

SPORT JOTTINGS

The New England League baseball season doesn't open this year until May 21st.

Jakie O'Connor, 204 1/2, is not coming Down East after all. He has been bought by E. F. Lyle, of Fredricksburg, Ohio, and will be raced in the middle west.

Joe Bush's Allentown team has got going and was occupying third place in the Eastern League's standing when last heard from. "Bullet Joe" hasn't broken into a game himself yet.

Old Hank Gowdy was pressed into service behind the bat for the Boston Braves the other day and the experts tell us that "he undoubtedly proved a steady influence to the usually wild Brandt" — resulting in the Braves beating the Phillies.

A. L. Webber's stable is being prepared for the season at the Bangor Me. track by Donald Stokes, son of the Grand Circuit reinsman, Harry H. Stokes. The Chestnut Peter pacer, Peterkin, 2:07, the Saint Roch gelding, Glenn O. Roch, 2:11 1/4, and four other candidates comprise the outfit young Stokes is handling.

"Mickey Cochrane will stay up and have another good year," declared Connie Mack confidently when it was brought to his notice at Boston the other day that Bob Shawkey had opined that the Athletics' chances to repeat this year are more or less bound up in Cochrane's ability to have another big season.

The Massachusetts reinsman, D. Horace Cameron, of Harvard, who invaded New Brunswick 10 years ago, is training a seven-horse stable at the New England Fairgrounds, Worcester, Mass., his candidates including his two capable half-mile track trotters, Pilot Dillon, 3, 2:09 1/4, and Gay Setzer, 2:13 1/4. Acting for a patron, Cameron purchased a likely-looking two-year-old trotter at the F. A. Amidon dispersal sale in Stone Brook Dillon, a gelded son of Nelson Dillon, 3, 2:05 1/4, and Peter's Peggy, by Peter the Great, 2:07 1/4, hence a half-brother to Peggy's Express, 3, 2:14 1/4.

Add this one to the book. On April 22, the New York Yankees were retired in one inning by the Philadelphia Athletics without a Yankee having been officially at bat. Combs walked to start the inning, and Koenig sacrificed him to second. Ruth then drove deep to Hass, and Combs went to third after the catch, Ruth being credited with a sacrifice. This made two out. When Combs tried to go on home and score on the catch, after reaching third, he was thrown out at the plate. A walk and two sacrifices was the batting record for the inning.

Trainer "Jack" Leonard, who once was located at Fredericton, has had the misfortune of losing by death the promising three-year-old trotter, Houston, by Bogalusa, 2:04 1/4, out of Jenny Pearce, 2:21 1/4, by Peter the Great, 2:07 1/4, the young candidate having died recently at the Eastern States Exposition track, Springfield, Mass., from enlargement of the heart. There seems to be somewhat of a jinx camping on the trail of the Springfield reinsman, as the death of Houston marks the third youngster he has lost since last fall. But, as every cloud has a silver lining, Leonard's loss is somewhat atoned for by the superb form displayed by the old warrior, Czar Worthy, 2:01 1/4, who is being primed for another crack at the double-o contingent of stake trotters.

Germans ate 18,351,000 pounds of American dried apples last year.

Surface railways bring 9,000 passenger trains into London a day.

London is doubling the number of its policemen.

More than 50,000 people died from cancer in Great Britain last year.

Toronto, Canada, is to have a seamless-tube mill costing $2,000,000.

New South Wales, Australia, has banned all curb gasoline pumps.

Hungary now has 25,000 shoe and boot makers owning small shops.

Canada bought nearly $38,000,000 worth of American shoes last year.

American tractors imported into Russia last year numbered 12,421.

Soviet Russia imported 1,889,000 tons of goods in the last fiscal year.

Flappers of Cuba are using American perfumes and cosmetics.

Automobiles are just becoming popular in Latvia.

Many new bus services are being inaugurated in Spain.

BIG INCREASE IN NAT. H. L. ATTENDANCE

Boston Banner Town of Circuit — Ottawa Senators Received Better Support.

TORONTO, May 5.—Nearly 80,000 more fans attended National Hockey League games during the past season than in the previous campaign, according to figures issued by the Calder loop. The actual increase in total paid attendance is 79,389. During the past season 1,682,915 paid admissions were recorded, while during the season of 1928-29 the total was 1,603,526. The total paid attendance for the past season shows an increase of 562,954 over the 1928-29 figures.

Boston attracted the largest number of fans during the past winter's campaign. The Bruins played before an average attendance of 14,096, and their gross takings on the season amounted to $502,135.50. The New York Rangers were second with an average attendance of 9,789 and gross gate receipts of $379,604.20.

In Canada
In the Canadian section of the N. H. L., the two Montreal teams topped all others in total attendance. The Canadiens, Stanley Cup winners, out-drew the Maroons with an average attendance of 9,385, as compared to the Maroons' average of 9,092. Canadiens had more play-off games than the Maroons, which largely accounts for the difference. The Maroons' total gate receipts amounted to $224,331.06, while the Canadiens totalled $229,285.50.

The 23 N. H. L. games played in Toronto — one game having been transferred from Pittsburgh — drew an average attendance of 6,686, and the Maple Leaf Hockey Club's gross gate receipts amounted to $186,251.30.

Better Year
The Ottawa club had a better year with an average attendance of 5,123 and total gate receipts of $109,555.55. This was more than $20,000 better than the previous season. The Senators played 17 games at home.

The total gate receipts for all clubs amounted to $2,436,819.83. Admission prices are lower in Ottawa than in any other N. H. L. city. The average admission price at the Capital City is 96 cents. The New York Americans with an average admission price of $1.90, tops the list, with the Rangers second with $1.85. Boston fans pay an average price per ticket of $1.62, while in Toronto, the average price is $1.27.

The Misses Hilda Cutcliffe and Adele McLennan, Fredericton, visited the Experimental Farm on Sunday.

We understand that some of our fox farmers are reporting some very fine litters and no doubt this section will be in position to compete with other parts of the province at the next annual fox show.

We notice that some of our expert gardeners are making preparations for flower and vegetable gardens, and are taking their dahlias bulbs, from their sandy bed, to be reset in new soil. It may be of interest to note that this attractive flower, which finds a place in so many gardens, derived its name from a Swedish botanist, Andrew Dahl, who was a pupil of the great Linnaeus. A species called imperialis or tree dahlia has of recent years been imported from Mexico, and this plant attains a height of twelve to fourteen feet. A beautiful carmine is obtained from the corolla of the dahlia.

Mr. Horace Cutcliffe, Fredericton, motored through Wheatley River on Sunday and reported the roads in good condition with the exception of a few rough places.

Several new cars have been purchased by some of our progressive farmers and no doubt, judging from the number who attended the recent motor show, which was held in Charlottetown last week, the probabilities are, that many more will be conspicuous in those parts.

As this is one of the Island's choicest farming sections, our farmers have been making great strides in preparing their land for seeding.—F.

The Markets (Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, May 5.—Produce. Lower cash grain prices were announced today on the Montreal grain markets, the decreases ranging from 5 to 11 cents per bushel; Manitoba number six wheat was cut 7 cents. Feed wheat was down 5 and oats about 7 cents. Prices of baled hay were increased $1 per ton. There was firmer tone to the egg market today, and British Columbia eggs sold as high as 33 1/2 cents per dozen for extras, 31 1/2 for firsts and 30 for seconds delivered. Montreal. Eggs from the Prairie Provinces were quoted at 29 1/2 cents for extras, 27 1/2 for firsts and 25 for seconds plus freight at about 32 1/2 per dozen. Receipts continued plentiful amounting to 4,734 cases. Prices to retailers were unchanged. The cheese market was a little firmer, current receipts being at 16 1/2 cents to 17 per pound. Receipts were 324 boxes. Firmness was shown on the butter market in an advance by some wholesale jobbing houses in their prices to retailers. Solids were quoted the retail trade at 33-34 cents per pound and prints at 34-35. In wholesale channels, prices held un-
