TUESDAY

The funeral of the late Hugh Campbell whose death notice we announced lately took place from his late residence North Wiltshire on Sunday July 29th, the esteem in which deceased was held by his many friends and acquaintances was well attested by the large cortege extended over a mile followed his remains to St. Ann's Lot 65 where service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Gillis. Interment was made in the burying ground alongside.

The late Mr. Campbell was of a kind, cheerful disposition and his home which he labored and built up was an open one, many a wanderer being always made welcome by his cheering words and kind deeds. Besides a sorrowing widow one brother and sister the following children are left to mourn, James, John, and Leo in Montana who were on their way home to bid a last farewell to a loving father when they received the sad news he was dead; Mrs. Conway in Billings, Mont.; Mrs. Chapman, Haverhill, Mass., Ernest, New Hampshire Lewis and Susie at home.

MAJOR PEAKE.

A BRANTFORD SLATE. 1—Fibre Base. 2—First coating of Asphaltum. 3—Second coating of Asphaltum. 4—Coating of crushed slate.

Yesterday and To-day

Wooden shingles of twenty or thirty years ago were of splendid quality, and answered the purpose very well. There was nothing better at that time. In fact no other roofing material was on the market. Yet who would think of putting on shingles to-day? When the deterioration of wooden shingles became noticeable, efforts were made to invent a roofing that would not only be an economical and permanent substitute for wooden shingles, but one that would outlast them in service.

Brantford Roofing was the result. It has "made good." The secret of its success is this: First, the base is of pure, long-fibered felt which is thoroughly saturated with asphalt or mineral pitch. The asphalt and crystal rock roofings are then thickly coated with crushed rock particles, which adhere tightly to that base, and the whole forms a permanent fireproof, water-tight roof.

Brantford Asphalt and Rubber Roofing are made in three different weights. Crystal is made in heavy weight only, and in red or green natural colors. All three grades are pliable and well suited to either flat or steep roofs.

Brantford Roofing

comes in rolls with protected ends. The layers do not stick together and the roofing is easily laid. It requires no painting or tarring when put on. It does not crack with the cold nor melt with the summer's heat. It does not curl, split, rot or blow off. It gives permanent weather and fire protection at a reasonably low initial cost.

May we send you our roofing book and samples? They will show you the real value of these roofing materials.
