SNOWBOUND—Another snowstorm has visited Montague, and traffic is again greatly hindered—none of the older residents remember a winter so stormy as the present one, especially so early. If it in anyway indicates an early spring, the harder it comes the better.

MONTAGUE—St. Andrew's Church, Sunday Jan 14th, 11 a. m. Communion, preparatory service, Friday evening 8 o'clock, the closing meeting of the Week of Prayer. All members are expected to attend both services at 7 p. m. usual at 10 a. m. preaching at 7 p. m. Lower Montague service withdrawn that day.

FUNERAL SERVICES—The funeral of the late Miss Ida McDonald whose remains arrived in Montague on Saturday last, took place from the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. McKinnon on Sunday at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Stewart, the aged minister, who never wears in well doing, and who is always ready, fine or storm, when his services are required—preached the funeral ceremony. Mr. Wallace McDonald who accompanied the remains, left on Tuesday last on return to Boston. Mr. McDonald has a great many relatives in the vicinity of Montague, but limited time prevented him from seeing them all.

WINTERING AT MONTAGUE—The schooner Seafoam now laid up at Montague, is owned by one of our citizens, Capt. Leeming Pearson. The Capt. reports last season a most successful one. Besides several cargoes of coal which he sold direct to householders at a great saving, he has also disposed of several cargoes of limestone, which enabled the farmers to secure this necessary fertilizer at almost half the price of the imported article. It is the Captain's intention to dispose of this vessel and buy a smaller one to enable him to deal direct with the farmer, buying their produce and giving them limestone or money in exchange, as they see fit in this way the extortion demanded by the middle man. Y.

NEW YEAR SOCIAL—The first social event of the season, and one which ushered in the New Year with an old time swing took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McDermott, Montague, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 2nd a large number of guests gathered to while away an evening long to be remembered. While no special were in evidence, every one seemed imbued with the spirit of the New Year, and a rollicking good-time was spent. After partaking of a sumptuous repast, in which the hostess excelled herself, the rooms were cleared, and dancing became the principal item on the program, and included waltzes, quadrilles, lancers, etc interspersed with an occasional breakdown. The feature of the evening was the step dancing by Messrs. James McGee and Winnie McCallan whose combined weights total away over five hundred pounds. Excellent violin music was furnished for the occasion. The host and hostess are to be commended for giving the young people such a good time. The old familiar words were never more appropriate than on this occasion. "We'll dance all night till broad daylight," for out until the dawn of a new day appeared in the eastern sky, did the guests depart for their various homes.

Poignant Scene At Negro's Trial

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—There was an intense moment today during the trial of William E. Battle, a young negro, for the murder of Mrs. Eleanor L. Brigham in her home in Orange, held in the court of Oyer and Terminer before Judge Sticks in Newark, N.J. Little Virginia Brigham, seven years old, daughter of the murdered woman, identified Battle as the man she saw downstairs when she heard a noise and sought her mother. As she walked forward and placed her hand calmly and with the assurance of a child on the negro's shoulder, her father, Charles S. Brigham, who had been sitting with his brother a few feet away, jumped to his feet. Brigham's inflamed eyes showed the rage and horror he felt, and the suffering he had undergone since his wife's body was found jammed in a closet. He lunged forward, his arms outstretched, as if to clutch Battle by the throat. But for his brother Brigham would have grasped him about the waist and held his arms, while attendants ran to his assistance. In a minute his rage passed, and he was led in tears into judge's chambers, where he was attended by a physician and waited until a few minutes later when he went on the witness stand. Brigham had been so overcome by the manner of his wife's death that he was in bed until today.

Pronoses Pardon For Innocent Man

MONTREAL, Jan. 8.—A writ of habeas corpus taken on behalf of Emilie Laurin, at present serving a 15-year sentence in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary for an offence against a young girl, was today quashed by Mr. Justice Greenfield. The writ was issued following the confession of Laurin's brother that he and not Emilie had committed the assault. Mr. Justice Greenfield declared in his judgment that as the conviction against the prisoner had not been quashed, and as the sentence had not been annulled, he could not grant him his liberty on habeas corpus. "Laurin," said the judge, "will have to be pardoned or granted his liberty on a ticket of leave." Emilie's brother will face trial in the March term of the court of King's Bench.

PERSONALS

One of Montague's promising young men is apparently the envy of his many friends, fortune during the past year having favored him with a kindly hand, for not only did he receive promotion at the hands of his employers, but he has also been blessed with the care of a wife.

Mr. Cecil Hynes who for the past few years has been a valued employee of the firm of Poole and Thompson, Montague, has given up his position. He is uncertain as yet as to his future intentions; the opening of spring however, will likely find him among the other islanders in Western Canada. As Cecil is one of our promising young men, he is bound to give a good account of himself, no matter where located.

Again Denies That Prince Of Wales Is Engaged

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Princess Yolanda, of Italy, the pretty and accomplished daughter of King Emmanuel and Queen Helena, who was talked of in Britain as the bride for the Prince of Wales. The report brought a definite denial.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Current reports of the engagement of the Prince of Wales were officially denied in a statement from York House this afternoon. "A few days ago," says the statement, "the Daily News announced the forthcoming engagement of the Prince of Wales to an Italian princess. Today the same journal states on what is claimed to be unquestionable authority that it informed the royal announcement that His Royal Highness is engaged to a foreign princess."

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The semi-official Press Association issued a statement this afternoon declaring there was no foundation for the published announcement that the engagement of the Prince of Wales to a Scottish noblewoman would be made known within two or three months.

The announcement to which the statement refers appeared today in the Daily News, which, while mentioning no name, gave particulars indicating that it referred to Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon, daughter of the Earl of Strathmore.

ELLIOTVALE SCHOOL CLOSING

On the evening of Dec. 23 the people of this district assembled at School House in order to bid farewell to the teacher, Miss Zilla Feehan, who has been forced to resign her position on account of the death of her father. After a short but interesting program, consisting of songs, dialogues and recitations, delivered by the pupils, Santa Claus arrived and unburdened the Xmas Tree of its many presents, sending thrills of joy to so many little hearts. An address was then read by Miss Irene Walsh to the teacher, Miss Bernadette McQuaid, the present- ed her with a beautiful French ivory dresser set, the gift of the pupils. The teacher also received many individual presents. She responded to the address in a few well chosen words. With many expressions of regret at her departure, the meeting came to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. Following is the address: To Miss Feehan, Teacher.

We, the pupils of Elliotvale School extend our deepest sympathy in the bereavement which you sustained in losing your dearly beloved father, which we know and hope is sleeping the sleep of the just, although it is a pleasure for us to be assembled here this evening together with our parents and friends and you in our midst. True, your duties at all times have not been most pleasant during your past term but you have bravely surmounted all difficulties, and have placed us in a position to know that an education is of the most importance, and have instilled us with the desire of obtaining that goal, which if we attain, is sure to lead to success. You are now undertaking the work of a good general training the boys and girls of the day as future citizens in the heritage of ours. And now, dear teacher as we are approaching the festive season,

McGill Benefits By Quebec Will

QUEBEC, Jan. 8.—By the death of Mrs. Neilson at Bergerville, a few miles outside this city near the Quebec bridge recently, a very interesting will has come to light. The will was made by Mrs. Neilson's father, Robert Bruce, in his life-time a gardener and farmer, who left $57,000. By the terms of the will the usufruct of the estate was paid to his son, William, and his three daughters, but it was stipulated that in the event of them dying without issue the residue was to be divided equally among seven Protestant universities. Mrs. Neilson, having been the last surviving child, the residue now goes to the universities. The universities which will now benefit by the will are the following: McGill University, Dalhousie University, Queen's University, Kingston; Toronto University, Toronto; Manitoba College, Winnipeg; and the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, office, in Montreal.

Just prior to Christmas a meeting of the representatives of these institutions was held at McGill University to take over and administer the estate in accordance with the will, when Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, was chosen chairman of the board of administration of the representatives present.

A rather interesting story is connected with this will. Robert Bruce and his young wife emigrated from Scotland in the year 1827 and settled in St. Eov Parish, near Bellevue Road, which is now part of the city. They bought a farm, and Mr. Bruce, besides working on this farm, also tended to the gardens on the estate of wealthy man. Being frugal and saving his hard earned money, Mr. Bruce, who died at the age of 87 years, left an estate valued at $57,000, which by the terms of his will he bequeathed as follows:

"I leave to my dear children, one son and three daughters, an equal share for life of the interest accruing from the estate, and in the event of their dying without issue, the residue is to be divided equally among the following colleges to provide scholarships for young people of Scottish extraction: The Royal Highness is engaged to a foreign princess."

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The semi-official Press Association issued a statement this afternoon declaring there was no foundation for the published announcement that the engagement of the Prince of Wales to a Scottish noblewoman would be made known within two or three months.

The announcement to which the statement refers appeared today in the Daily News, which, while mentioning no name, gave particulars indicating that it referred to Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon, daughter of the Earl of Strathmore.

Columbia New Process RECORDS

Melody unmarred by distracting noise!

Columbia discovers a process which produces records virtually free from objectionable surface noise.

As a phonograph owner you have always been annoyed by the swish, grinding and scratching noises of records. This "surface noise" has been considered impossible to remove. After years of experiment the Columbia Graphophone Company to-day presents to the world a record that is virtually noiseless.

An ultra fine surface This record has been made possible by Columbia's patented laminated, or three-ply construction. The core or centre leaf in Columbia New Process Records, because it is absolutely distinct from the playing surfaces, is made of a harder, more durable substance. Over this rigid backbone are laid the two playing faces made of the new, ultra fine, ultra smooth surface fabric.

Just pure melody With New Process Columbia Records you get all the real beauty of voice, all the exquisite delicate tones of the cello and the violin! You get melody unmarred by objectionable surface noise that has been considered impossible to remove until Columbia removed it!

Fully protected by patents In no other record can you get the same wonderful degree of surface quietness and pure, uninterrupted music, for the simple reason that Columbia alone possesses the secret of making a material which, employed as a surface for phonograph records, obliterates obnoxious and intrusive surface sounds.

Here are two new dance records, New Process of course, and your dealer will gladly play them, or any other recent Columbia selections. You will be delighted by the clear reproduction of every note—nothing is lost by surface sound.

- Bees' Knees and Lovin' Sam—Fox-Trots Ted Lewis and His Band A-3730 75c
- Sixty Seconds Ev'ry Minute—Fox-Trot The Columbians A-3745 75c
