Yesterday there was no connection made by the boats with the mainland at all. The Minto left this port at eight o'clock and got out to Fitzroy Rock, about four or five miles past the blockhouse woen she encountered the schooner Jessen, coal laden in distress and stuck in the ice. The Minto deeming the weather too thick outside to cross, took the echooner in tow and brought her to this port. The Minto will cross this morning at eight o'clock and remain in Pictou until the winter service starts in. The Stanley still remains in this port. The Empress will cross today also and will continue running as long as the ice will permit.

A large and representative audience greeted A. E. Morrison at the Baptist Schoolroom last evening on the occasion of his lecture on the Atlantic Cable. His hearers were amply repaid indeed. In crisp, vivid and graphic style the sketches the inception and carrying out of the great work. The almost superhuman efforts overcoming tremendous difficulties, the courage and persistence of C.W. Field and his supporters were pictured splendidly. At Mr. Morrison's climax in describing the final success of the mighty work, his audience broke into involuntary applause. The lecture was illustrated by a large number of excellent lantern views, in addition to which Mr. Morrison exhibited many souvenirs including pieces taken from the cables of 1858, 1865 and 1868. An enthusiastic vote of thanks was moved by A. W. Sterns, seconded by A. F. Webster and briefly supported by James Paton, E. D. Sterns, A. D. Fraser, W. L. Cotton, Horace Hazzard, Revs. T. F. Fullerton and G. R. White.

On Sunday last, Evangelist M. Le. Blaney preached in Central Christian Church, City, for the last time. In appreciation of Mr. Blaney's gifted preaching large audiences attended both services. After the Sunday school services were over, Leonard McKay moved that a vote of thanks be given to Mr. Llaney for the good work he had done for the Sunday school in the short time he had been here. This motion was seconded by Charles Chandler and unanimously taken by a standing vote. Mr. McLeod moved that the vote of appreciation be put in black and white, that Mr. Blaney might always fully realize how much he will be missed. This was considered and decided to be put in form by the superintendent Harry Williams Mr. Blaney ably replied and thanked the members of the Sunday School for their thoughtful kindness to him in his stay here, that he was very sorry to leave this City, for no where had he met such a delightful climate and people. At the farewell service in the evening Mr. Blaney delivered an able sermon on "Who are Christians and what have they done in a century." He also wished any persons connected with newspapers to convey his thanks to the managers and editors of the City, who so kindly advertised his preaching. Mr. Blaney is an able and thoughtful preacher and it is hoped that he will always meet with the success which he has had here.

A steady demand during the cold weather is created on the American market for fresh and frozen fish, so that shippers from this Province who send their consignments to Robert W. The Guardian had a pleasant call yesterday from J. E. Gorman, representing Willis H. Rogers, 106 Fulton Market, New York, and Joseph A. Rich & Co., 184 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, wholesale fish dealers. In speaking of the market Mr. Gorman states that with continued cold weather, the demand will be better this year than ever, with higher market prices. On account of the large catches of number twos on the New Brunswick coast the market rules high on number ones and extras as there is a great scarcity, and shippers from this Province should endeavor, when at all possible, to send ones and extras packed in the required manner that they will reach their destination in a good firm condition. The demand for eels is also reported good. Mr. Gorman, who is at the Queen, will call on his old customers, and will be pleased to meet any new ones, during the next few days.

E. Wyatt Summerside; Mr. McEachern, P. H. Trainor, City, Mr. Ryan of Newfoundland and Evangelist Blaney.

The unexpected and unannounced appearance of Skinner and Woods at New Wonderland last evening was a surprise containing an amount of pleasure which cannot be measured. Their act is far and beyond anything heretofore presented in this City, and in their tidy refined and gentlemanly attire, their splendid dancing, and entire specialty, they are certainly worth paying a big admission fee for. This should not be classed as vaudevielle, it is a specialty of worth, fit for children of youngest age to see, and is something to remember as exceptionally clever, clear and good entertainment.
