Again we are told that the crops in the Northwest have been saved by a timely rain. The repeated and contradictory reports serve to give the impression that the crops there have neither been so completely destroyed by drought nor so completely saved by rain as has been stated. Abundance of rain is the word in Prince Edward Island.

WEDNESDAY. The progress made in human flight within a little time past has naturally suggested to many minds the desirability of having an airship at the Cape for the conveyance of mails and passengers when winter navigation is interrupted as it has often been in the past and will be again in the future, so long as our transportation depends upon steamers. And what Zeppelin has done and is doing has made it tolerably clear that an airship of moderate size might cross the Atlantic at the Cape with some degree of regularity when the weather is favorable. The one thing that does not seem to be the difficulty is the carrying capacity. A dirigible airship of the Zeppelin type, could cross easily in fifteen minutes, and even if not large enough to carry more than ten passengers, could by making several trips daily forward all the mails and passengers that would be offering in the midwinter season. Against the cost of the service would be the saving of the expenditure now made for the ice-boats and their crews, which in some winters is quite a formidable sum. The change would be a most desirable one in several ways. Passengers who cross by the ice-boats, paying two dollars per head and helping to haul the boats, or four dollars per head otherwise, would gladly pay something more than the last named sum to be quickly and comfortably transported across the Strait. Instead of these long hours on the way, they would be but fifteen to twenty minutes. The danger of the trip and the difficulty of making a landing would hardly be as great as in the ice-boat. The trip could be made by day or night, without regard to the tide or ice-conditions. The one thing that does not seem to be the difficulty is the carrying capacity. A dirigible airship of the Zeppelin type, could cross easily in fifteen minutes, and even if not large enough to carry

The Small Store Needs A Phone

Just as badly as the large one. The phone is the one important factor that causes a small store to become a large one - without it no business can grow great. The telephone is the stepping stone to a greater business and the time to take the step is now - before your competitors take the business that is rightly due you. Any merchant that shows progressiveness is sure of business and the safest step is to install the phone. It will save many trips to the wholesale store, it will bring the usual grocer a prompt reply in the case of a rush order. The phone will bring you many orders that would have otherwise passed over to the larger store and will give you a tremendous handicap over your competitors in the race for business. The phone will increase your trade tremendously, it will make your store the buying center of your district. It will bring you more business. The phone will bring you business! Sir:

If the "happy-go-lucky-slap-it-on-a-press-and-let-er-go" kind of advertising you are using is doing you son o' good doesn't it seem reasonable to suppose that "something different" - bright, convincing, thought-out and mailed regularly "direct" to your list will prove of much greater values. (This is intended only for the man who feels the bullet strike him).

W.F.M.S. MEETS IN KENSINGTON

The annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the Presbytery of P. E. I., was held on Wednesday and Thursday in Kensington, and was attended by a large number of representatives of the various auxiliaries. Four sessions were convened, and marked enthusiasm was evinced in the work of the organization. The year just closing has been very successful. The sum of $1562.56 was raised for foreign missions, and $88.75 contributed to home missions. Compared with last year's contributions there is a deficit of $46.69, and in view of the pressing demands of the present year for the foreign mission work it was decided to leave the treasurer's account open until July 31st in order that a special effort may be made to wipe out this deficit.

Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, Government House, Charlottetown was re-appointed president of the Presbytery, an office filled by her in the past with marked ability and zeal. Mrs. Neil McLeod, Summerside, and Mrs. Cairns, Charlottetown, were re-appointed to the office of secretary and treasurer respectively and Miss Robertson, York Point, to the office of Secretary of Young People's work.

The beautiful village of Kensington was particularly fair in its rich summer glory, and the hospitality of its homes was unbounded. The church in which the meetings were held has lately undergone repairs and renovation, and with its tasteful decorations of shrubs and blooming plants was very attractive. Miss Lena Murray presided at the organ and gave freely of her wonderful gift of song; in the service of praise.

The public meeting on Wednesday evening was largely attended, the audience completely filling church and schoolroom. Rev. A. D. Stirling, pastor of the church presided and the speakers of the evening were: Rev. Herbert Alexander, returned missionary from India, Rev. E. J. Rattee of Malpeneu and Rev. W. I. Green of Brookfield, all of whom gave interesting and inspiring addresses.

The delegates from this city were: Mrs. G. E. Ross, Mrs. Cairns, Mrs. (Dr.) McNeill, Mrs. S. Sanderson, Mrs. J. T. McKenzie and Miss McIntyre, of whom returned on the express last night.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

On Saturday evening, May 29th, last, they gathered at the home of William McLeod of Hartsville, a very large number of his friends and neighbors to bid him and family farewell before leaving the Island to make their home in far off Vancouver City, B. C. The following address was read by Miss Katherine McKenzie, during which reading Mr. McLeod was presented with a beautiful gold-headed cane, with name inscribed. Mr. McLeod was presented with a valuable index Bible. Also their son, Gordon McLeod was presented by members of Knox L. O. Lodge, with a very fine travelling suit-case.

After the reading of the address, and receiving the presents, Mr. McLeod, with considerable emotion, in a short speech, thanked his many neighbors and friends for their good leave-taking, and expressed his appreciation of the "trouble and expense" that went into "providing the presents."

"During the evening short speeches were made by Daniel McDonald, A. K. McDonald, Rod McLeod, John A. McKenzie, W. H. McLeod and several others present, all expressing regret for Mr. McLeod's departure for the far west. Daniel Lamont sang several patriotic songs. About seven in the party dismissed by singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Dear Sir: A restless characteristic of human life, makes far wells and partings a much greater element in life than we desire. This evening we are called upon to pass through this experience with your family and you. We have learned with regret that you have decided to leave home and go away from your childhood, and where the greater part of your days have been spent.

We feel that we cannot allow the occasion to pass without giving, in some means, an expression of our feelings for your family and yourself. First, we wish to congratulate you on the fact that what renders this parting with your friends in Prince Edward Island necessary, is the devotion shown by those of your family who have for some time been separated from you, for those who denied themselves for them in earlier days. In the course of nature those members of your family were obliged to leave behind them their parental home; and having elected to make their home and engage in the pursuit of life in a far away land, have manifested a praiseworthy spirit such as makes glad a parent's heart.

We rejoice Sir that what causes the ties that bind you to your old home to be broken are the stronger ties of family affection and the desire of your children to make you lot and their mother's happier and brighter than they might be, were you to remain here to feel the separation from them keenly.

We further congratulate you that in the Providence of God your lot shall be cast, not under an alien flag but where you shall enjoy the same beneficial rule that as a Canadian you enjoy here, where you shall enjoy in situations which are much the same as here, because it is Canada still. We know that in a new country, such as that to which you are turning your face there is need of men of character, of clean hands and pure hearts. From what we know of you we feel that we can trust you to play a part of infusing a lofty spirit to the place of your abode. As we turn from our thoughts of regret at parting, and think of what you have stood for in the past, we feel that the land loses such a citizen as you lose a valuable asset and the land that was such, gains something better than material resources.

We have admired the way in which you overcame the disabilities of your childhood days, when educational facilities were necessary, becoming a credit to the community as a citizen, well informed above the common on questions of greatest moment. Your life has ever shown steadfast adherence to honor and truth; and the abiding testimony to what you have stood for as a man is your family who have grown up with us, and among us displaying the characteristics of those who have nobly met at their fireside a pure example of who were faithfully directed in the path of virtue, and to whom what might in any way bring them a stain. Their name has been a good one, and what greater treasure can a father or mother crave for? You have been fearless in expressing opinions and one could always feel that your principles never lead you to follow the easier path of saying to others concerning any one that which you feared to tell themselves face to face.

In all this we would associate the name of Mrs. McLeod whose life has always been worthy of you, whose influence upon your family has always been in line with your own. We cannot forget that when circumstances called you to be away from them, the absence of the father was made up for, by her. She was fond of her home but those who had the pleasure of intimacy with her know her genuine worth, her kindness of disposition, her brightness and cheerfulness and which made her a welcome wherever she went. For those and other qualities we shall miss her.

We have spoken of what you have been as a citizen and father. Let us also assure you that those of us who knew you more intimately, shall greatly miss your quiet humor, your entertaining conversation, your sage philosophy often humorous when wise and when humorous.

Our earnest wish for Mrs. McLeod, the members of the family still with you, and those whom you will rejoin in the new home, that happiness may be yours, and that you may be present at the home of that part of your family in the future.

There is a shore where "adieu and farewells are a sound unknown." May it be yours and ours, under such happy auspices to meet, if we meet here no more.

We ask you to accept this small token of our regard for you, and with the earnest desire that you may long be spared to use it, not as a support companion in your walks through many years of vigorous strength, reminding you of that spot where happy years have been spent and where there are hearts that wish you well.

Murchison, John Ross, and Angus McLeod, Messrs John McGregor, Oliver Anderson and R. Webster, commissioners from St. Peter's spoke of the good and faithful work done by their minister during his long pastorate, and expressed the hope that he would remain among them. The commissioners from Belfast having spoken in reply, the call was placed in the hands of Mr. McKenzie and accepted by him.

Mr. D. McLeod was appointed to preach and read the edict of induction at Belfast on Sabbath July 10th, and 17th.

It was moved by Mr. T. F. Fullerton, seconded by Mr. A. Craise, and carried, that in granting the translation of Mr. McKenzie we hereby place on record our appreciation of the faithful work he has done during a ministry of nearly twenty-five years, and at the same time give expression to our sympathy with the people of St. Peter's and to our hope that under God's blessing they may soon have a settled pastor.

Mr. P. Murray was appointed interim moderator of St. Peter's session, and instructed to have the pulpit declared vacant as soon as possible after the 17th day of July next. Mr. W. H. Spencer reported that applications for aid from the augmentation fund in behalf of the following congregations had been granted, namely: Dunamis, Hampton, Marshfield, Richmond Bay east, West River and Woodville.

On motion it was decided to hold a Presbyterial visitation at lot 14, on Tuesday, the 9th day of August next, at one o'clock, p. m., and at lot 16 on the same day at 3.30, p. m.
