

PRINCE EDWARD—Today and Wednesday

SINGIN' AND SWINGIN' AND BRINGIN' YOU FUN! POWELL and BLONDELL GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937 VICTOR MOORE, GLENDA FARRELL-LEE, DIXON-OSGOOD PERKINS, ROSALIND MARQUIS

Capitol—Today & Wed

Life meets death... happiness mingles with despair... Love defies a shattering challenge! ADOLPH ZUKOR presents

CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE L-6798-7-12-312 GROCERS AND HOUSEWIVES Buy Robin Hood Flour now you will not regret it.

CRASWELL for Photographs. CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE L-6798-7-12-312 WEDNESDAY is Dance night at the Highlands.

Canada's Radium Valuable Aid To Medical World

(By Guy E. Rhodes, Canadian Press Staff Writer) OTTAWA, June 28.—(CP)—The Canadian and Ontario Medical Association yesterday entertained Lord Tweedsmuir and heard a distinguished French radiologist say friends of this country rejoice at evidence of vast stores of Radium which permit prophesy of matches equipment for Radium treatment of disease.

3 TIMES WEEKLY S.S. SAINT JOHN SAILS TO BOSTON S. S. Saint John sails from Reed's Pier, Saint John, at 7:30 P.M. (A.T.), Mondays, Thursdays, Saturdays.

COMING THUR. Jane Withers in "ANGEL'S HOLIDAY" LOUIS vs BRADDOCK A DOCTOR'S DIARY FIGHT PICTURES

EBBUTT—McNAUGHTON WEDDING—The wedding which took place at Antigonish June 8 at St. James United Church when Miss Helen Amelia McNaughton and the late John C. McNaughton of Antigonish became the bride and groom.

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.—Rev. Ewen MacDougall will preach Wednesday 30th in Peoples Church City, at 7:30 P. M. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed Sabbath July 4th in the Kirk DeSable, service at 10:30 and 7 P. M. Rev. Dr. Renwick, Missionary from Peru will assist the Minister.

YORK PERSONALS.—Master Raymond Waitts reached his home at York Sunday after an operation for appendicitis also Lorna Waitts and Freddie Keizer. ISLANDER KILLED.—The Guardian regrets to learn of the sudden death of Mr. James Readey Dorchester, Mass., in an automobile accident. Mr. Readey is a brother of Mr. Dan Readey, Covehead Road.

Island Motor Transport Ltd. BUS SCHEDULES LEAVE CHARLOTTETOWN FOR SUMMERSIDE (By way of Hunter River and Kensington) Daily except Sunday — 7:30 10:20 12:00 4:00 10:00

Eastern Guardian

GROCERS AND HOUSEWIVES Buy Robin Hood Flour now you will not regret it. L-2035-6-28-2Wks.

DR. L. A. Johnston's Dental Office will be closed July 1st to 10th. L-2047-6-28-2B.

STORE CLOSED all day Dominion Day July 1st, Clark Bros, Montague. L-2116-6-29-11.

SCRIPTIONS to the Charlotte Town Guardian may be handed to their Rept. Archie Hume.

PAINFUL INJURY.—Mr. Claude Nicholson, Montague is able to be about again after his recent accident. Mr. Nicholson received a deep cut on his forehead, just above his left eye, while working in his father's garage. He was taken to Kings County Hospital six stitches were required to close the wound.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.—Mr. Cyrus Moore, who was the victim of a serious accident while working on his farm at Union Road, recently is being comfortably at King's County Hospital. Mr. Moore was using a roller on his farm when the horse became frightened, throwing the man from his seat. In falling his hand became jammed between the roller and frame and this is what eventually stopped the horse. Mr. Moore's hand and forearm was badly crushed. It was thought at first that amputation would be necessary but, luckily, no infection has set in and healing is taking place.

Mrs. N. J. Nicholson returned to Montague on Saturday evening after visiting relatives in Boston.

The many friends of Mrs. Clarence White, Montague, will be glad to know that she is doing very nicely since her operation at King's County Hospital on Wednesday.

PRENGLE—HOLMES.—A very pretty wedding took place in St. Andrew's Anglican church, Mulgrave, on Tuesday morning, when Hazel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Holmes, became the bride of Kenneth Pringle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Pringle, of West Bay. Rev. J. T. Turner, pastor officiated. Beautifully dressed was the interior of the church, the arch and pulpit were particularly attractive, banked with green moss, white lilacs, pansies, and ferns. Miss Helen Wyde played the wedding march. A picture of loveliness, in a gown of white satin and lace with conventional veil and orange blossoms, accessories matching and her bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas, the bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Margaret McKenzie of St. George's Channel attended the bride, and was charming in blue net over satin with white accessories and her bouquet of pink roses. William Pringle acted as his brother's best man. Previous to her marriage the bride was guest of honor at both occasions, receiving many lovely gifts. Following a honeymoon trip to Prince Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Pringle will reside in town.

HEROIC FIGURES Come In Prices For Rebuilding FARNBOROUGH, England, June 28.—(CP)—Canada's $250,000 National War Memorial is ready to be placed elsewhere in or near the Capital. It was designed with the plaza in mind, and you will see on the original sketch that it was done to conform with the architecture of the surrounding buildings.

The arch bears no inscription except "1914-1918"—in plain square-cut figures. But the memorial carries an air of grandeur in stone and bronze. The figures are real and their uniforms and equipment done with a nice anticipation of a pernickety sergeant-major. There is a lively sense of motion as a group moves through the misty arch, the shoulders symbolic grace and skyward with a symbolic grace and skyward with the whole work has a still nobility that will withstand familiarity.

Story of the memorial does not begin with its shipment to Canada, however great a task that may be. It begins, rather, in 1925 when the Canadian government's competition for a design was won by Vernon March, youngest of seven brothers in a Yorkshire farming family that had moved to Kent, Vernon died before the task was finished but the brothers, and his sister, carried on and when it was temporarily displayed in Hyde Park, London in 1927 it gained exceptional praise. Since then it has been slightly altered while awaiting selection of a site in Canada.

None of the Marches ever attended an art college or school except in their youth. They were all born and lived the first part of their lives on a Yorkshire farm. March, it is said, wanted to paint as a child but was prevented by practical considerations. She was intent that if any of her children showed interest in art they would be encouraged.

The eldest brother began to paint. The second "decided to try sculpturing because my brother was using all the paint brushes." It followed that the remaining brothers and sisters all took a more or less active interest in painting or sculpturing or both.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. MacMillan and grandson Milo and Mr. and Mrs. A. Alton, Hartland, N. B., and Mr. and Mrs. Bookler of Detroit, Mich., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dickleson, Euston Street.

Mrs. Edward McFadyen, Mrs. Lester McWilliams, Mrs. Charles Crossman, Mrs. Roy Clarke, of Augustine Cove, were visitors to the city yesterday, coming by car.

Miss May Walker and Miss Bernice LePage, and Mrs. Isano Walker and Mr. Albert Walker of Kensington formed a motor party and went to Souris and St. Peters over the week-end, visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. Allison McLean, Montague, and Mr. and Mrs. Amb. Rodd spent Sunday at York, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Watts.

Mr. Edwin Crockett, Inspector Bank of Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Crockett are spending a few days at York, the guests of Mrs. (Col.) G. Crockett.

Hon. A. MacNab, Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, accompanied by Mrs. MacNab and their two daughters, Mrs. R. B. Little of Saskatoon and Mrs. W. J. Harmon, and Mr. Harmon, of Toronto, are now making their first tour of the Maritimes. They were in New Glasgow over the week-end and expect to visit Prince Edward Island before returning to the West.

Heroic Figures Come In Prices For Rebuilding

The arch bears no inscription except "1914-1918"—in plain square-cut figures. But the memorial carries an air of grandeur in stone and bronze. The figures are real and their uniforms and equipment done with a nice anticipation of a pernickety sergeant-major. There is a lively sense of motion as a group moves through the misty arch, the shoulders symbolic grace and skyward with the whole work has a still nobility that will withstand familiarity.

Story of the memorial does not begin with its shipment to Canada, however great a task that may be. It begins, rather, in 1925 when the Canadian government's competition for a design was won by Vernon March, youngest of seven brothers in a Yorkshire farming family that had moved to Kent, Vernon died before the task was finished but the brothers, and his sister, carried on and when it was temporarily displayed in Hyde Park, London in 1927 it gained exceptional praise. Since then it has been slightly altered while awaiting selection of a site in Canada.

None of the Marches ever attended an art college or school except in their youth. They were all born and lived the first part of their lives on a Yorkshire farm. March, it is said, wanted to paint as a child but was prevented by practical considerations. She was intent that if any of her children showed interest in art they would be encouraged.

The eldest brother began to paint. The second "decided to try sculpturing because my brother was using all the paint brushes." It followed that the remaining brothers and sisters all took a more or less active interest in painting or sculpturing or both.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. MacMillan and grandson Milo and Mr. and Mrs. A. Alton, Hartland, N. B., and Mr. and Mrs. Bookler of Detroit, Mich., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dickleson, Euston Street.

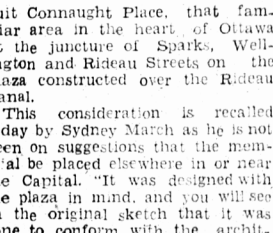

Mrs. Edward McFadyen, Mrs. Lester McWilliams, Mrs. Charles Crossman, Mrs. Roy Clarke, of Augustine Cove, were visitors to the city yesterday, coming by car.

Miss May Walker and Miss Bernice LePage, and Mrs. Isano Walker and Mr. Albert Walker of Kensington formed a motor party and went to Souris and St. Peters over the week-end, visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. Allison McLean, Montague, and Mr. and Mrs. Amb. Rodd spent Sunday at York, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Watts.

Mr. Edwin Crockett, Inspector Bank of Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Crockett are spending a few days at York, the guests of Mrs. (Col.) G. Crockett.

Hon. A. MacNab, Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan, accompanied by Mrs. MacNab and their two daughters, Mrs. R. B. Little of Saskatoon and Mrs. W. J. Harmon, and Mr. Harmon, of Toronto, are now making their first tour of the Maritimes. They were in New Glasgow over the week-end and expect to visit Prince Edward Island before returning to the West.

By James W. Barton, M.D.

That Body of Yours

THE REACTION OF TROUBLE OR MISFORTUNE That the condition of our health or surroundings has much to do with the way we face trouble or difficulty is admitted, for as the saying is, "An attack of indigestion, a sleepless night, and a rainy morning will make a coward out of one who might otherwise have been a hero."

Some years ago I wrote an article or a popular magazine entitled "The Organ That Makes You A Quaker," pointed out that the condition of the liver—the king of the organs—was a vital factor in affecting our everyday work and our ambitions.

However the way trouble or misfortune affects individuals in ordinary or good health varies with the individual. Dr. Franz Alexander in Hygeia, the health magazine for the family, published by the American Medical Association says:

In general the reaction of external misfortunes may be classified in three types: (1) overreaction, (2) indifference, and (3) paradoxical reaction, denoting an improvement of an (all ready) existing nervous disturbance.

Overreaction takes unfavorable events seriously, becomes depressed or loses interest in life entirely; doesn't want to live any more.

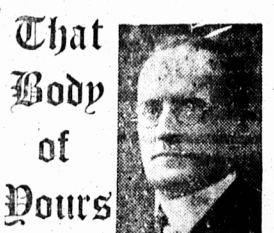

The "indifferent" reaction of the individual is exceedingly indifferent to all kinds of misfortunes. And this indifferent attitude can be just as serious or harmful to the individual as the overreaction just mentioned.

As a matter of fact it is not really that these individuals are indifferent to "everything" (misfortunes or other conditions) but because they have something else in or on their minds, which, while not really important, seems so important to them that "outside" misfortunes do not seem worth worrying or bothering about.

Dr. Alexander speaks of a German officer who had such a "compulsion" to want to know if everything in his pockets was intact, that he would stop anywhere, on the street or under the bombardment of shells, and satisfy himself that nothing was gone from his pockets. The contents of his pockets was more important in his mind than anything else—the danger from a bursting shell. These individuals "remain untouched, therefore, by the worst misfortunes since all their attention and emotions are centred on their inner troubles or conflicts—even if they seem to us of very little importance."

The "paradox" type is where the individual already afflicted with trouble or misfortune undergoes another misfortune and instead of being further depressed or discouraged actually becomes free of all his previous trouble. "Real suffering, such as financial losses, loss of position, and even loss of beloved relatives has been known to call forth an improvement of mental disturbances."

SHOW FAMOUS OLD COACH BERLIN — (CP) The golden coronation coach used by George I. of Great Britain's Hanoverian King is among the royal treasures on view at Herenhausen, Castle, Hanover, now open to the public.

By James W. Barton, M.D.

That Body of Yours

THE REACTION OF TROUBLE OR MISFORTUNE That the condition of our health or surroundings has much to do with the way we face trouble or difficulty is admitted, for as the saying is, "An attack of indigestion, a sleepless night, and a rainy morning will make a coward out of one who might otherwise have been a hero."

Some years ago I wrote an article or a popular magazine entitled "The Organ That Makes You A Quaker," pointed out that the condition of the liver—the king of the organs—was a vital factor in affecting our everyday work and our ambitions.

However the way trouble or misfortune affects individuals in ordinary or good health varies with the individual. Dr. Franz Alexander in Hygeia, the health magazine for the family, published by the American Medical Association says:

In general the reaction of external misfortunes may be classified in three types: (1) overreaction, (2) indifference, and (3) paradoxical reaction, denoting an improvement of an (all ready) existing nervous disturbance.

Overreaction takes unfavorable events seriously, becomes depressed or loses interest in life entirely; doesn't want to live any more.

The "indifferent" reaction of the individual is exceedingly indifferent to all kinds of misfortunes. And this indifferent attitude can be just as serious or harmful to the individual as the overreaction just mentioned.

As a matter of fact it is not really that these individuals are indifferent to "everything" (misfortunes or other conditions) but because they have something else in or on their minds, which, while not really important, seems so important to them that "outside" misfortunes do not seem worth worrying or bothering about.

Dr. Alexander speaks of a German officer who had such a "compulsion" to want to know if everything in his pockets was intact, that he would stop anywhere, on the street or under the bombardment of shells, and satisfy himself that nothing was gone from his pockets. The contents of his pockets was more important in his mind than anything else—the danger from a bursting shell. These individuals "remain untouched, therefore, by the worst misfortunes since all their attention and emotions are centred on their inner troubles or conflicts—even if they seem to us of very little importance."

The "paradox" type is where the individual already afflicted with trouble or misfortune undergoes another misfortune and instead of being further depressed or discouraged actually becomes free of all his previous trouble. "Real suffering, such as financial losses, loss of position, and even loss of beloved relatives has been known to call forth an improvement of mental disturbances."

SHOW FAMOUS OLD COACH BERLIN — (CP) The golden coronation coach used by George I. of Great Britain's Hanoverian King is among the royal treasures on view at Herenhausen, Castle, Hanover, now open to the public.

Spinning & Weaving Send me your wool to be spun into yarn and woven into blankets. Charges are, single yarn 23 cents per pound, doubled yarn 28 cents.

WM. CONDON, 65 Queen St. Charlottetown

Professional Cards EGAN & CO. Chartered Accountants 140 Richmond Street Phone 47. P. O. Box 12.

McLeod & Bentley W. E. BENTLEY, K. C. J. A. BENTLEY, K. C. Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law MONEY TO LOAN

Palmer & Haslam H. J. PALMER, K. C. A. J. HASLAM, B. A., LL. B. BARRISTERS, ETC. Bank of Nova Scotia Chambers Charlottetown, P. E. I. MONEY TO LOAN

H. F. McPHEE, B. A., K. C. NOTARY & BARRISTER, SOLICITOR RILEY Building, Charlottetown

Bell & Mathieson R. R. Bell, D. L. Mathieson, LL.B. Barristers & Solicitors MONEY TO LOAN Cameron Block, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

MacGuigan & Trainor MARK R. MacGuigan, K. C. C. ST. CLAIR TRAINOR, B. A. Barristers, Solicitors, ETC. MONEY TO LOAN Office: Over Provincial Bank, Richmond Street, Charlottetown.

Georgetown—Charlottetown Bus Service STARTING MONDAY, MAY 10th Leave Georgetown — 8:00 A.M. Cardigan — 8:30 A.M. 48 Station — 8:40 A.M. St. Theresa's — 8:50 A.M. Peakes — 9:00 A.M. Phoenix — 9:10 A.M. Fort Augustus — 9:20 A.M. Webster's Corner — 9:35 A.M. Arrive Charlottetown — 10:00 A.M. Leave Charlottetown — 4:00 P.M. Peakes — 5:00 P.M. Cardigan — 5:30 P.M. Arrive Georgetown — 6:00 P.M. Passengers are fully protected by insurance for any accident that may happen while driving in this Bus.

The Rockfeller Trotters (By W. H. Gocher) The recent death of John D. Rockfeller recalls the fact that he was the last of the prominent drivers of trotters which were seen on the New York roads in the eighties. For fifteen or eighteen years during the fall and winter months his trotters occupied a stable on West 55th Street, New York. They were next door to a stable of Robert Bonner which in its day sheltered such champions as Dexter, Barus, and Maud S. Sandy McLean had charge of his horses. After his death the horses were sold and Mr. Rockfeller took up bicycle riding at Forest Hills, his Cleveland residence, and subsequently golf.

Madam Doyle is giving readings from 1 to 9:30 P.M. at the Elms. 183 King St. City L-2029-6-29-61

While he owned a number of trotters John D. Rockfeller bought very few with records. The first pair that he had was a cross match team, the black gelding Midnight 2:13 1/4 and the gray mare Kate McCall 2:23. He was frequently seen in New York on Seventh Avenue, and Fleetwood Park behind this pair while they were kept in Cleveland in his private stable at the Cleveland Driving Park.

STANHOPE BEACH INN OPENING JULY 1st. GOLF TENNIS SADDLE RIDING DEEP SEA FISHING Arrangements can be made to accommodate Deep Sea fishing parties on short notice. Dinner parties must make reservations three hours in advance of meal. For Rates and Reservations Phone or Write The Management L-2054-6-29-41.

After they were retired he purchased Dodgeville 2:14 1/4 and the Red Wilkes mare Bonhomme 2:17 1/4. The latter showed well on the snow. He purchased Annie W. 2:20 and exchanged her with C. F. Emery for a mare by Monaco out of the pacer Mattie Hunter. The last road horse that he selected for his stable was a gelding named Brown Wilkes. He was named Brown Wilkes after the man from whom he purchased him. His brother William Rockfeller also had a stable in West 55th Street, New York, on the opposite side of the street. He first attracted attention on the New York roads with the gray horse Cleora, J. P. Gilbert, who developed independence, had charge of them. In 1883 he shipped them to Hartford and gave them a record of 2:16 1/4 to a pole cart. He tried again in September. While on two occasions they trotted in 2:16 1/2 they were unable to equal the record which they made in the spring. William Rockfeller's other road horses were Wild Rake 2:22 3/4 purchased from A. J. Welch and Vesta Evans 2:15 1/4 purchased from J. O. Gray of Boston. Later on he acquired a farm near Greenwich, Conn., and took his horses there. At that place he bred Independence to Cleora and named Bob Frost and sold to his brother John D.

Frank Rockfeller, the third brother, was not very fond of driving on the road and devoted the most of his spare time to breeding trotters. He purchased the most of his stock from Woodburn Farm. From Lode Clark he got William and Patsy Clark, both of which were trained by Ed Geers. He also for a time owned the black mare Maud C. 2:10 1/4 which was also in Geers stable.

At one of the Cleveland fall meetings he purchased the sensational gelding Billy Fanny Foley by Redwood. She made a two year old record of 2:19 1/4 but went wrong and was retired. Shortly after this Frank Rockfeller retired from the Standard Trotting Company and moved to New York where he bred Hereford cattle.

CHELMSFORD, England.—(P)—Dr. Henry Wilson, Bishop of Chelmsford, believes the day of small schools for not more than 300 children is coming and the consequent abandonment of huge, expensive buildings.

Mindard's Liniment removes stains.