty well covered. The first parties were sent out, which were started before the Government policy as to the eastern division was developed, were located between Winnipeg and North Bay, the theory being that was the section of the country that was most in need of additional facilities and while it is undoubtedly true that for some years to come a large proportion of the grain crop in the Northwest will come out by water during the season of navigation, there is today a very considerable quantity moving during the winter months by rail north of Lake Superior and this quantity will be increased to a constantly growing volume as rail facilities for the economical and expeditious movement of the traffic are provided. The new line with its 4 per cent grade will have great advantages in this respect.

Our surveying parties are also well distributed over the territory from Winnipeg West, and construction on that portion of the line will be pushed as soon as the results of our surveys are known as also the construction of the branches from a port on Lake Superior which port is yet to be determined to a junction with the eastern division and a line from North Bay, north, also intersecting the eastern division.

"As to the plans and contentions in connection with the eastern division I will have to refer you to the Government, that portion of the undertaking as you are aware, in their control. You ask within what time the line would be completed, and replying thereto I will say, while of course, this is dependent on conditions generally, the result of surveys and the situation as regards labor, movement of supplies and material, it is not likely that the road will be complete in short of five years."

It is learned in official circles that Port Simpson is not actually decided on as the western terminus, but that it lies between that city and Butte Inlet. It was also learned that the part of the road which the G. T. R. will build will be constructed by contract.
