One reason why investors rely so fully upon the Eastern Securities Company is due to the realization that our services do not terminate with the sale of a security, but continue for all time.

They derive much comfort from the knowledge that their purchases are reviewed frequently with a view of discovering the development of a possible weakness, as well as a profitable re-arrangement of their holdings.

BOOKS AND BALLYHOO

guesome the more often they were repeated. To make a book of them ten years later seems somewhat daring. In the career of Paul Baumer in the Erstas battalion, the old, often very ancient, soldiers' tales are given a new life as his own experience."

The "Officerbund" hopes the suggestion will not be persisted in that the Nobel Literature Prize should be awarded to a man who wore officers' uniform without any right thereto, and adorned himself with decorations to which he was not entitled. It closes its remarks by labelling "All Quiet on the Western Front" as "a cruel defamation of the German Army and the German fighting soldier."

This, one thinks, must be somewhat disconcerting to those good people who wept with Remarque in his anguish, who sorrowed with him and sympathized with him as he told of his terrible sufferings and experiences. Disconcerting, too, must it be to those others who said: "What Remarque says was true of all the armies."

And what of the critics? So far as we know, only one of them, the reviewer of the Manchester Guardian, assessed "All Quiet on the Western Front" at its true value. The Guardian was the one paper which might have been expected to praise it. It is anti-war and pacifist, and it was a member of its staff, the late E. C. Montagu, who wrote "Disenchantment." But the difference between Montagu and Remarque was that Montagu had experienced what he wrote, and, consequently, his story was not all shadows. The Manchester Guardian reviewer was quick to point that out. "All Quiet on the Western Front," he said, was not only the war book; it was not even a good war book.

But Erich Remarque should worry. He found the public easy; easy to the sale of 3,000,000 copies of his book; and his royalties probably balm the sort of conscience that could perpetrate what he has done.

Southern News

The sky is beginning to take on the sombre hues of early fall, and regrettably the time is at hand when our tourists will be waving farewells to our quiet landscapes.

Something new in the way of road-making has lately been instituted in this section of Southern King's and Queen's. Two men from Murray Harbor provided with a car and equipped with shovels and hoes, have been employed in filling ruts and holes in the road along their route of travel. They covered a distance along the shore road of 12 or 14 miles, and in this space there must be 4 or 5 school districts. Perhaps more. Thus they assumed the work always heretofore entrusted to the roadmasters, there being one of these in each district. Local men would have been very glad to do this work, and it is a little surprising that the opportunity was not given them to pay their road tax in this way. However, as I do not live in any of the districts affected, I am not personally concerned, but I have heard criticisms among those who do reside there, and their complaints and objections were quite sharp and forcible.

We regret to hear of the long continued illness of Mr. Murdoch McPhee, of Wood Island, who though quite a young man, has suffered a good deal of sickness during the last four or five years. We are informed that he contemplates making a change in his business on account of his health, which will necessitate his removal to some other location. This will be depressing news to his many friends who will be very sorry to see him go from here.

Mr. Blair, who supplied in Wood Island Presbyterian church during the summer months, will preach his last sermon for the season next Sabbath. During his sojourn amongst us, Mr. Blair made many friends as a man, and had many admirers as a preacher.

The Ladies' Aid had a successful meeting in Wood Island Hall on Tuesday, 3rd inst. There was a good attendance.

Mr. Daniel McPherson and Mr. Archibald Munn, both of Little Sands, had a pleasant motor trip to Covehead last Sunday.

A number of the residents hereabouts are now taking their wool to the carding mill at Sturgeon. There it will be carded and made into rolls. Sturgeon is about eighteen miles from Wood Island in an east by north direction.

Mr. John Nicholson, of Dundas, a retired merchant tailor, has recently been visiting at the home of Mrs. John A. Nicholson, of Wood Island, whose deceased husband was a nephew of Mr. Nicholson first mentioned.

Mr. Chester McEachern, general merchant of Hopefield, has now a business connection which is expanding away beyond its former limits, and includes a clientele from Caledonia and Glen William to the extreme south western boundary of Wood Island.

Harvesting was halted by the welcome rain of last Monday.

As a result of an unfortunate accident which befell her some time ago, we regret to report that Mrs. Angus McPhee, of Hopefield, is in quite poor health.

The farm owned by the late Donald McNeill, of Little Sands, containing an area of 14 acres, with dwelling-house and barn, was sold by auction Aug. 28, to Mr. Alex. Stewart, formerly of Caledonia and recently living in Mount Vernon.

Blue's bridge in Little Sands, and the bridge near Wood Island East school house which are in an unsafe condition are to be replaced by culverts of corrugated iron, which are already on the ground.

Last Monday the atmosphere in this region was blue with smoke, the sun was a dull red, indications of forest fires in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick, judging from the direction of the wind.

The other day a gentleman of an inquiring turn of mind referred to physical laws which were held for generations and are now discarded, among others the indestructibility of matter, and asked me what I knew about it. I told him I knew nothing about it only that I read that in 1902 Le Bon stated that he had proved that the old law was false, and that he had clearly established that matter was destructible. The gentleman then suggested that it would be a first class topic for elucidation by readers of The Guardian, who are conversant with such subjects, and this topic I respectfully now submit. I think it will be found well worthy of consideration. H

FALL PLANTED BULBS

The time has arrived to think of preparing for the Spring garden, and also for a supply of Winter blooming flowers. Bulbs are chiefly relied upon for both these purposes, and recent importations of tulips, hyacinths, narcissus, and similar flowers will now be available in all seed stores. It is a simple matter to have a brilliant display of bloom in early Spring if the bulbs are planted in early September or October. When different varieties are chosen, the blooming period will be spread over that otherwise barren season of the year, from early Spring until the first of the perennials commence to flower. Most of these bulbs can also be grown indoors for flowering during the Winter months. In the catalogue, varieties of tulips, narcissus and hyacinths that are suitable for forcing indoors are usually listed separately. For this purpose they should be planted in pots, or special bulb bowls, using soil, fibre or pebbles, and they must be started in a cold, dark place, and kept there until the roots are well developed.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.

To Linda, Fannie and Ralph Coffin. Dear sisters and brother.—We, the members of Cherry Hill Division, No. 275, Sons of Temperance, hereby desire to extend to you our deepest sympathy in the loss of your beloved father.

We feel that words of ours are inadequate to convey any comfort to you in the bereavement you have sustained, nevertheless we beg to offer our sincerest and heartfelt sympathy at this, one of the most trying times in your life's history. His passing has left in our midst a blank which can never be filled, and while you have sustained an irreparable loss, we feel that you sorrow not as those who have no hope, as he has but gone before to await your coming.

In conclusion, our sisters and brother, and other members of the family, we commend you all to the keeping of Him Who is too wise to err, and too good to be unkind.

Signed on behalf of the members of Cherry Hill Division.

Ethel McAssey,
Hazel Corbett,
Louise Cameron.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Miss Pauline Kelly, Brookfield. Dear Friend:— We wish to send you a word of sympathy in the loss of your estimable Father.

Death is at all times sad, but doubly so when it means the breaking up of the home, as was your experience, and necessitated your removing to another community, but fortunately not with strangers, as you and your sister will be able to console each other. That He, Who doeth all things well, may comfort you in your lonely hours is the wish of your Stand-home friends.

Signed on behalf of the Women's Institute, Mrs. J. Aeneas MacDonald, Vice-Pres., Mrs. Malcolm S. McLeod, Mrs. Thomas McCabe.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Mrs. John Mobbs, Greenvale. Dear Mrs. Mobbs:— We the officers and members of Greenvale Women's Institute feel we must convey to you in some small way our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in the loss of your dear and only brother.

It is but natural that you should weep, for did not Jesus weep when his friend Lazarus was taken away. God has called him to a higher and nobler service to that Home beyond where pain and sorrow are unknown but let us remember that sometimes sooner or later we two shall be called.

We could commend you to Him who has promised to bind up the broken hearts of his children; and bring joy and blessing to all who inourn. To you and the other members of the family, we convey our sincere sympathy. Signed on behalf of the Greenvale Women's Institute, Mrs. Alfred E. Carew, Mrs. Robert L. Silliphant Jr. (Patriot Please Copy)
