HID MONEY UNDER BARN AND LOST IT.
SUSSEX, N. B.—July 24.—Dominic Canning of Warrenton Creek, lost a tin box containing the sum of $250. Dominic sold a piece of property he owned this spring, receiving the amount above named for it, and, on account of the war and a feeling that perhaps the Germans might possibly get over this way, he thought it would be safer to keep the money himself than to put it in the savings bank, because something might happen if there.
On May 23, Mr. Canning left a camp he had been stopping at and came out to the home of Samuel Robinson, McKane Settlement, where he stayed overnight. Previous to going to bed, he took the tin box that he had in his possession, in which was $250 in bank bills, and hid it under the banking of the barn, covering the hiding place over with a board.
Next morning on looking, he found the box undisturbed, and after breakfast, in company with Mr. Robinson, he visited a camp in the vicinity, returning about 9 o'clock. Shortly after the return of the two men, Robinson came into the house and said somebody has taken a pocket book belonging to him with $250 in it. This made Canning a little anxious, so he visited the place where his treasure was hidden, only to find that it had disappeared, and he hollered, "My money is gone," his cries bringing the man of the house, house-keeper, Mrs. Brickford, and Canning's sister to the scene of the operations. Not being able to locate the box, Canning went away, but returned later and accused Sam Robinson of knowing where his money was and he says that Robinson told him to keep quiet and he would get the money back.
He kept quiet for some weeks, and not getting his money back, he laid an information against Robinson before Stipendiary Magistrate Folkins, and the matter is now being investigated before His Honor the Judge.

A SCHOOL GARDEN IN HYDE PARK MASS

Mr. S. A. Starratt, who will be remembered in Charlottetown as one of the principal teachers at the Summer School of Science last year, and who is now at Greenwood Elementary School, Hyde Park, Mass. in a private letter received in the city a few days ago, says: "Since there can be no Summer School of Science this year I thought it might interest you to know that we are applying the principle of the institution here in the city. If we had a good piece of your Island fertility we could do something worth while. I wish you could see our garden as it is, even in our more sterile soil. A clipping from The Hyde Park Gazette-Times enclosed, gives an idea of the work done in the garden referred to. Following are a few extracts:
A laudable enterprise, probably unknown to a majority of the residents of Hyde Park, is the school garden cultivated under the supervision of the principal, Stanley A. Starratt, on Lexington Avenue near the school building.
From a small beginning four years ago there are now two and one-quarter acres under cultivation, the garden being in an exceedingly thriving condition. Stanley A. Starratt, submaster of the school and organizer of the garden, is in charge and has a corps of 'young farmers' who are deeply interested in their work and who are being warmly commended for their efforts in cultivating flowering plants and vegetable crops.
The garden is in two sections, one and one-half acres being on the west side of Lexington Avenue and three quarters of an acre on the east side. The land is owned by several persons, who have gratuitously tendered its use to the school. The gardens are enclosed with wire fences, erected by last year's pupils of the school.
The fame of the gardens has spread beyond the limits of Hyde Park and have attracted many visitors, prominently among them being Miss Ethel Gowan of Illinois, who is associated with the Interior Department in Washington, D. C., Prof. O. A. Morton of Amherst Agricultural College, who is interested in boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, and Walter S. Parker, assistant Superintendent of the Boston public school.
All the assistants are paid for their labor from money received from the sale of the crops, some receiving $4.00, others $3.50, $3.00 &c. in proportion to the value of the work.
The main garden is devoted to flowers and vegetables and the smaller garden to potatoes. The flower bed is next to the fence, extending the whole outer edge of the garden, being 1,200 feet long and five feet wide. Scarlet runners are planted next to the wire fence, through which they climb. The second row consists of sweet peas, 11,000 seed, by actual count, being planted and comprising 32 different varieties. Seeds of 40 different plants were planted for the outer row of the bed, each having a separate space.
The variety of vegetables is extremely numerous. In addition to the small garden, considerable space is given to potatoes in the main garden. It is expected that there will be a crop of 400 bushels, all of which have been ordered by home and out-of-town families. There is a one lot of corn, early and late varieties, ears of the former being almost ready to pick. The stalks number 800 dozen. There are five rows 300 feet long of bush beans, several rows 200 feet long of lima beans and 150 tomato plants, the latter being a fine lot and in fruit.
Among the other specialties are cabbages, carrots, beets, turnips, Kale, lettuce, watermelons, musk melons, lettuce, rhubarb, radish, parsnips, cucumbers, Swiss chard, hennip, peanants, garden lemons and rainbow corn. Early in the season the crops suffered somewhat by the want of rain, and pigeons and English sparrows have been troublesome, especially with 'fresh planted seeds.'
As soon as the crops mature they are sold. Not a thing, it is stated, will be wasted. After all bills are paid it is expected there will be quite a substantial sum, which will be devoted to school purposes. In the main garden is a large rock, on which it is proposed to erect a facsimile of George Washington's home, to be constructed by the boys of the school.
"Odo-ro-no will keep your feet, hands, arms and body clean, cool and comfortable during the hot weather. Odo-ro-no is a delightful toilet preparation, it will positively prevent excessive perspiration on any part of the body. Every dainty lady needs Odo-ro-no during the warm weather. CORNISH, N.H., July 26.—Unofficial word of the sinking of the American submarine Leelanaw by a German submarine was conveyed to President Wilson today, but he declined to make any comment on the publication pending receipt of full official details. News that the crew of the steamer were saved was received with relief by members of the Presidential party.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.
Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I can truly say that my health has been saved. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."
Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.
