RACE FOR IMPERATOR IN NEW YORK HARBOR

A sensational boat race in New York harbor in which a Montreal banker who was in a hurry, $100 in prizes, three tugs, boats and the giant Cunard liner Imperator figured, unluckily matters in the Hudson, postponed Monday afternoon.

The Imperator had just departed shortly after noon, when three tugboats dashed out into the river after her with three passengers and two Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein, who were tardy because of the cashier's neglect to get their passports vised at the British consulate.

The last passenger to reach the West 14th street pier was Capt. T. Williams-Taylor, son of the general manager of the Bank of Montreal, who said: "The man who puts me on the Imperator gets $100, or the one who makes a good try and loses gets $50."

The tugboat Lewis Bulver won the money, when the Imperator stopped off the Statue of Liberty in response to whistled appeals.

HUMOR OF THE COUNTRY

Having lost a valuable dog, a visitor to a small country town pushed to the newspaper office and handed in an advertisement offering five pounds reward for the dog's return.

Out half an hour later he thought he would add to his advertisement no questions asked. So he hurried to the office again.

When he arrived, he found the proprietor empty except for a small boy who wore a sulky expression.

"Where's the staff?" asked the stranger, glancing about the deserted room.

"Out looking for your dog!" replied the boy, who was evidently aggrieved at being left behind.

CHRYSANTHEMUM MEANS LONG LIFE

The chrysanthemum blossom, coming as it does near the end of the year, is symbolic of longevity to the Oriental mind.

In the early part of the fourteenth century this lovely flower became the national emblem of Japan.

A quaint story refers to its emblematic quality of longevity. Along the banks of the river Kai in Japan grow the chrysanthemums. When they fade, the river, being narrow, is covered with the petals. The natives in this time lock for the banks and drink of the waters, believing that by so doing they prolong their lives. This same idea is placed in a drink of chrysanthemum when you wish a guest long life and happiness.

It is difficult for parents to understand where their children got their bad traits.
