There peacefully passed away on Sabbath morning Feb. 28th Neil M. Gillis of Orwell, in the sixty-seventh year of his age. The deceased was well and favorably known by a large circle of friends who were shocked to hear of his sudden death. A few days since he was in his usual health and now is mourned the departure of a loving husband and father and true friend. The funeral on Wednesday last was the largest in the community for some time as all were anxious to pay their last respects to the deceased. Rev. D. B. McLeod conducted the impressive services, the pall-bearers being, Captain Craig, D. D. McLeod, D. R. McDonald, Joseph McRae, Wm. Greenwood, Neil Gillis. Mr. Gillis leaves to mourn a widow and four sons and three daughters viz. John M., Brookline, Mass., Alexander home from St. John, N. B., James N., of Moir, B. C., and Louise H. at home, Kate, Mrs. Hector McDonald of Orwell Cove, Christina, Mrs. Malcolm Gillis, Dorchester, Mass., and Margaret at home. Interment at DeLust Cemetery. (Pat. please copy.)

The following marriage is taken from a recent Boston exchange: At the residence of Mrs. Jeannette MacFadyen of East Eagle St., Miss Margaret McEachern and Arthur Dalrymple were united in marriage by the Rev. Charles J. Jones, with the single service. The house was artistically decorated with chrysanthemums. The bride was charming in a white tulle and lace gown, and she carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses. Her ornament was a handsome brooch, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret L. McEachern, a cousin of the bride, wore pale blue silk and carried pink roses. The best man was John McEachern, a brother of the bride. The bride's gift to her attendant was a pearl brooch, and the best man was presented with a jeweled scarf pin. At the reception there were over a hundred guests present. The bridal party were assisted in receiving by Miss Annie Robinson, who wore pearl grey silk and carried a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums. The young couple were the recipients of many useful and valuable gifts. They will reside in Whitehop. Mrs. Dalrymple is a daughter of Neil and Mrs. McEachern, Rice Point. The Guardian extends congratulations.

"A naval seaman has once every day to salute the quarter-deck of his ship, even if no officer is upon it. "Saluda" Tea is in such popular favor that many people feel like saluting a packet whenever seen.

The third session of the quarterly official board of the Pownal circuit was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Lane, Mt. Mellick on Thursday the 4th inst. The Women's Missionary Auxiliary met at the same home at the same hour, after the devotional exercises were concluded the societies took separate rooms and conducted the usual business. All the appointments on the circuit were well represented after members of the Board being present. The receipts for the quarter showed the finances to be in a healthy condition. The following resolution was unanimously passed. We the Quarterly Official Board of the Pownal Methodist Circuit here assembled desire to state that we view with great disfavor the bill now before the legislature proposing to license persons to solicit orders for the supplying of liquors in P. E. Island, and would respectfully request Premier Hazard to withdraw this iniquitous measure, and would ask our representatives to discontinue it by word and act.

The following clipping is taken from an Attleboro, Mass. exchange. Also Isabelle McQuarrie and George Hatch were married recently at the home of the bride by Rev. J. Lee Mitchell, of the Congregational Church. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, including many from out of town. Miss J. Kinney was the bridesmaid and John McQuarrie, a brother of the bride, best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will now be on a trip, after which they will reside in Mooseport, Conn., where Mr. Hatch is employed as the manager of a large store. Both of the young people are well known in the town, and have many friends. Miss McQuarrie is a native of Prince Edward Island, but has made her home in Attleboro during the last few years. She has been employed at the F. H. Perry store in North Main street. Mr. Hatch was formerly the manager of the Perry store, but recently resigned to accept a better position. Many gifts were received, and the couple left town amid a shower of confetti and the best wishes of all.

The Frasers made the bit of their engagement last night at New Wonderland, and the entertainment was certainly a rare treat. Annie Fraser simply fetched the house with Harry Lander's songs and the pictures had to be stopped for her to make her third appearance. The Scotch dances were perfect, and the Frasers were surely the best imputation yet at New Wonderland. The abominable action of some person in putting red pepper on the radiator was followed by a $5 reward by the lady manager who intends dealing severely with all such offenders. Persons were delegated last night for duty in keeping a close watch for such people and it is hoped they will be known at once. Miss Fraser will sing stop you tickling Jock again tonight.

The Guardian has received from Carter & Co., Ltd., their seed catalogue for 1909. This is the 29th year of their establishment in the seed business in Charlottetown and with commendable enterprise they again offer to the trade only the most suitable varieties of seed for this soil and climate. A representative of the firm has visited the seed growing centres of Ontario where contracts are given for large quantities of choice seed wheat, clover, timothy seed, white and black seed oats, etc. The firm have a splendid mail order system and all orders by mail receive personal and prompt attention, and any quantity may be ordered from the small package of choice seeds up. The catalogue is profusely illustrated and gives an excellent idea of the prices and quality of vegetables, etc.

"A window which will draw a crowd of admirers today will be seen at Johnston's Drugstore when a small boy and girl will give a demonstration of the proper way to take ("Moire's") kisses.
