CROAT SUSPECT HELD IN ENG.

French Hold Suspect On Technical Charge.

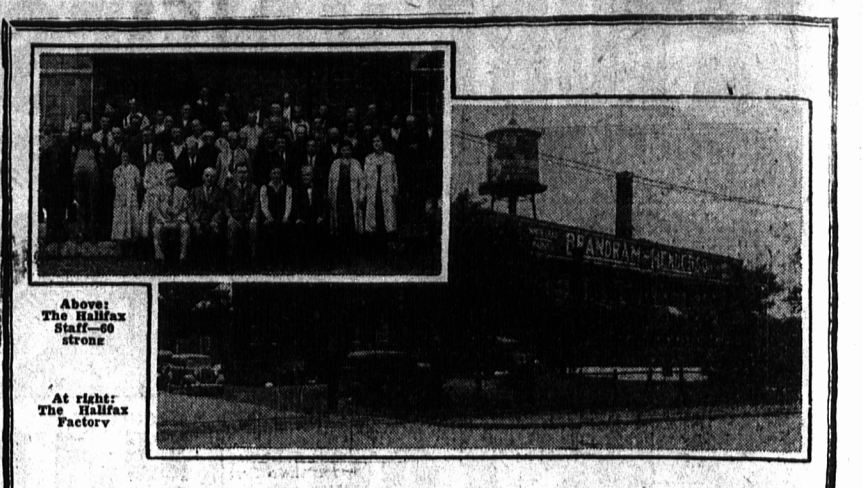

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire)
 PARIS, Oct. 23—England tonight was added to the list of countries frequented by Croatian emigrants, following the arrest by French police of Andrej Artukovich as he stepped from a trans-channel steamer at Dieppe.

Suspected of complicity in the assassinations of the late King and Queen of the Belgians, Artukovich was held on the simple charge of not having his papers in order.

Yugoslav dispatches indicated, police said, that Artukovich was well known in his native land as a member of the Ustashi, a secret terrorism organization of Croatian patriots who are believed responsible for the Marseille assassinations.

Questioned by police, he is supposed to have admitted knowing Dr. Ante Pavelich and Egon Kvaternik, two alleged leaders of the Ustashi who are now held in Italy at Turin pending the outcome of an effort by French police to have them extradited to face trial in France.

Artukovich said he was a native of Croatia, born in 1889.

One of the Maritimes' Chief Industries--

The Brandram-Henderson plant in Halifax makes all the B-H paint and varnish sold in the Maritimes, and all the B-H paint and varnish exported to Newfoundland, Bermuda, the British West Indies and South America.

In fact it does even more—it manufactures all the B-H varnish sold in Canada.

Since the first of the present year the Halifax plant has been, and still is, running to full capacity.

Excellent reports are continually coming to hand regarding the quality of B-H products. At no time in the history of the company have these been more satisfactory than they are to-day.

NORTHCOTE WILL HELPS AUSTRALIA

LONDON, Oct. 23—(By The Canadian Press)—Rt. Hon. Alice Stephen, Baroness Northcote widow of Lord Northcote (at one time Governor of Bombay and later Governor General of Australia) and adopted daughter of the late Lord Mount Stephen, Canadian Pacific Railway pioneer, who died last June, aged 61, left an estate of the gross value of $1,828,000 on which estate duty of about $500,000 has been paid.

A number of other articles were bequeathed to Lord Idlesleigh, desiring that they should become heirlooms, including the Australian banner carried by her husband at the coronation of King George V., and some brass fire-irons made by the sailors of H. R. M. S. Pymachus, given to her husband in 1907 "as a memento of his bravery when H. M. S. Pymachus went around on a coral reef in Australia."

Lady Northcote left various bequests to servants. Her charitable bequests include $2,000 for creches and $5,000 to kindergartens in Australia.

The residue of the property is to form "The Northcote Children's Emigration Fund for Australia," in memory of her husband, to enable and assist poor children, particularly orphans, to emigrate from Great Britain to Australia, and to establish and equip themselves there.

Lady Northcote stated that, in consequence of the recent increases in taxation and death duties, and the consequent loss of income and invested capital, she had been obliged in certain cases to omit bequests which it had been her intention to give to individuals and charities.

FORTUNES GONE, SELLS MATCHES

LONDON, Oct. 23—(By The Canadian Press)—She sells matches now at a London pitch and has done so for 11 years. Miss Katherine Little Poole has spent three fortunes and will not go back to America poor.

Miss Poole is one of the few London street characters with a true American accent. Her father was a Colonel and her mother a society beauty from Washington. On her 20th birthday she was on the stage with a brilliant future before her. From the bottom she worked to the top—on an American three-shows-a-day circuit to London starring Marie Tempest, Ellaline Terris and Seymour Hicks knew her, and she was with George Edwardes for three or four years. She was playing as a star at the Gaiety the day before embarking on a 23 weeks' tour of Australia.

Then came the first of her marriages to an Australian. He died and left her $100,000. She married the nephew of the then Lord Mayor of London, and he died too. She had a second fortune. Her third husband was Isidor Mays, a wholesale tobacco merchant, who died and

Continue Search For Kidnapper

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23—Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., indicted for the abduction of Alice Speed Stoll, tonight preferred prison to freedom and possible attack by her fugitive husband, also wanted for the crime, as she awaited arraignment scheduled for tomorrow.

This was announced by Clem W. Higgins, counsel for the woman now held in default of $50,000 bond. Judge Charles I. Dawson of the federal district court ordered that Mrs. Robinson be arraigned tomorrow tentatively set Oct. 29 as the trial date. This U. S. District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks said, is contingent on the arrival from Nashville of Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., also under indictment.

Search for the younger Robinson, one time insane asylum inmate, continued through the nation. Banks in Seattle were asked to check incoming bills after reports became current that a man answering Robinson's description had been in that area.

In this contest the Blackbirds were awarded the highest marks, the Thrush Patrol came second and the Swallow Patrol third.

American Bankers Criticise U. S. Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—(CP)—Direct and frequently harsh criticism of United States Government recovery policies today dominated the opening sessions of the annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

Speakers at the meeting, considered one of the most significant in the Association's history, moreover, were ready with a vigorous denial of the often repeated charge that the banks have refused to cooperate with the government and have retarded recovery by unduly restricting loans.

At President Roosevelt one speaker leveled an accusation of unfairness in his recent comparison of British and United States bankers, while another suggested a lack of statesmanship in his signing the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium bill. This measure in effect provides a five-year postponement of farm indebtedness.

The treasury as accused of trying to "borrow its way out of debt." Relief methods were described as tending to "freeze the depression at the bottom." The Federal Reserve system, it was asserted, has become subservient to the treasury.

The extent of recovery to date another asserted, could be measured by the depreciation of the currency. An end of monetary uncertainty was demanded.

Of defence there was none. Nevertheless, officers of the association were backing a move for moderation which was expected to find its outlet in resolutions to be adopted at the close of the convention. A committee will begin the formulation of these tomorrow.

Threaten To Extend Strike

BOSTON, Oct. 22—With operations seriously curtailed in this port by the strike of fishermen and allied workers, union leaders said tonight that steps were being taken to extend the strike to New Bedford and Gloucester. Spokesmen for the strikers insisted the strike already was being felt in New Bedford and that action was expected at a meeting in Gloucester this evening which would prevent shipment of fish from that port to Boston.

HONOUR

In an article which appeared in McLean's Magazine for August, Hon. Frank Carrell, of Quebec, is quoted as saying: "I realized several years ago that if we could not instill more honour and integrity into our financial administration there was little hope for the future."

"In England a boy from his birth is taught in home, school and university that honour is the greatest trait in character. I have noticed in my travels around the world that this trait has brought more trade to the British Isles than any other influence."

"We seem to have forgotten this in Canada, and what is sometimes aggravating to me is to meet businessmen who repel such criticism and endeavour to find reasons for its defence, among which is the old story that this is a new country and loose practice must be tolerated in business to keep things going."

STARLINGS APPEAR IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Sociability is doubtless a fine thing but it has its limitations in the case of the starling which is causing considerable worry to many communities in both the United States and Canada. The starling is a very hardy and adaptable bird and has demonstrated its ability to thrive, multiply and extend its domain, states the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways. They are great believers in the maxim "One for all and all for one," and since their importation into the United States from England, they have extended their territory to a vast extent and have now invaded New Brunswick but as yet in limited numbers. Just what the people are going to do about it is not defined at this time but if the bird carries on as it has in the past the starling will become a problem in the Maritime Provinces.

STYLES NOT OFF THE GOLD STANDARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 23—The monetary situation is reflected in feminine fashions, and while the United States dollar has gone off the gold standard, styles have adopted a high gold content.

There is gold in fashions for daytime, sport and evening wear. There is even a revival in yellow gold wedding rings.

But it is in the evening that gold sparkles the brightest. Gold metallic cloth is one of fashion's pet fabrics right now, especially for formal wear. Evening gowns and wraps are styled in it. Gold sequins glitter in evening hats, capes and party bags.

For semi-formal wear, gold sequins and gold metallic cloth are being used for trimmings, as are some new fashions, the petals of which are of gold sequins.

SOUTH AFRICAN YOUNGSTERS NOT YET ACQUAINTED WITH SHINGLES BUT THERE ARE HOPES

So far it would seem South African youngsters in general do not know just what the good old fashioned shingle feels like but there are possibilities that they will make its acquaintance in the not far distant future, at least if Canadian manufacturers can convince South Africans of the merits of the shingle. The shingle is very little used in South Africa due to lack of proper knowledge of how to use them for roofing, the popular forms of roof material in use being tile, galvanized iron and shingles made out of other than wood. It is only in the better class home that wooden shingles are sometimes specified and chiefly in Capetown, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. There is, however, a growing tendency to use cedar shingles and one of these days some wide-awake Canadian shingle manufacturer is going to put on an educational campaign which will result in the merits of the Canadian product being better known. This will probably relieve the strain on the slipper industry.

OTHER EMPIRE COUNTRIES REPORT TRADE RECOVERY

Other Empire countries are reported to the fore in economic recovery. In far off Northern Rhodesia exports increased 38.8 per cent during 1933 while imports increased approximately 3.6 per cent, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Due to the demand for minerals, indications are that Northern Rhodesia will continue to enjoy favourable trade balances for a number of years. The mining industry during 1933 maintained a constant output which meant fixed and regular employment and, in turn, this tended to stabilize trade conditions in the industrial area. Transportation for practically the whole of the internal trade is provided by the Rhodesian Railways connecting with the coast at Beira, Capetown, Port Elizabeth and Durban.
