The Immigrant

red acres. He secured four young men at a wage satisfactory to both parties. One evening the newspaper announced that a railway passage to Winnipeg might be had for fourteen dollars instead of the usual hundred. The young man disappeared, and this eastern farm is deserted although it is capable of yielding fifty bushels of wheat to the acre. These cheap railway fares have demoralized farming in the East. It will not recover until the West is filled up or evacuated. Next, the "business man" reproaches the farmer for his indisposition to purchase machines. Machinery is fatal to good farming. Worse still, it makes bad farming possible. The average yield of wheat in Canada last year was less than ten bushels to the acre, less than eight if next year's seed be reserved. Machinery alone made it possible to secure so meagre a crop. Machinery is the cause of the meagreness. If a man reaps his harvest with his own hand, he will concentrate his efforts. His field will be small and his crop heavy. The land will support more people. They will live close and develop a society. In England, according to Mr. Vanderlip, the land carries forty-six farmers to the hundred acres; in America a farm of a hundred acres carries less than three. The remainder are in factories making machines for making more machines instead of applying their labour direct to the land. It is only within very narrow limits that machinery saves labour on a farm, and nothing is more pitious than a farmer tinkering with a mechanical contraption which he does not understand.

The gasoline engine was hailed as the saviour of society from famine. Every farmer bought one—once, and no farm is now complete without the wreckage on the junk pile. By the time the good roads are completed, which promises to do much for the farmer, there will be no motor cars to run upon them. He can buy a car out of his capital; he cannot operate it on his revenue. This passion for gasoline only increases the foreign dependence of the country, for Canada produces only four hundredths of one per cent. of the world's petroleum, and even this is barely half of what we produce ten years ago.

The industrial life of America was built up by the immigrants, of whom 22 millions came in during the century. In the earlier days this labour was frankly slave. In later years it was variously disguised. Now it is at an end. Democracy will not work. It would not in Rome. It will not work in Russia. Europe is drained dry of the migrating class, and the remnant has reverted to barbarism. Their intention is not to work but to destroy. The industrial life of America must have immigrants or it will cease to be. The only reservoir of such labors in China. It is a hard choice. The coalie has now a firm foothold in the home, doing women's work which women will not do for themselves. How long will it be before he gains con-

This Service Increases Tire Mileage

The largest single group of tire users in the world agree that the first step on the way to maximum tire mileage is a set of Goodyear Tires.

A large proportion of these users also realize that even Goodyear Tires will more surely deliver greater mileage when they are cared for. Our agreement with this is evident in our sincere attempt, through Goodyear Service Stations and Goodyear Tire Savers, to further tire mileage in every possible way.

Among other things, we have produced Goodyear Tire Putty—the cure for small tread cuts, the prevention of tread separation and tire decay.

Not even the toughness of the Goodyear All-Weather Tread can protect tires from all tread cuts. Scraps of metal, glass, switch-points will cut the toughest tread when struck squarely.

The Goodyear Service Station Dealer who supplies and uses Goodyear Tire Putty, will do other things for you, and will tell you of things you should do yourself to increase your tire mileage.

We will be glad to send you free our Tire Conservation Course if you will write us at Toronto.

...in the factory? Industry fighting for its life will resort to any extreme. Rome at its height imported a million slaves. Shall we be any wiser?
Immigrants we must have if the present system is to endure. We make the tentative reserve that they must be "desirable." Desirable for what? The quantity of desirable of any kind in the world is not unlimited; and those who need cannot be too fastidious in their choice. The desirable immigrant will scrutinize us as closely as we scrutinize him. In times gone by the immigrant was driven from his own land by hunger, by taxes, by the desire to escape military service, by his dislike of government, by the love of adventure. He was welcomed into these new and fat lands. All those conditions are changed. Hunger is here. Taxes
