—HOME PROJECT WORK—On Thursday, May 13th, Prof. Ross and Mr. W. R. Shaw, District Representative for Queens, paid a visit to Grand Traverse School for the purpose of stimulating an interest in School Garden Work, and organizing with the teacher, Mr. C. J. McLean, home project plots. Both teacher and pupils are very enthusiastic over the work, and are only awaiting more suitable conditions to begin operations on the soil. Part of the school grounds which were ploughed last Autumn are to be laid off into three plots; one for flowers, one for grains and one for vegetables and the remainder is to be sowed in buckwheat; which will place it in excellent condition for another season. Prof. Ross, after giving the pupils a brief review of their studies, at which they indicated the careful instruction of their teacher, explained clearly the necessary conditions for germination in the soil, showing why a fine well pulverized soil is more conducive to plant growth than one of a coarser nature, giving up its plant food more quickly, and making better use of manures applied. He then explained germination and pointed out that the first growth is dependent on the stored food in the seed until it acquires roots and leaves, when it can procure food

YOUR SKIN NEEDS FOOD

Is your skin harsh and dry? Are there signs of approaching wrinkles? Are you getting worried about the possible loss of your youthful beauty? Cleopatra don't worry about these things. You needn't if Usit is applied.

Cleopatra and the noted beauties of the East knew perfectly well that the skin requires food, just as does the rest of the body. They fed their skin with a preparation of Oriental oils, the secret of which has been so jealously guarded by succeeding generations that it has only recently come to light.

Men, too, find Usit a valuable friend. An occasional application to the face not only feeds the skin and keeps it in the healthiest condition, but it leaves the face much easier to shave. Experience alone proves how much easier.

Usit is the traffic mark name by which this preparation is known and sold by all druggists, wholesale and retail. Usit Mfg. Co., Ltd., 476 Rensselaire Ave., Toronto, Ont.

WILL WE HAVE A NELSON?

Dardanelles a Glittering Opportunity For Daring Naval Commander

With the fortifications of the Dardanelles completely cut off from their base of supplies by a strong cordon of land forces, the middle ground the way lies clear for the assault of the well nigh impregnable channel by which alone Turkey prevails in Europe. With the Dardanelles in the power of the Allies, Turkish territory will be limited to the old bounds in Asia, and the Ottoman's empire considerably shrunk.

But—the task of reducing the fortifications of this famous channel is worthy of the steel of none less than Horatio Nelson.

When the last shell is spent and the last fox-crowned trooper has laid down his arms in surrender and the complete flag of truce is thrown wide to the crashing advance of our victorious legions, then—run up the Union Jack on every home in the dominion.

It will be indeed a day of celebration, and The Guardian has provided its readers with the wherewithal to celebrate by securing for distribution complete flag outfits which are offered to its readers practically without price as set forth in the announcement on another page of today's issue.

Big showy banners, finely made, brass pointed poles, window socket and halyard comprise the outfit—leaving nothing necessary to be bought.

There's one for every reader, more than one if necessary for every patriotic home in our broad domain, but no time should be lost in securing them as no one knows what nearby day will bring the news of the fall of the Dardanelles. 1022-5-18MEX.

ALL-STAR PROGRAM AT THE PRINCE EDWARD

The usual Monday crowd wended its way to the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday and were amply rewarded in the line of entertainment by the excellent programme provided.

The principal picture was the three-part Broadway Star Feature, "Officer Jim", which held the close attention of the audience throughout. It deals with the work of a police officer in a large city. Apart from the graphic description of police work an interesting and gripping story runs throughout the entire three reels.

Among the startling incidents are a terrific chase and fight on the roof of a high building and a daring rescue by the policeman of a baby from a burning building. Round after round of applause greeted each daring feat during the entire play.

"The Master Key" serial was also shown. This great serial does not contain one dull moment. It keeps the audience keyed up to the highest pitch of excitement while it is on the screen.

Another interesting series of stories started yesterday, "The Hazards of Helen", featuring "Helen Holmes" and if the rest of the series are as good as the first it should prove a great drawing card to the list of good pictures shown at this popular theatre.

Each play of the series is a complete story. The comedy end of the programme was supplied by an L. K. O. Comedy, which kept the audience laughing continuously from start to finish. To-day Mr. C. W. Edwards, baritone, opens an engagement. Mr. Gallagher has heard Mr. Edwards sing often and it is safe to predict his engagement will prove as popular in Charlottetown as in Montreal and Ottawa.

The same programme will be repeated to-day at all three shows.

The object lessons given were clear, and the smallest child was interested. At the close of his talk, songs were given by some of the pupils, after which the grounds were inspected and the site of the School gardens decided upon. In the evening, Mr. Shaw and Mr. McLean visited the homes of the pupils taking up project work and gave all necessary instructions in the carrying out of the same. Where possible the plots were selected and measured. The parents all through seemed to be anxious to co-operate with both children and teacher in the work, and judging from the enthusiasm displayed, both school gardens and home project work are going to prove a grand success.

Mr. McLean is to be congratulated on the resolute manner in which he is conducting the project, and many thanks are due him for the time and energy he is spending to make it a success.

The following children have already indicated their intention of carrying on Home Project work:

BRITISH PRESS PAYS VANDERBILT EULOGY.

LONDON, May 15—There have been many editorial comments on the death of Alfred Vanderbilt, of which the following, from the Westminster Gazette, is typical: "To the most of us the name of Vanderbilt suggests the great wealth used in this country in reviving and sustaining the pleasant pastime of coaching, but for the future the name will always remind us of the gallant gentleman who knew how to die. "Not the least moving of the many moving stories which we have read of the Lusitania is the story of how Vanderbilt organized search parties for 'kidnappers' and got them into boats, and how, just before the end, unable to swim a yard himself, he gave his life to save a young woman. These are days when it is the commonest thing for men to meet death with coolness and courage, but even in these days we will not forget the story of Vanderbilt's humanity and sacrifice."
